His open and unashamed adherence without compromise to the virtues of duty, loyalty, honor, and to Christian philosophy earned for him the appellation "old-fashioned." But his deeds proclaimed clearly that it was God's praise, not man's praise, that gave him strength to hold fast to his belief in the right — that he was prepared to stand on.

In his memorable Ode to Duty Wordsworth paints that virtue with these words:

"Stern Daughter of the Voice of God"

"Stern Law Giver"

"The Godhead's most benignant Grace"

In his whole public career Bill Kerr lived the philosophy and religion of that poem.

We are grateful for him and his memory, and for the shining example of his deeds.

HUB'S "PIED PIPER" HONORED

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., has recently awarded Joseph B. Kerrissey, executive director of the Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, a certificate of appreciation for his tireless efforts initiating Boston's "Bright-Eyes Program." Joe's "brainchild", now a reality, is a first-in-the-nation complete eye-care program in which Bostonians have been recipients.

Thousands of the elderly have been bussed to date to the Boston City Hospital for a thorough eye examination. There is no direct charge for this service. All follow-up services are also provided. In the first 1,000 patients treated for eye defects, more than half had conditions which, if untreated, could conceivably have resulted in blindness.

Mr. Kerrissey received the following accolade from the Society:

"You and your staff have led nearly a thousand elderly Bostonians to our Bright-Eyes Program which has saved hundreds of older people from blindness. We honor you also as coauthor of the Bright-Eyes Plan which has been the prototype of similar programs throughout the United States. We salute you Joe Kerrissey. You have helped us prevent needless blindness. You are a true sight-saver." And, we may add, a credit to the City of Boston.

The citation reads:

In recognition of the outstanding contribution of Joseph B. Kerrissey the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., in the cause of prevention of blindness gratefully awards this certificate of appreciation.

HORACE W. FROST,
President.

ASTRONAUTS "LAND" IN CITY HALL

Our three Apollo 16 astronauts received a tumultuous ovation when they "descended" on City Hall June 7, for a one-day visit to the state, and they, in turn, praised the contributions made by the state, city, and especially MIT, to the space program.

The astronauts, Capt. John W. Young, Col. Charles M. Duke, Jr., and Cmdr. Thomas K. Mattingly, were hosted in City Hall by Mayor White. A crowd of more than 1,500 assembled in City Hall Plaza and heard astronaut Young say "the support of the space program by the people of Boston and Massachusetts has been very significant."

At City Hall, Mayor White presented each of the astronauts a Paul Revere bowl. A motorcade through downtown Boston ended at South Boston High School, the first of several stops at schools to explain the space program to the students who were thrilled at seeing our courageous heroes.

BFD HONORS DEPARTED COMRADES

On Sunday, June 11, the Boston Fire Department held its seventyninth annual Memorial Sunday dedicated to its departed comrades at the Forest Hills Cemetery, Morton Street, Dorchester.

The orator of the day was the new State Fire Marshal Joseph G. Sneider who gave an excellent address to the off-duty fire fighters, headed by Commissioner James H. Kelly and Chief of Department George H. Paul. In addition to the fire fighters, there were several fire fighters' widows present.

REGISTRY ANNOUNCEMENT

Registrar David J. Lucey on June 6 said "Drivers using their motor vehicles to move to vacation spots are advised that it is an unsafe practice to carry articles of any type on the roof of their cars unless they are securely attached to prevent them from falling off."

Many serious accidents have occurred because of carelessness when securing items on the roof.

"It is the driver and owner's civil responsibility to prevent such accidents," the Registrar stated.

Mr. Lucey advises tie it on so it can't fall off or leave it at home.

VII. WHEAT LIGHTS

It has come to the attention of this office that many wheat lights have been reported lost or stolen at fires or other emergencies in recent months. This loss represents a considerable expense to the city. It is apparent from this that the requirements of the Rules and Regulations of this department are not being observed, in particular Rule 27.17. Attention of the department is called to the following Rule:

"Rule 27.17. While en route to a fire, members shall equip themselves with wheat lights. In the case of engine companies, wheat light belts shall be provided with spummers and hose lines. In the case of ladder companies, members so designated shall carry the dog hammer in wheat light belt."

The following paragraph shall be added to Rule 17.16 of the Rules and Regulations of the Boston Fire Department:

"Rule 17.16 (i) Company commanders shall assign wheat lights by number to each member on duty. When a member reports for a day or night tour of duty, he shall ascertain that the wheat light assigned to him is in its designated place on the apparatus. If the wheat light is not found, the member going off duty is responsible for its being missing. If the member going off duty does not have a relief, he shall give the wheat light to the officer in charge who shall put it in a safe place. If a wheat light is missing, the member responsible for it shall forward a detailed report to Headquarters stating all particulars relating thereto. Under no circumstances shall wheat lights be left unattended on the apparatus while the apparatus is out of quarters."

Arrangements will be made to have the department photographer visit quarters when these members are on duty. If all members have been issued I. D. cards, this fact shall also be reported.

IX. HIGH COMMENDATION

At 0841 hours, May 4, 1972, the department responded to the premises at 162 London Street, East Boston, for an ammonia leak. A special request was made for response by the Rescue Company.

Upon arrival at the scene, Fire Lieut. William F. Roache of the Rescue Company, equipped with an air mask, entered the building accompanied by Fire Fighter William W. Hayhurst, Jr., who was equipped with a rubber suit and an air mask. Two employees were trapped in a freezer chest in the building. Lieutenant Roache and Fire Fighter Hayhurst made their way to the freezer room at the right rear side of the building where the victims were. They carried water-soaked jackets, one of which they placed over the head of one man and led him to safety. They then returned and brought the other man to safety in the same manner.

Fire Fighter Hayhurst was protected from the fumes but Fire Lieutenant Roache did not have any protective clothing, and as a result of this he suffered ammonia burns to his body.

Because of the fact that Fire Lieutenant Roache performed this rescue work without thought of his own safety, and under very dangerous conditions, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

X. COMMENDATIONS

Fire Fighter William W. Hayhurst, Jr., is hereby commended for his fine performance in assisting Fire Lieutenant Roache in the rescue of two men at 162 London Street, East Boston.

The following members are hereby commended for entering into and working in the building at 162 London Street, East Boston, at 0811 hours, May 4, 1972, all of whom suffered ammonia burns and inhalation of fumes:

On behalf of the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha I would like to express our great appreciation for your help this afternoon. Your speed in answering our call helped save our house. To you it was probably a pretty routine job, but to forty-five guys this house is everything we own. If it weren't for you we probably would be looking for another place to live now. It is very comforting to know we can count on the Boston Fire Department. Once again, thank you.

The "Constitution"
Affectionately called "Old Ironsides"

The U.S.S. Constitution lies in dock at the United States Naval Shipyard, across the Charles River at Wapping and Chelsea Streets, Charlestown. She was launched in 1797 at Hartt's Shipyard, a short distance from her present resting place. In the next year she helped clear the coast and the West Indies of French privateers. Later engagements with the British in the War of 1812 brought her undying fame and her nickname Old Ironsides. The 44-gun frigate was constructed of well-seasoned live oak and red cedar timbers secured by bolts and copper sheathing made by Paul Revere. Now restored and seaworthy, the historic craft may be boarded daily, 9:30 to 4, free. Uniforms, cannon, and newspaper accounts of the War of 1812 are displayed.

Boston Mourns Nine Firemen Killed

Nine Boston firemen were killed and eight injured on Saturday, June 17, at a fire which destroyed the Hotel Vendome, located at the corner of Commonwealth Avenue and Dartmouth Street. It was the worst single disaster in the history of the Boston Fire Department.

The nine firemen who died in the line of duty were Lt. Thomas J. Carroll, Lt. John E. Hanbury, Thomas Beckwith, Joseph J. Boucher, Charles E. Dolan, Sr., John E. Jameson, Richard B. Magee, Paul J. Murphy, Sr., and Joseph P. Saniuk.

Mayor White, who had been attending the annual meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors in New Orleans, after learning of the tragedy, immediately flew back to Boston. He set Thursday, June 22, for a city-wide day of mourning. Viewing the disaster scene with Commissioner James H. Kelly and Fire Chief George Paul, the Mayor called it an "unspeakable tragedy." Chief Paul said that at the time of the collapse "seventy percent of the building had already been renovated" and added that the cause of the disaster would not be determined until it was fully investigated.

Mayor White showed great concern over the condition of hundreds of other "old buildings in the city," and called for an investigation by the Fire Department, Building Department, and a private engineering firm. He ordered the city's flags to half-staff in memory of the brave fire fighters who perished. Fire Commissioner Kelly directed that black bunting be displayed on the city's forty-five fire houses. "This department is in mourning," he said. "We have canceled all extra activities. This loss is just too shocking to comprehend. My God, this is tragic." The Vendome's loss was more than $2 million, and the destroyed Ladder 15 represented $150,000.

A fund has been established for the families of the nine victims, payable to the State Street Bank and Trust Company, P.O. Box 5084, Boston, Mass. 02107. It is known as the Vendome Fund. Contributions will be gratefully accepted. The collective wakes were held at the John J. O'Connor Funeral Home in Dorchester. A funeral Mass for the nine dead firemen was celebrated on Thursday, June 22, by Archbishop Humberto Medeiros in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Dignitaries, representing government, state and city, along with thousands of persons from all walks of life, attended the services. Mayor White and Fire Commissioner James H. Kelly, led a delegation which included the members of the City Council, commissioners, and department heads of the City of Boston.

May the souls of these and all departed fire fighters forever rest in peace.

BCH RECEIVES TRAINING GRANT

Boston City Hospital has received one of the first interuniversity training grants ever given by the National Heart and Lung Institute. The three-year, $300,000 grant was awarded to the hospital's Cardiovascular Unit, under the direction of Boston University, Harvard, and Tufts Medical Schools. The program is headed by Dr. Joseph Messer, chairman of the Cardiovascular Unit. Dr. Walter H. Abelman and Dr. William B. Hood are associate directors.

The training program will begin July 1 with three cardiac fellowships. Six more trainees will begin in the following two years. Trainees will have completed an internship and at least one year of residency in internal medicine.

A multidisciplinary approach to various levels of training represents the first year of study. The second year will be structured towards individual careers. Where appropriate, a third investigative or specialized year will follow. At all training levels, the program will emphasize academic productivity and a close working relationship between a trainee and faculty member.

Among the areas to be studied are the use of thrombolytic agents in treatment of pulmonary emboli and myocardial infarction, testing drugs developed to dissolve blood clots, and evaluating devices to support the circulation in patients who are in shock from heart attacks.

Please bless with Your protecting hand . . . My children and my wife.

RENT BOARD ADOPTS EVICTION REGULATIONS

On May 16, 1972, the Boston Rent Board, acting under the authority of section 2(d) of chapter 11 of the Ordinances of 1970 (Regulating Certain Residential Rents and Evictions), adopted detailed regulations governing evictions. The regulations become effective July 1, 1972.

On July 1, new forms will be required and the forms currently in use will become obsolete. Forms, copies of the regulations and instructions, will be available at the Rent Board, Room 208 in City Hall. The materials will also be distributed through the Little City Halls.

The regulations in part codify present Board practice concerning evictions. However, they also make several major changes. Among them are:

A Notice of Tenant's Rights (Form E-O) must be sent by the landlord along with the notice terminating tenancy. No eviction proceeding may be commenced until a notice terminating tenancy is served.

A landlord may not commence a court action for summary process until the Rent Board issues a certificate of eviction.

More stringent requirements of what the landlord must state in his application and what evidence he must present at a hearing.

The regulations define "coercive or forcible conduct" which is criminally punishable under the ordinance.

Limits on evicting for old rent claims.

Assistance on any aspect of eviction procedure is available from the staff of the eviction section of the Rent Board. The phone number is 722-4100, extension 8143. Questions on other than routine procedural questions may be directed to Daniel M. Polvere, chief hearing officer.

Summerthing Starts Fifth Season

Although astronomers state that the summer of 1972 begins on June 21, to many Bostonians summer isn't really here until Summerthing is.

This year, they didn't have long to wait, because Boston's neighborhood festival opened its fifth season in seventeen Boston neighborhoods on Friday, June 23.

For ten weeks, Bostonians can enjoy, right in their own neighborhoods, free performances by local and national entertainers, creative workshops of all kinds, and other projects planned by each neighborhood festival coordinator around that neighborhood's particular cultural and artistic interests.

Summerthing happens in Allston-Brighton, Beacon Hill-Back Bay-West End, Bromley-Heath, Charlestown, Columbia Point, Dorchester, East Boston, Hyde Park-Readville, Jamaica Plain, Mattapan, the North End, Orchard Park, Parker Hill-Fenway, Roxbury, South Boston, the South End, and West Roxbury-Roslindale.

A mix of old favorites and new surprises is planned for the festival as well as several innovative new projects.

Among those encoring on the Summerthing circuit, says Katharine D. Kane, director of the festival and of the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs, will be the Boston Symphony Esplanade Orchestra, the Boston Ballet Company, the Mandala Folk Ensemble, the Proposition Circus, the Ronald Ingraham Concert Choir, Larry Cooper and His Orchestra, the Boston Musicians' Association bands, and over 100 smaller local popular music groups.

Mobility is one of the keys to Summerthing, and this year its two Craftsmobiles will again take to the road with supplies of felt markers, glue and all sorts of scrap materials for children to creatively recycle. The Plantmobile, laden with marigolds, petunias, and geraniums will roll from neighborhood to neighborhood. And the ever-popular and tireless Moviebus will offer feature films plus cartoons seven nights a week.

In addition to its hundred of permanently based workshops sprinkled throughout the city's neighborhoods, Summerthing has developed several new mobile workshop packages some of which will spend a week or more in different neighborhoods. These include the Total Theatre Experience which will involve a group of Emerson College students in exploring with residents of all ages all facets of theater from acting and directing to script writing, lighting, makeup, costume and set design, culminating in an actual performance. Ethnic Omniform Music, designed in much the same way as Total Theater Experience except that it deals mainly with the voice as a resource, examines body movement, rhymes, chants, folktales, and theater games to build to an ethnic festival as the workshop's climax. In Arts and Storytelling, children improvise their own stories on tape, illustrate them, make slides of the illustrations and then present their "story show" to an audience. The Curiosity Caravan, offered by Lesley College students, has original and intriguing games for children which also strengthen language skills and mathematical concepts. The Cardboard Carpenter appeals to children's urge to build and at the same time builds awareness of symmetries and geometrics. Tribal Rhythms offers an oral-cultural approach to music and includes Afro percussion study and drum making. In addition to Tribal Rhythms which is designed for black and Spanish-speaking neighborhoods, all the new mobile workshop packages will have bilingual instructors.

Also new in 1972 is "Senior Summerthing" a special project which offers a variety of crafts-entertainment-social packages which can be planned for neighborhoods during the summer.

In visual arts this year, Other Walls/Other Spaces matches artists and outdoor areas to develop ten new environmental art programs via murals, sculpture, and other forms to add to the eighty projects completed in Summerthing's first four years.

In 1972 Summerthing is again financed in part by the city and in part by private contributions. Says Mayor Kevin H. White, who initiated Summerthing in 1968, "Summerthing's success depends in large measure on the generosity of the many businesses, foundations, and individuals who faithfully contribute to its support and thereby help to make Boston both an exciting and stimulating place in which to live."

As an additional fund-raising effort, Sunset Series on the Common, benefit concerts for Summerthing, is being presented this year by the Falstaff Brewing Corporation. Opening June 19 on the Boylston and Charles streets side of Boston Common, Sunset will offer at a modest admission ($2.50) top entertainment generally every Monday and Wednesday at 6 P.M. through August 23. Under its arrangement with Falstaff, Summerthing will receive ten percent of the gross receipts from each concert, plus any net profit at the end of the series to help it put on its free activities.

CONTRACT AGREEMENT REACHED

Mayor Kevin White announced on June 14 that the city and the bargaining committee of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees Union have reached agreement on a new three-year labor contract, effective in September.

AFSCME represents some 8,000 of the city's 20,000 employees included under collective bargaining agreements.

Terms of the agreement were not announced.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Registrar David J. Lucey has pointed out that drivers will soon face an additional traffic hazard as children released from school for the summer season take to the great outdoors.

"They may be found at play on city streets, near recreation areas and summer resorts. They may be roller-skating, riding bicycles, playing ball or other games, or merely dashing to and fro in unexpected places.

"It is the driver's responsibility to slow down and be ready to stop in order to protect these children who may be so engrossed in their activities that they forget the dangers of motor vehicles. Please don't spoil their summer or your own," the Registrar said.

"I earnestly request the cooperation of drivers and parents in preserving the life, limb, and safety of each boy and girl on Massachusetts highways," Mr. Lucey said.

"KING" ARTHUR CONDUCTS

Arthur Fiedler conducts the opening concert of the forty-fourth season of free outdoor concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra's Esplanade Orchestra June 26, 1972, at 8:30 P.M. at the MDC's Hatch Memorial Shell on Storrow Drive.

The ensuing concerts will be conducted by Harry Ellis Dickson.

The 1972 Esplanade season extends from June 26 through July 8. All evening concerts at the Hatch Shell begin at 8:30 P.M.

Again this season, five concerts will be played off the Esplanade in five different Boston neighborhoods in conjunction with the Mayor's Summerthing program: Wednesday, June 28, at Bunker Hill in Charlestown; Thursday, June 29, at Town Field in Dorchester; Wednesday, July 5, at Rogers Park in Brighton; Thursday, July 6, at Smith Field in Hyde Park, and, also on July 6, a special noontime concert at Boston's City Hall Plaza. All Summerthing concerts begin at 7:30 P.M. except for the City Hall concert which begins at 12 noon.

Two special concerts for children take place at the Hatch Shell Wednesdays, June 28, and July 5, at 10:15 A.M. Assistant Esplanade Orchestra Conductor Harry Ellis Dickson conducts.

Corporate sponsors for the 1972 season are: Monday, June 26, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company; Tuesday, June 27, this concert is dedicated "to General Robert Cutler to honor his untiring efforts for the Boston Symphony Orchestra"; Friday, June 30, Wm. Filene's Sons Company; Saturday, July 1, First National Bank of Boston and the Boston Edison Company; Tuesday, July 4, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company; Friday, July 7, New England Mutual Life Insurance Company and The Gillette Company; Saturday, July 8, the New England Merchants National Bank and The Hearst Foundation. The Boston Symphony Orchestra has instituted a program for sole sponsorship or co-sponsorship of Esplanade concerts. Other benefits are included in this package.

The Esplanade concerts were founded by Arthur Fiedler in 1921 to bring symphonic music to a large public free of charge. Since then, audiences ranging up to 20,000 at a single concert have heard the concerts conducted by Mr. Fiedler and Harry Ellis Dickson. Summerthing is produced by the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs under the direction of Katharine D. Kane.

CITY HALL HOSTS 60-PLUS HOBBY SHOW

Termed "the best ever" by most observers, the 60-Plus Hobby Show produced its twenty-second annual presentation on Thursday, June 15, 1972.

This year's show drew more than 12,000 onlookers to City Hall where some eighty tables displayed an estimated 5,000 exhibits. All types of arts and crafts made by members of senior citizen groups, as well as private individuals, were shown from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M.

In addition there were information centers on Social Security, elderly interest organizations, and sing-along sessions.

The highlight of the day-long activities arrived at noontime as a fashion show was conducted on the plaza. Featured were forty elderly men and women modeling the latest in styles for the chic senior citizen.

The 60-Plus Hobby Show was sponsored by the Boston Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, Edward C. Dwyer, Commissioner, in cooperation with the Parks and Recreation Department.

"ED" HOLMES HONORED

At the annual banquet of the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns on Wednesday, June 14, one of the most respected and tireless workers for the City of Boston received the well-deserved honor of being chosen outstanding municipal employee of the year. We are referring naturally to Edmund (Ed) Holmes, Collector-Treasurer for the City of Boston.

The banquet was held at the Yankee Drummer Motor Inn in Auburn, Mass. The retiring president, William G. Whitlock, of Belchertown, presented Ed with a plaque. The principal speaker was Dr. William Perrault, Director of the Massachusetts "Game." Edward T. Sullivan, Director of Administrative Services of the City of Boston, represented Mayor White. Approximately 200 persons attending the banquet demonstrated their appreciation to "Ed" for his dedication to our city and to a high standard of government service during his long and distinguished career.

SEVEN APPOINTED TO EDIC

Seven community and business leaders have been named to the board of Boston's Economic Development and Industrial Corporation by Mayor White and EDIC Director Gerald Bush.

The appointees are George C. Seybolt, president of Wm. Underwood Company; Mark C. Wheeler, president of New England Merchants National Bank, C. Vincent Vappi, president of Vappi Construction Company; Hale Champion, financial vice president of Harvard University, and former director of the BRA; Thomas E. NEW BCH APPOINTMENT

The Board of Trustees of Boston's Department of Health and Hospitals has appointed Lawrence P. Chvany as the new Deputy Commissioner of Planning, Research, and Evaluation. The 57-year-old Watertown resident will succeed Dr. James V. Sacchetti who was named Commissioner of the department in December. Mr. Chvany has been serving as Assistant Deputy Commissioner of Management Information Services since June of 1970.

Francis Guiney, Executive Director of Boston City Hospital, said that Mr. Chvany will concentrate his efforts in two major areas. First will be the overseeing of the extensive building program at Boston City Hospital, especially the new Outpatient Department building. Second will be to take charge of the administration of important federal grants, such as those given by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The new Deputy Commissioner was educated in the Cambridge public schools before entering Harvard College in 1941. Interrupting his education to serve as an Army interpreter during World War II, he returned to Harvard at war's end and received his A.B. in Economics in 1949. In addition he has attended Boston University, MIT, and holds a Certificate in Data Processing from the Data Processing Management Association.

Mr. Chvany's outside activities include membership in the Hospital Management Systems Society of the American Hospital Association and the Data Processing Management Association.

He is married, has two children, and lives in Watertown.

B & M LOCOMOTIVE EXHIBIT

Old 3713, the Boston & Maine locomotive at Boston's Museum of Science, is now open for the annual summer onslaught of railroad enthusiasts, history buffs, and the just plain curious, of all ages.

Exhibited on Museum grounds, this monument to the steam age is free of charge and can be visited every day this summer except July 4. Hours are Monday—Thursday from 12 to 4:30 P.M.; Friday from 12 to 8 P.M.; Saturday from 10 A.M. to 4:30 P.M.; and Sunday from 11 A.M. to 4:30 P.M.

Recalling the not-so-long ago days when most travelers "took the train," this Pacific-type locomotive is one of the largest passenger steam locomotives ever built in the United States.

Visitors can compare their own height to the 80-inch driving wheels, examine the pistons and rods that turned the wheels, explore the cab, and imagine themselves as engineers rushing through the countryside at seventy miles per hour.

Built in 1934 by the Lima Locomotive Works in Ohio, 3713 was purchased new by the Boston & Maine Railroad. Until retirement in 1958, it hauled principal passenger trains traveling between Boston and Bangor; Boston and Troy, New York; Worcester and Portland; and Springfield and White River Junction.

The first males to graduate from Boston City Hospital's School of Nursing in forty-five years received their diplomas June 16, in John Hancock Hall.

Ralph Williams of Dorchester and Gerard Desjardins of Salem were part of a class of sixty-five who took part in the ceremonies of the fifth oldest nursing school in the country. Other graduating students include two women, Mildred Femino, Dedham, and Andrea Lamond, Mattapan, whose mothers were earlier graduates of the school. Mrs. Inga Charest of New Bedford has the honor of being the only mother in the class.

The commencement address was delivered by Mrs. Anne M. Hargreaves, newly appointed Executive Director of Nursing for the City's Department of Health and Hospitals. She is also professor of nursing at Boston University. Mrs. Mary F. Moran, Director of the School, presented the Class.

JULY 4, INDEPENDENCE DAY

The Declaration of Independence from Great Britain was passed by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia.

Pennsylvania, in 1873, was the first state to make the occasion a legal holiday. However, there is a record of its observance by the citizens of New Bern, North Carolina, in 1778. It was celebrated elsewhere before the action of Pennsylvania was followed by all of the states.

NEW CURATOR AT HARVARD

President Derck C. Bok announced that James C. Thomson, Jr., will be the new Curator of the Nieman Fellowships in Journalism at Harvard University. Mr. Thomson is a historian of modern China and American-East Asian relations and a frequent contributor to the daily and periodical press.

He will succeed Dwight Sargent, Curator for seven years, who has resigned to return to the newspaper profession. Earlier Curators were Archibald MacLeish and Louis M. Lyons.

The program brings a dozen experienced journalists to Harvard each year for background study. The fellowships were established in 1938 under the will of Agnes Wahl Nieman in honor of her husband, Lucius W. Nieman, founder of the Milwaukee Journal.

ANYONE FOR YOGA?

Meditation is a matter of life and breath. Maybe, even, a matter of breathing easier and living better.

New experiments at the Harvard Medical Unit at the Boston City Hospital — reported in full in a recent issue of Scientific American — explored the physiological reactions of practitioners of yoga. The results were amazing.

Subjects were taught by the Medical Unit a technique called transcendental meditation, which requires inner concentration on a "suitable" sound or thought. During thirty minutes of this kind of intense concentration, the body undergoes drastic changes. Breathing patterns are altered; oxygen consumption falls off sharply; so does the amount of carbon dioxide being exhaled. The heart rate slows. Blood pressure drops. Skin resistance to an electric current increases sharply. The pattern of brain waves changes markedly.

But with all this downbeat of the metabolism, a curious thing happens. The delivery of oxygen and the blood flow to the muscles of the body are speeded up. The subjects felt deeply relaxed and intensely alive. The experimenters believe that the autonomic nervous system, supposedly not under voluntary control, must be involved.

Conscious changes in breathing and concentration clearly affect the entire body, say the Harvard researchers. They believe yoga techniques may be one way to increase well-being. And they have opened the way for more fascinating research on the subject.

Your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association does not specialize in yoga, but they do have information on the importance of breathing. See them about it.

SUMMER FIELD COURSES AT MUSEUM OF SCIENCE

Young people between the ages of seven and eighteen can explore the riches of New England nature this summer in four courses being offered by Boston's Museum of Science.

A new course in Geology for ages fifteen through eighteen is the first in a series of mini-courses in science for high school students to continue through the school year. It will cover topics such as metamorphism, properties of crystals, and sedimentary and contour rocks.

Students will participate in such activities as crystal growing and comparison of quadrangles. They will also work in the field on a trip emphasizing glaciation.

Beginning July 6, the Geology course meets Thursdays and Fridays through July 28 and Saturday, July 29. John Barss, former science teacher at Phillips Academy, Andover, is instructor.

The fee is $50. For family and contributing members of the Museum, it is $40. Enrollment is limited to thirty students.

Field Explorers, for ages eleven through fourteen, will acquaint students with specific ecological areas and the factors that affect them. Instructor Peter Stowe of the Museum Education Department hopes students will achieve "an understanding of what makes these areas tick and a greater appreciation of the natural world."

Comprising four field trips, two Museum classes, and a three-day camp-out in Rutland, Mass., the course begins July 12 and meets each Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday through July 28.

The fee is $65. For family and contributing members of the Museum, it is $55. Enrollment is limited to thirty.

For ages eight through ten, Field Investigation will cover natural history in the field with trips to the Esplanade, Plum Island, Nahant, and the Ponkapoag Bog-Fowl Meadow area. A three-day camp-out in Rutland, Mass., will wind up the course, which begins July 11

HUB STUDENTS HONOR DR. OHRENBERGER

Dr. William H. Ohrenberger, outgoing superintendent of the Boston public schools, was honored recently by Mayor White and the School Committee. He was especially grateful to more than 200 students from the Boston public schools, who, representing the 99,000 children in the school system, presented him on June 16 a plaque "in recognition of his leadership and sincere dedication to excellence for all students in the City of Boston." A party, honoring Mr. Ohrenberger, was held at John Hancock Hall. Expressing his thanks, Mr. Ohrenberger said, "I have had many happy moments and many honors, but none which exceeds the great thrill which you have provided me today; the fact that you thought enough of me to bring me here and shower me with these gifts is something I will never forget."

The junior high and elementary school students joined with the Boston Students Advisory Council, a group representing the students of the eighteen high schools, to plan the tribute. Mr. Ohrenberger, who will remain in office until August 31, was escorted by four students into the Dorothy Quincy Suite while a band from the Gavin School played. He received a well-deserved standing ovation.

EARLY PASSAGE OF REVENUE SHARING BILL EXPECTED

An official of the Department of Housing and Urban Development told the Nation's mayors on June 20 that he is optimistic about the chances for early passage of "urban community development revenue sharing (UCDRS)" legislation.

Floyd H. Hyde, HUD Assistant Secretary for Community Development, said a Senate version, already passed, and a House version now in committee, are similar in most important respects, and both are reasonably close to the key provisions of President Nixon's original special revenue sharing proposal.

The Senate bill is known as "Community Development Assistance," and the House version is known as "Community Development Block Grants."

Mr. Hyde said he expects that Congress will pass the final bill by the end of the summer, and that the President will sign it shortly thereafter.

Addressing the United States National Conference of Mayors at New Orleans, the HUD official forecast a challenging year ahead for local chief executives with the proposed new bill which largely gives to communities the decisions on how to apportion their federal funds according to priorities set locally.

HUB PLAYGROUNDS OPEN: ENTERTAINMENT FOR ALL

Mayor Kevin H. White has announced the opening, on June 30, of 150 Hub playgrounds with the most extensive day and evening programs in the city's history.

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department has staffed the playground facilities with more than 250 recreation instructors and work study students for the ten week summer season. These instructors registered children in playgrounds on June 30.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis has called this year's playground program, "one of the most interesting and all-encompassing attempts at providing Boston citizens with recreation and entertainment."

"There's no question that this is the most varied offering we've ever had and we hope it will appeal to a great number of citizens."

Offerings for the summer range from organized athletics to arts and crafts and playground games. Girls will participate in the BNBA basketball and competitive track meets between various playgrounds.

Bus trips, tennis instruction, and tournaments, day camps for handicapped children, festivals, fowl shooting, and golf tournaments have been scheduled for the next two months. An extensive innovative portable Tennis Mobile Unit will visit areas throughout the city with professional tennis instructors for all youngsters.

Summerthing, Boston Neighborhood Arts Festival, will be presenting its theatres and workshops in the playgrounds throughout the summer. A two-day training institute for the playground instructors took place June 28 at the city's recreation center at Pinebank and Thursday in the seventeen playground districts.

During the two-day period, the summer employees were taught the mechanics of implementing various athletic and artistic programs used in the playground as well as being briefed on all phases of the Parks and Recreation Department's activities for the summer months.

Workshops will include those on active games, crafts and hobbies, low organized games, music, dance, senior citizen games, ecology, community organization, and publicity.

False Fire Alarms Can Kill

HURRICANE SEASON HERE: STAY ALERT

The Atlantic hurricane season extends currently through November 30. Hurricanes are tropical cyclones, which blow in a large spiral around a relatively calm center — the eye of the hurricane. Tropical storm names will be identified as they occur, namely: Agnes, Betty, Carrie, Dawn, Edna, Felice, Gerda, Harriet, Ilene, Jane, Kara, Lucille, Mae, Nadine, Odette, Polly, Rita, Sarah, Tina, Velma, and Wendy.

Here are some suggestions offered by Walter J. Cameron, Director of the Boston Civil Defense Department, that will prepare you to cope with hurricane conditions:

A. Precautionary Measures — After Warning and Prior to Hurricane

1. Keep your radio or television on and listen for the latest Weather Bureau warnings and advisories. If power fails, use your car radio.

2. Pay no attention to rumors. Determine the source of information.

3. Get away from low-lying beaches or other locations which may be swept by high tides or storm waves. If passage to high ground is over a road likely to be under water, leave early. Don't run the risk of being marooned.

4. If your house is out of danger from high tides and is well built, then it is probably the best place to weather the storm.

5. Be alert for high water in areas where streams or rivers may flood after heavy rains.

6. Board up, put on storm shutters, tape or otherwise protect windows. Danger to small windows is mainly from flying debris while larger windows may be broken by wind pressure if not protected.

7. Get in extra food, especially things which can be eaten without cooking or with very little preparation. Remember that electric power may be cut off and you may be without refrigeration.

8. If emergency cooking facilities are necessary, be sure that they are in working order.

9. Sterilize jugs, bottles, cooking utensils and fill with drinking water, as city water service may be interrupted.

10. Have flashlight and/or other emergency lights in working condition and keep them handy.

11. Be sure to have gasoline in your car. If electric power is off, filling stations may not be able to operate gasoline pumps for several days.

12. Check on everything that might blow away or be torn loose. Garbage cans, garden tools, toys, signs, porch furniture, awnings, and other objects become weapons of destruction in hurricane winds. Store them all inside if possible.

13. Be sure that a window or door can be opened on the lee side of the house — the side opposite the one facing the wind.

14. If the center or "eye" of the storm passes directly over, there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to half an hour or more. Stay in a safe place. Make emergency repairs during the lull, if necessary, but remember the wind will return suddenly from the opposite direction, frequently with even greater violence.

15. Know the locations of medical personnel and hospitals.

16. Be calm. Your ability to meet emergencies will inspire and help others.

B. Safety Measures — After Passage of Hurricane

1. Seek medical care at first aid stations or hospitals for persons injured during the storm.

2. Don't touch loose or dangling wires. Report such damage to the light or power company, or nearest police officer.

3. Report broken sewer or water mains to the Water Department.

4. Unless available personnel are qualified to render valuable emergency assistance, request them to stay away from disaster areas where they may hamper first aid or rescue work.

5. Drive automobiles cautiously. Debris-filled streets are dangerous, so keep your eyes on the road.

Along the coast, soil may be washed from beneath the pavement which may collapse under the weight of vehicles.

6. Be alert to prevent fire. Lower water pressure as a result of hurricanes rupturing mains makes fire-fighting difficult.

7. Take down shutters and save the lumber. Store in handy place for future use.

STAMP COLLECTORS' BOOK AVAILABLE

A book for stamp collectors that has wide appeal for both novice and long-time philatelists is now on sale at all post offices in the Boston Postal District, according to an announcement by Postmaster George K. Walker.

This is the first United States Postal Service book to fully illustrate United States stamps in color and list the values on each issue from 1847 through mid-1972.

Stamps and Stories, the exciting saga of United States history told in stamps, was prepared for the United States Postal Service by the editors of Scott Publishing Company, the nation's oldest printer of stamp catalogs.

While all of the pertinent philatelic information is included, the book extends far beyond the range of a catalog. The book contains illustrated stories covering many highlights in history that have been portrayed on stamps.

The book has a chapter titled, "How To Be a Happy Stamp Collector." There is a glossary of philatelic terms, so that those who are not quite sure what "tete-beche" or "laid paper" mean can inform themselves.

Stamps issued by the Confederate States of America are reproduced as are those of the United Nations and a sampling of stamps from many countries.

The book has 224 pages and is convenient pocket-size, 4½ x 7¼ inches. It's available for $2 at your local post office.

DIRECTIVE NO. 5

SKELETON FORCE

MONDAY, JULY 3, 1972

SUMMER WORKING HOURS

To All Department Heads and County Officials.

Mayor White has directed that on Monday, July 3, 1972, the day before Independence Day, department heads, at their discretion, may declare a skeleton force.

It is understood, however, that sufficient personnel must report for work in order that the city's normal business can be conducted efficiently.

The Mayor has also directed that starting Wednesday, July 5, through Friday, September 1, 1972, department heads are authorized to declare a reduced working force in their departments beginning at 4:30 P.M. each day.

Two points are to be emphasized here, however. One is that departments will be open for the regular order of business from 4:30 P.M. to 5 P.M. and at all times there must be personnel available to staff the department competently.

Also, department heads are instructed to see that employees are present at 9 A.M. and do not leave the premises until either the 4:30 P.M. or 5 P.M. time to which they are assigned.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

SUMMER YOUTH WORK PROGRAM FOR ABCD

The United States Department of Labor announced, on June 23, a $2.2 million grant to Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD) for a summer youth work program. More than 5,000 disadvantaged high school youths will work in some 400 nonprofit agency jobs that are sponsored by city, state, and federal agencies. The workers will receive $1.75 an hour.

The grant is part of $7.6 million allocated for similar programs statewide. To be eligible to participate in the program, the workers must be from low-income families. $3,300 a year is the income standard for a family of three.

VISITORS TO OLD STATE HOUSE MUST NOW PAY FEE

Mrs. Harriet Ropes Cabot, curator of the Old State House on Washington Street, has announced that starting on July 3, admission will be charged for entrance to the building. The fee for adults will be 50 cents and for children under twelve, 25 cents.

Mrs. Cabot, a member of the Bostonian Society, which stores its historical collections in the building, said, "It hurts my feelings to have to charge people money to come to the building, but I see no other way out of our problem." The problem is "the building can't physically support all the people who come here, and the crowds are so large you can't really see anything of the collections in six exhibitions rooms." Although Massachusetts children will not be charged admission, they will be required to make an appointment to visit the building as a group beginning in September.

The Old State House is owned by the City of Boston, and its only tenants are the Bostonian Society. It is a national historic landmark. The collections in the building include maps, photographs, paintings, and prints of Boston city life since its Revolutionary days, as well as objects, furniture, and assorted memorabilia associated with many of Boston's famous men and women, including Paul Revere, John Hancock, and others.

JACK FLYNN HAS MOVED

Many City Hall workers will ask, "Who is Jack Flynn?" Well, it is our pleasure to supply that information. Jack is the genial proprietor of the combination newsstand and variety store which features coffee, sandwiches, soft drinks, candy, milk, etc. Hot soups will be added later on. The stand was formerly located adjacent to the Credit Union, Room 242, second floor. And now, through the efforts of Anthony E. Forgione, assistant commissioner of the Real Property

Other bids were received from Perini Corporation, Framingham, and Jackson Construction Company, Inc., Needham. All bids have been taken under advisement.

Work to be performed after the contract is awarded includes the construction of a 142,250 square-foot, one-story rapid transit repair shop with a three-story structure within the shop for crew quarters and a parts storage facility; a one-story motor vehicle storage building; a two and one-half story lobby building; and a one-story electric substation with full basement. All of these buildings will be steel-framed and have precast concrete walls. There will also be a trackmen's lobby and a test house and test pit, both one-storied steel-framed buildings, but having metal panels for outside walls.

The big rapid transit shop will have the most modern equipment available to carry out the following functions for the 168 Red Line (Cambridge-Dorchester and South Shore) cars: general inspection and repair, heavy damage repair, electronic checkout for automatic equipment, on-car wheel machining, exterior washing, interior cleaning, and painting.

The J. F. White Contracting Company and New England Equipment Rental Company, again as a joint venture, submitted the low bid for the site preparation work, now under way at the 32-acre former railroad passenger train yard. Awarded for $1,986,999, this contract calls for the relocation of existing subsurface utilities, installation of new sewers and power conduits, drainage, and grading.

The first contract on the South Bay Project was awarded to James Grant Company for the low bid of $110,000 for the demolition of the railroad buildings and structures at the Penn Central's former Dover Street yards that were purchased by the Authority.

Other contracts for the South Bay Maintenance Center, not yet advertised for bidding, include a 200-bus garage that will replace the Albany Street Garage in Boston's South End plus other facilities required for the rapid transit complex, such as traction power, signal system, trackwork within the complex, and a two-track surface connector, one and a quarter miles

City Record

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 64

MONDAY, JULY 10, 1972

No. 28

Our City Hall

This striking building seems to translate into concrete, brick, and stone the theme of this administration: that the people must feel that City Hall always is responsive to their needs and that it continuously encourages their involvement in municipal government.

Although my administration has placed much emphasis on the city's physical development, human needs are given top priority in order to bridge the gap between the government and the people it serves. Sixteen "Little City Halls" are in operation throughout the city and a special field representative is assigned to an additional area so that citizens can, in their own neighborhoods, work with City Hall for a better Boston.

This administration has built more schools, more police and fire stations, and more libraries than any previous administration. We have renovated more parks, added more playground equipment, and installed more floodlights at these recreation facilities than any other administration. We have established Summerthing, the city's neighborhood festival. We have increased the police force to its greatest strength in the city's history and have established more neighborhood health clinics while at the same time launching the largest rebuilding program in the history of Boston City Hospital.

Much has been done, but much remains, I can think of no better setting in which to achieve our aims for the future than in this new City Hall, which has been designed to emphasize the importance of people and the government which serves them 24 hours a day.

KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor of Boston.

How it all began . . .

In 1962 a nationwide competition was conducted by the Government Center Commission of the City of Boston for the design of a new City Hall to be the focal point of the entire downtown Boston Government Center Urban Renewal Project. The overall plan for the Government Center Project, prepared by I. M. Pei & Partners, architects and city planners, is an undertaking of such tremendous scope that its like has been attempted by no other American city. It has transformed the blighted Scollay Square area into a modern government center containing sixty acres of striking contemporary buildings designed by outstanding architects.

Boston's national competition for a City Hall design was the first by a major American city since 1909 and it drew 255 entries. The design selected was that submitted by the New York architectural firm of Kallmann, McKinnell and Knowles. A jury of four nationally known architects and three Boston laymen termed the design impressive, functional, economical, and harmonious with its surroundings. The winning team then joined with two Boston firms, Campbell, Aldrich and Nulty, architects, and LeMessurier Associates, consulting engineers, to form The Architects and Engineers for the Boston City Hall and to execute the design and supervise construction.

Getting acquainted . . .

Three major areas in the new building house the three major elements of the city government. Four lower floors contain all the departments — such as tax, licensing, and registration — with which the public does business daily. The fifth floor contains the offices of the Mayor, who is elected every four years; the offices of the nine members of the City Council, who are elected every two years; the City Council Chamber; and exhibition rooms. Four upper floors contain the administrative and planning agencies.

Points of particular interest . . .

The eight-acre City Hall Square is comparable in size to St. Peter's Square in Rome.

The shape of City Hall Square is essentially a trapezoid with two curved sides formed by the existing curve of Cambridge Street and by Sears Crescent.

Light shafts in the South Entry Hall penetrate up through 126 feet of the building's 138-foot height.

The bricks of the plaza flow right into the South Entry Hall to tie the world inside the building to the world outside, and continue across the hall and up the stairs, creating a "path" to the floors above.

Although it seems that the plaza level should be the building's first floor, it is actually its third floor because City Hall is built on the side of a hill so the floors in the back part of the building are lower than those in the front.

Our City Hall . . .

Earth-colored bricks and quarry tile are used in the four lower floors, which receive heavy traffic, because they have warmth, charm, and endurance and because they echo the materials used on nearby Beacon Hill and on structures which neighbor City Hall.

Both the sand-struck and the water-struck bricks used in the building were selected from over 500 types of brick from all over New England.

Although the second level has no windows because it is built into the side of a hill, it receives natural light from one large skylight, thirty-three smaller ones and an entrance.

The design of City Hall's unique courtyard enables the visitor to walk completely "through" City Hall — from one side of the building to the other — without ever having to open a door.

Glass doors have no divisions between them, giving the impression of outside and inside melding together.

Mullions, slender black lines between the lights of the glass, are spaced irregularly to give the effect of one large pane of glass and symbolize a movement called the "sea wave" created by French architect LeCorbusier.

On the fourth floor landing are two "ishidoros," ceremonial stone lanterns which are a gift to Boston from Kyoto, her sister city in Japan.

The visitor to City Hall can instantly orient himself by glancing out a window to see any of these striking views:

North — the steeple of the Old North Church (Christ Church) where Paul Revere's signal lanterns were hung to warn of British troops; the colorful North End; the Kennedy Federal Office Building; and the Saltonstall State Office Building.

South — the Old State House from whose eastern balcony the Declaration of Independence was read in 1776; and the New England Merchants Bank Building.

West — the Government Center's new horizontal office skyscraper, Center Plaza; and the newly renovated Sears Crescent, which for over a century housed many of Boston's major booksellers.

East — Faneuil Hall, often called the "Cradle of Liberty" because it was the major gathering place of colonists just prior to the Revolution; Dock Square; Quincy Market, a handsome granite structure built in 1826; and the harbor, and finally the sea itself.

On the fourth floor level, the visitor can see outside on all four sides.

In the City Council chamber on the fifth floor, the visitor can watch the Council in action from any of three public galleries grouped around a central area in which the Council and its president are seated.

The hole in the side of the New England Merchants National Bank building was left to comply with a stipulation by architect I. M. Pei, Government Center planner, that the Old State House should never be cut off from view of new City Hall.

Upper floors use precast and poured concrete to attain warm buff tones and strong textures.

This new City Hall is the fourth home of Boston city government.

Boston City Hall construction facts . . .

NEW REGULATIONS TO LIMIT DIRT IN AIR

New regulations to control particulate emissions from fuel-burning equipment became effective July 1, announced David Standley, Executive Director of Boston's Air Pollution Control Commission.

The regulations, adopted in 1970 as part of Mayor White's Clean Air Zone program, prohibit the use of residual fuel oils and coal in many middle-range fuel burning facilities.

"The use of No. 5 oil in units with rated capacities of less than 4,500,000 B.T.U. per hour will be halted," said Mr. Standley. "Units with capacities of less than 9,000,000 B.T.U. per hour will be prohibited from using either No. 6 oil or coal." Mr. Standley explained that 4,500,000 B.T.U. per hour was roughly equivalent to a unit burning 30 gallons per hour or a unit capable of heating a 12 to 16 unit apartment building. The latter figure, 9,000,000 B.T.U. per hour, is basically double or 60 gallons per hour.

The heavy fuel oils and coal are major sources of particulate matter in the city. Soot is an example of this material.

In January, another commission regulation became effective, restricting the installation of any new fuel-burning facility intending to use residual oils (Nos. 4, 5, and 6) or coal. Written approval for such equipment is required from the commission. Such approval is granted only when the facility can comply with stringent limits on particulate emissions.

"By enforcing these regulations," Mr. Standley said, "we expect to eliminate the uncontrolled use of the so-called 'dirty' fuels and reduce the amount of dirt in Boston's air."

The regulation became effective in July to give heavy oil and coal users time to convert their equipment to the start of the heating season.

TRAIN YOUR DOG

Boston's Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with the Boston Police Department announce free dog training classes, a program encouraging boys and girls in the City of Boston between the ages of 11 and 16, who own dogs, to attend FREE weekly training classes of one hour duration each week for five weeks. These lessons would involve basic obedience commands together with instructions in the care of the dogs.

The tentative starting date is July 10, 1972 and registration takes place at any of the city's playgrounds.

Registration should be at least two days prior to starting date. At time of registration, proof must be presented of the dog being licensed in the City of Boston. Also proof that the dog has had a rabies shot within two years of registration. At time of registration the dog must be leashed on a four foot leather leash and wearing a choke collar. Dogs must be at least six months old at time of registration.

Senior citizens should be invited to participate, by helping the playground supervisors in registering and keeping track of handlers and dogs at each site selected.

Competition should be arranged between the various playgrounds involved and then have a final city-wide competition held at the City Hall Plaza or Boston Common. Competition would be in Basic Obedience Novice Class.

NUMBER PLEASE?

Now open at Boston's Museum of Science is an enlarged and renovated telephone exhibit containing first-of-a-kind units shown nowhere else in the country.

Moved to a new location on the Museum's terrace level, the ever-popular exhibit uses color, light, and motion to dramatize developments in telephone service. In keeping with an age of phone-itis, even the explanations for individual demonstrations are given by phone, 37 being employed to give 28 different messages.

The exhibit is sponsored by New England Telephone Company with the cooperation of Bell Telephone Laboratories and Western Electric Company. New England Telephone has sponsored an exhibit, changed and updated from time to time, since the museum first opened in 1951.

According to Robert W. Stokes, assistant vice president for public relations at the company, "This exhibit is designed to offer information for every age level. We know it will be popular because there were three million plays a year on the former Test Your Telephone Voice unit alone."

A prominent feature of the exhibit is a new wall map of the United States that indicates the flexibility of the telephone network. After dialing one of 15 possible area codes, the visitor can follow the progress of the call through lights flashing across the map. If all visitors dial the same code number simultaneously, the calls will go through alternate routes.

This computerized demonstration, especially designed for the exhibit, is a simplified version of the actual Bell System network in which six million billion telephone connections are possible.

Another unit explores integrated electronics. It is topped by a revolving model of an integrated circuit enlarged 50 times. The steps in the production of circuits as well as actual materials and circuits under magnifiers and microscopes are shown.

The third new unit in the exhibit concerns the growing of quartz crystals, a process developed by the Western Electric plant, North Andover, Mass. A large simulated autoclave in which crystals are grown rotates above a display that highlights the growth and use of crystals as a telephone component.

Among the popular units repeated in the new exhibit are:

Test Your Telephone Voice, the unit that plays back the visitor's voice and evaluates its volume;

Play Tic-Tac-Toe With A Computer, an updating of an ancient game;

How Your Telephone Works, portraying the conversion of sound to electric current and back to sound.

The entire exhibit is controlled by a custom-designed solid-state computer and voice playback installation, the only one of its kind in the country. See it, you'll like it.

INTERESTED IN ROCKS?

Want to see what is underfoot when you are walking almost anywhere in Boston?

Two new rock specimens on the lawn at Boston's Museum of Science represent the majority of bedrock beneath Boston.

Roxbury Conglomerate underlies much of southwestern Boston, with outcrops in Roxbury and the Hammond Pond area. Most of the bedrock in Franklin Park is Roxbury Conglomerate.

Cambridge Argillite is the bedrock directly below Science Park and much of northeastern Boston.

Both specimens, approximately 300 million years old, are composed of sediments which were carried by water. They were found at Hough's Neck, Quincy. Their geological history suggests that the Boston area was covered by water at one time.

The mosaic-like pattern of reds and pinks in the Museum's Conglomerate specimen represents the separate fragments of which the rock is composed. This sedimentary rock was made from rocks, pebbles, and sand, which were carried and deposited by swiftly running water. These fragments were later cemented together, forming Roxbury Conglomerate.

The Argillite is a smooth, gray and brown, metamorphic rock formed from a previously existing sedimentary rock, called shale. Shale is formed when the pressure of overlying rocks pushes the water from mud.

Under conditions of heat and pressure the shale changed to form Cambridge Argillite. Had it been subjected to these conditions for a longer time, it would have eventually become slate.

Both samples are the most recent additions to the Museum's growing Rock Garden of the World. This collection is intended to highlight interesting geological formations throughout the world.

After completion of landscaping in front of the Museum, the rocks will be moved to permanent positions near the entrance. The Museum draws on the Susan B. Minns Fund for installation costs.

Lending an international flavor to the collection already are basalt specimens from the Giant's Causeway, Ireland; granite from the Italian side of Mont Blanc; and limestone, between 135 and 180 million years old, from the Rock of Gibraltar. Other exhibits include 200-million-year-old petrified wood from Arizona; 1.7 billion-year-old pegmatite gneiss from Death Valley, California; and one-billion-year-old granite from the Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Museum visitors can use the rock garden to learn the identification and composition of different rock types. Presently located near the Hayden Planetarium, it may be visited free of charge.

Sickle-Cell Program Slated for BCH

Doctors at Boston City Hospital announced on July 10 plans for their $2.9 million federal grant from the National Institute of Health for sickle-cell screening, education, and research.

BCH, where the present screening test for sickle-cell anemia was first developed, in June became one of ten pilot programs across the country to be funded by the national government in an effort to find the best way to develop a nationwide program for sickle-cell disease.

The BCH program will consist of two broad areas. The first is a service function which will include the establishment of screening, counseling, and educational programs based at neighborhood health centers throughout the city.

This phase will also include a home care plan. Health aides recruited from the community will be taught about the disease and will be sent into the community to counsel families with the trait or disease. They will also serve as liaisons between patients and the doctors, and will provide necessary followup to insure that the patient receives appropriate and adequate care.

Screening, education, and counseling programs will begin in the fall.

The second area in the program involves research. Researchers will attempt to learn more about the process causing red cells to sickle and therapeutic measures which could be developed to interfere with sickling and relieve symptoms of the patients. Also under investigation is an attempt to find out how the blood of a sickler could be altered so that it would produce hemoglobin that is not sickle hemoglobin. The research is being done at Boston

City Hospital as well as other hospitals and universities in greater Boston.

Dr. Jane Desforges, director of BCH's Tufts Hematology Laboratory, serves as project director. She stressed the importance of screening in a medical setting.

"We want to be certain that we provide — confidentially — good records and the necessary education and counseling that is so important in dealing with genetic disorders of any kind. It is important that everyone know why and how the test is done and what the results mean.

"We want to strengthen the present efforts of various community groups and assist them with backup services.

"We will be working cooperatively with a number of organizations," Dr. Desforges added.

Dr. Louis Sullivan, associate project director and director of BCH's Boston University Hematology Division, serves on the Advisory Committee on Sickle-Cell Disease to the Secretary of HEW in Washington.

Dr. Sullivan stressed the important role the community will play in planning BCH's Sickle-Cell Program.

"There are two community representatives serving as associate project directors, Marion McElhaney and Arthur Glass," Dr. Sullivan said. "We also have a community advisory committee which will help us plan every aspect of the program to insure that decisions are made in the best interest of the community."

Other associate project directors include Dr. James Jandl of Harvard's Hematology Laboratory at Boston City Hospital and Dr. David Nathan of Children's Hospital, both responsible for scientific affairs.

DR. QUIGLEY HONORED

Dr. Thomas B. Quigley of 20 Hawthorn Road, Brookline, associate director of the Orthopedic Service at Boston City Hospital, was elected an honorary member of the National Athletic Trainers Association at their annual meeting in St. Louis, Missouri, recently.

Dr. Quigley, who is a clinical professor of surgery at Harvard Medical School and on the staff of the Harvard University Health Service, was cited for his "long association with the medical care of athletes and counsel to athletic trainers."

NEW DIRECTORY

Publication of a new Directory of Procurement Offices — designed to be especially helpful to small and minority businessmen — has been announced by the Department of the Interior.

Besides other information, the booklet contains an explanation of the department's decentralized procurement program; a brief synopsis of articles and services purchased by Interior bureaus and offices; advice concerning other procurement publications; and the addresses and telephone numbers of all Interior procurement offices.

J. T. Hall, Jr., Director of Interior's Office of Survey and Review, in a brief introduction to the booklet said:

"The mission of the Department of the Interior is to furnish and administer programs for the efficient and effective management, conservation, and development of America's natural resources.

"The accomplishment of the mission requires the procurement of a wide variety of goods and services at an annual expenditure of nearly $600,000,000, about 50 percent of which is for construction.

"The Department of the Interior invites and encourages participation in its procurements. It is not difficult to compete for government business in this department."

Single copies of the booklet are available from the Director of Survey and Review, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240, and quantities may be ordered from the Branch of Storage and Shipping, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

SMALL CLAIMS INFORMATION

Under Massachusetts law a myriad of consumer problems on claims up to $400 may be remedied in the Small Claims Court.

For example, you may use court proceedings if someone does not pay you money owed; if someone damages your property; if an appliance you have bought breaks down and you are refused a refund; or if the cleaner has lost your clothing and will not pay for the loss.

Anyone over twenty-one may go to Small Claims. If you are under twenty-one, bring your claim through a parent or an older friend. One of the advantages of Small Claims Court is that you will not have to hire a lawyer. However, you may contact your own attorney or your Neighborhood Legal Services Office.

Locate the Small Claims Court for the city or town in which the person to be sued lives or does business. Contact the court clerk. He will tell you when court is in session, when court begins, and answer any questions you may have about the process of bringing your claim.

If you decide to sue, this is the procedure:

1. You must fill out an order slip, supplied by the clerk, on which you state the reason for suing. A summons will be sent to the defendant informing him of the suit and hearing date. The cost to you will be approximately $3.50.

2. Make sure the defendant's name is listed correctly. No abbreviations, initials, or nicknames. If you are suing a business, be sure that you use the full name. The clerk will inform you by postcard of the hearing date and your docket number. Refer to this number whenever you call the clerk with a question.

A rate of $4 per inch of 12 lines (set solid) has been established for such advertisements as under the law must be printed in the City Record. Advertising and other copy must, except in emergencies, be in hand at the City Record Office by noon, Tuesday, of each week to insure its publication in the Monday issue.

3. Call the clerk at least one day before the trial to make sure the defendant has received the summons and also to obtain a copy of his defense if one has been submitted. If the defendant has not received the summons, you may hire a constable (check the Yellow Pages) to serve additional papers on the defendant. These will be given to you by the clerk to fill out. Cost to you for the constable, $10 to $15.

4. Contact any witnesses who may help you. Bring willing witnesses with you to the trial. You may summons a reluctant witness to testify, but the summons must be served by a constable or a person not involved in the claim (not a relative).

5. Arrive at court early on the day of the trial. Bring all evidence, and find your name on the court calendar. Both parties will be sworn in and each will be given a chance to tell his side of the story. The judge will then make his decision. If you win, try to settle with the other party in full that day.

Note that if the defendant does not come to trial he has defaulted, and you win.

If the defendant refuses to pay, you may file a petition for a show cause hearing. If the defendant does not appear at this hearing to explain why he has failed to pay, the court will issue a capias. This is an order subjecting the defendant to arrest.

If the defendant has decided to pay before the trial, call the clerk and tell him that the case is settled.

AREA MAIL PROCESSING STARTS IN HUB

Area Mail Processing, one of the newest innovations of the United States Postal Service, will be installed at the Boston Post Office effective July 22.

This was announced on July 10 by William F. Bolger, Boston District Manager.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency through centralization of mail-processing activities at Boston," Mr. Bolger said.

Massing the mail at Boston will allow more direct dispatching to other cities, thus leading to quicker service.

The Boston Post Office, Mr. Bolger pointed out, is a Sectional Center Facility (SCF) serving thirty-eight associate post offices in Massachusetts with the ZIP code prefix of 020, all of which come under Area Mail Processing July 22.

Area Mail Processing is a plan whereby all mail originating at these offices will be consolidated at the SCF for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch.

Originating mail from the SCF area will be collected and consolidated at the originating associate office and, without further preparation, be dispatched to the SCF for culling, facing, canceling, and distribution, preparatory to dispatch.

All mail deposited in street letter boxes designated for the deposit of mail for local delivery only and all mail deposited in a receptacle at the local post office which is designated for the deposit of mail for local postmark only will be canceled with the postmark of the local post office. The mail for local delivery, as well as incoming mail, will be processed in that office. The outgoing mail with local postmark will be dispatched to the Area Mail Processing Center for distribution.

All mail deposited in street letter boxes which has not been designated for local delivery, and in the "out-of-town" letter drops in lobbies at the selected associate offices, will be transferred to the SCF area.

Area Mail Processing will be applicable primarily to that mail originating at post offices within the SCF area which is destined for delivery outside the city of origin.

The Sectional Center Facility postmark will read "U. S. Postal Service MA 020" along with the date and AM-PM designation. The city postmark of Boston and each individual associate office will not be changed.

It was emphasized by Mr. Bolger that no office will lose its postmark.

He urged that when the plan goes into effect customers should not use the word "city" on mail addressed for local delivery, but spell out the name. Because of the high degree of mechanization in most large post offices, Mr. Bolger said the use of ZIP code on all mail is extremely important.

U. S. POSTAL ANNOUNCEMENT

A number of steps to improve mail service in the Boston Postal District were cited on July 5 by Postmaster George K. Walker as the reorganized United States Postal Service ended its first year of operation.

"We have, during the past twelve months, arrested the decline in mail service and begun to make significant progress toward service improvements," he said.

"We are handling an increased volume of mail and are doing so with fewer man years. This is partially due to a service-wide hiring freeze ordered by the Postmaster General, in an effort to reduce expenses sufficiently to avoid a rate increase next January, if at all possible.

"The Postmaster General insisted that the necessary economies be effected without impairing service to the public, and that's what we're doing locally," Postmaster Walker said.

"We are consistently reaching next-day delivery goals for first class and airmail when that mail is properly addressed and deposited."

The "local area" overnight delivery program applies to regular first-class letters and other first-class mail deposited in designated boxes by 5 p.m., for delivery within the Boston Postal District and the metropolitan area embracing sectional centers 017 through 024.

The next-day delivery area for airmail extends to most cities within 600 miles and second-day delivery is virtually assured to nearly all major cities in America with direct airline connections.

"Aside from relatively few failures, which result from weather, human error, or factors beyond control, the steps we have taken in the past year — and will follow up on in the coming months — mean that we can provide the mailer with assurances of on-time delivery over wider areas and to an extent that has not been possible in years past," Postmaster Walker said.

In addition to new mechanization that has been added to improve mail service, the Boston Postal District has introduced express mail service, control pak, passport applications, and internal changes designed to better serve Postal customers.

CIVIC GROUP URGES PARK PLAZA CONTINUANCE

The Back Bay Federation for Community Development has asked 12 Boston civic and professional groups to aid in reviving the proposed $266 million Park Plaza redevelopment project.

The project, designed to turn ten acres in the Park Square area into a high-rise dwelling and commercial complex, has been rejected by the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs (DCA).

Before the DCA's rejection, the plan received City Council approval after lengthy hearings. Federal approval was not required since no federal funds are involved.

Organizations the federation has appealed to for help are the Boston Society of Architects, the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Trade Board of Boston, the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, the Back Bay Association, the Neighborhood Association of the Back Bay, the Beacon Hill Civic Association, the Bay Village Association, the Citizens Housing and Planning Association, the Friends of the Public Garden, and the Greater Boston Hotel Association.

HALFWAY HOUSE — PROGRESS

A halfway-house program, formulated for the purpose of rehabilitating prisoners upon their release from jail, was announced jointly on July 7, by Mayor White and City Penal Commissioner A. Reginald Eaves. The program will be known as the Boston Offender's Service Project and is designed to help men who will either be on parole or will have ended their prison terms by giving them room, board, and job assistance for about a month until they have proved themselves responsible in their respective communities. The operation started July 15, and is conducted by Massachusetts Halfway House, Inc., a nonprofit agency aimed at assisting former prisoners who will need help in the Boston area. The funds for the program are being provided by the Mayor's Safe Streets Act, funded by the United States.

NATURAL HISTORY PROGRAM

Camping, hiking, or driving through the countryside this summer can become an adventure in natural history.

Boston's Museum of Science shows what you can find and where to look in a new program on the natural history of New England which began on July 10.

"Spheres of Life," a 45-minute lecture-demonstration, will use live animals, specimens, diagrams, maps, and slides to describe New England's deciduous woodland forms of life.

To aid understanding of local natural history, the program will contrast New England and tropical rain forest environments. Animals and plants, climate, and landscape of the two areas will be discussed.

A slide-show will examine the earth's biosphere, why it exists, what sustains it, and man's impact on it.

The program is currently presented in the Museum's Robb Auditorium daily, except Friday, through August 31.

"Both Ends of the Rainbow," the 30-minute lecture-demonstration formerly given only on week-ends is now presented every day except Monday. It will continue through August 4 in Morse Auditorium.

This program uses visible and invisible light rays to explore the electromagnetic spectrum, the range of light involved in X rays, lasers, radio and TV, illumination, and radar.

The demonstrator shows a laser that beams lights and sounds across the room, invisible light that sets fire to cotton, and a radar range that cooks food instantly by microwave bombardment.

Both programs combine education and entertainment through dramatic visual presentations. The fee for each program is 50 cents in addition to museum admission.

SUMMER WORK PROGRAM IMPLEMENTED BY OPS

The Mayor's Office of Public Service Summer Work Program is putting nearly 700 Boston youths to work sweeping streets, painting parks, and cleaning vacant lots in their local neighborhoods.

The program, in its fourth year, employs local students of high school and college age, with the major share of the cost borne by the federal government.

Work projects are initiated by community suggestions and can range from changing a vacant lot into a park to collecting garbage to be recycled.

"The Summer Work Program is a beneficial community service that provides useful and responsible jobs for our young people," Mayor Kevin White said.

"The strong interest of community groups enables us to effectively organize our work force to meet the community's priorities."

The program takes advantage of federal resources and the initiative of area youth to realize the projects.

The program's central staff, working out of the Office of Public Service, organizes groups of youths in each of Boston's neighborhoods. College students on federal work-study grants are employed as supervisors working with the neighborhood Little City Halls and community groups to seek out projects and plan appropriate responses.

Work crews are made up of seven to ten area high school students paid through ABCD's Neighborhood Youth Corps. A college supervisor is assigned to each crew.

Last summer work crews hauled away over 10,000 tons of trash from vacant lots, rebuilt 100 lots into mini-parks, and completed over 1,000 other work projects.

The community is invited to join the youth in their neighborhood projects, suggest possible projects, and lend needed equipment to the workers.

Citizens interested in the program should contact their local Little City Hall, or the central Summer Work Program office at 722-4100, Ext. 785.

Retired Senior Volunteers Initiate City-wide Program

ACTION, the citizens service corps, has awarded $53,068 to the Commission on Affairs of the Elderly in Boston, Mass., to operate a Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

The grant to the municipal government agency at City Hall was announced in Washington on July 2 by ACTION Director Joe Blatchford.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) provides opportunities for retired persons age 60 and over to serve on a regular basis in a variety of community-sponsored programs.

The one-year grant will enable the group to initiate a city-wide Retired Senior Volunteer Program involving 500 senior citizens in volunteer service within the first year, and as many as 1,000 within the next five. More than 17 percent of the population of Boston is age 60 and over. Local nonfederal sources will provide 18.5 percent of the program's operating budget for the first year.

Established in 1970, the Commission on Affairs of the Elderly is the only Boston agency responsible for older persons on a city-wide scale. The Commission intends to place over 500 senior volunteers as teachers in an adult education program, as counseling aides for an information and referral service, and as friendly visitors for shut-ins. Volunteers also serve as associate commissioners and as board members at drop-in centers operated by the Commission. Edward C. Dwyer, commissioner, heads the agency.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program will place volunteers in cooperating public and private social agencies throughout Boston. Senior volunteers may serve as outreach workers and social service aides for the Department of Health and Hospitals. Volunteers may serve in the Office of the Mayor, Model Cities Department, Office of Human Rights, and the city's Library Department. Other volunteers may serve as senior center coordinators and arts and crafts aides for the Department of Parks and Recreation.

The Office of Public Service will continue to use older volunteers as information and referral aides in neighborhood "Little City Halls." Other volunteers may be placed with Boston Legal Aid, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Women's Industrial and Education Union, and the Boston Visiting Nurse Association.

RSVP was started in 1969 by the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and became operational last July when it became part of ACTION.

RSVP is planned, organized, and operated on the local level. It is developed under the auspices of an established community-service organization or agency. Any retired person age 60 and over can become an RSVP volunteer; there are no education, income, or experience requirements.

Volunteers serve in a variety of organizations, agencies, and institutions such as courts, schools, libraries, day care centers, hospitals, nursing homes, scout offices, economic development agencies, and other community service centers.

RSVP volunteers serve without compensation, although they may be reimbursed for such expenses as transportation and meals.

Other ACTION programs are the Peace Corps, Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), Active Corps of Executives (ACE), and University Year for ACTION.

SPECIAL ART DISPLAY

Mrs. Emily Kudish, of Waban, Mass., a retired nurse and formerly employed by the City of Boston in the Psychiatry Division in the Mattapan Chronic Hospital, is happily presenting a one woman show of her own nonobjective art here in City Hall in the concourse gallery, Monday, July 31, from 5:30 to 7:30 P.M. This magnificent display will then be exhibited Monday through Friday, from 9 to 5, through August 25. Mrs. Kudish has, at the present time, eight exceptional paintings on display revealing a latent craftsmanship that anyone possessing a knowledge of art will recognize at once. We recommend art lovers to view this display and sate their curiosity.

LEAD PAINT, A "DEADLY DIET"

A new eye-catching exhibit of bright red and gold panels at Boston's Museum of Science alerts visitors to an unattractive and perilous disease: lead paint poisoning in children.

Sponsored by the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals, the exhibit, titled "Lead Paint, the Deadly Diet," points out that in Boston one out of every eleven children between one and five years of age has lead poisoning. Every year about 200 children die from it in the United States.

The exhibit urges an annual test for this age group who frequently eat nonfood materials, such as falling plaster, or flaking paint from woodwork, railings, windowsills, and banisters.

Dr. Robert Klein, director of the Boston Lead Poisoning Prevention Center at Boston City Hospital, to which parents are directed for help, says: "If lead paint poisoning is not detected until symptoms appear, 30 percent of the children affected may have irreversible brain damage."

Dr. Klein points out that a simple blood test, free to Boston children, may be obtained at BCH, neighborhood health clinics, and participating hospitals.

Removal of the danger of lead paint is an obligation of landlords, the exhibit explains, giving the procedure to be followed in having residences inspected.

Among those attending the exhibit's opening were: Dr. Klein; Dr. James V. Sacchetti, commissioner of the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals; Francis Guiney, executive director of the department; Dr. Roland Mindlan, director of Boston's Maternal and Child Health Program; Dr. Joel Alpert, new BCH chief of Pediatrics; Frank P. Henry, director of the Boston Housing Inspection Department; Museum officials, headed by Director Bradford Washburn; and representatives of other community health groups.

A take-home pamphlet, printed in Spanish and English is available at the exhibit.

The exhibit was designed by James Moore of Norwell, until recently the Museum's art director. Contributing artists included Elizabeth Chan and Kenneth Bowers of the Museum staff.

The exhibit will remain at the Museum until September 3, when it will go on display in supermarkets, department stores, libraries, and other appropriate public places.

Anyone wishing further information about the exhibit may call the Public Information Office, Boston City Hospital, 424-5402. For information about testing, call the Boston Lead Poisoning Prevention Center, 424-4000.

HUD APPROVES $74 MILLION FOR BRA PROJECTS

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved $74 million in fiscal 1972 funds for Boston Redevelopment Authority projects, according to an announcement by Robert T. Kenney, Director of the BRA.

The federal funds, recently approved, include a previously announced $56 million which came to the BRA as part of the annual arrangement between the city and the federal government.

Commenting on the HUD allocation, Mr. Kenney said, "The grants approved by HUD for fiscal 1972 bring us back to a level of funding received by the BRA in fiscal 1966."

"With HUD support at this level, we should come closer to completion of urban renewal projects under way and concentrate our energies on the needs of the city in the next decade."

A major portion of the funds, more than $22 million, will be used for the Campus High urban renewal project. The 129-acre project, located in the Model Cities area of Roxbury, will be the site for a 5,000-student, city-wide secondary education complex. In addition, more than 300 units of housing for low- and moderate-income families will be constructed by the Lower Roxbury Community Corporation.

The HUD grants also include amendatory funds for the South End and South Cove urban renewal projects. The amendatory funds, for project activities, total $10,370,372 in the South End and $7,563,009 in the South Cove project.

The Boylston-Essex and School-Franklin portions of the Central Business District project received $1,803,474 and $7,057,526, respectively. Much of the work in these two project areas has been completed with funds the BRA obtained through a federally-guaranteed loan. The present grants will allow the BRA to repay those loans and to complete necessary street work.

Also part of the HUD allocation are funds for relocation payments in various BRA projects throughout the city. The South End project will receive about $11,000,000 in relocation funds, South Cove, $3,355,116, and the Waterfront project, $2,103,770.

Between $8 and $9 million in relocation funds will also be allotted the other BRA projects in Washington Park, Government Center, Charlestown, South Station, and Fenway.

Federal funding for the BRA went from $76 million in fiscal 1966 to $22 million in fiscal 1967. The next three years the Authority received a total of $14 million; and it was not until fiscal 1971, when the BRA received $28 million, that HUD funds became available in sufficient quantity for completion of projects begun in the early 1960's.

NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. Eli Post has been appointed special assistant to the director of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, according to an announcement by BRA Director Robert T. Kenney.

Mr. Post, a native of Brooklyn, New York, was most recently special assistant to the administrator of the City of New York Housing and Development Administration.

Mr. Post joined that agency in 1961 as a project development coordinator. In 1966, he was named assistant to the administrator and later held positions as director of planning and technical services and director of advance planning.

Throughout his ten years with the agency, he has been responsible for a wide range of duties, including coordination of several large-scale development projects.

He received his Bachelor's Degree in Civil Engineering from City College of New York in 1961 and a Master's Degree in Public Administration from New York University in 1966.

BCH SCHOOL OF NURSING ACCREDITED

Boston City Hospital School of Nursing, one of the first nursing schools in the country, has received accreditation for the next six years from the National League for Nursing.

Thousands of nurses have graduated from Boston City Hospital since the school was established in 1878, many receiving positions of leadership in the profession around the world.

A classic book in nursing history, An Historical Sketch of Nursing, published in 1928, says of Boston City Hospital nurses, "It is well known that nurses from Boston City Hospital are not seeking to labor in easy places, but rather where the conflict between life and death is most difficult and where the victory of either are apparently equal. They like to array themselves against the forces of destruction and labor with fervor for the restoration of the sick to health and for the preservation of positive health."

The nursing school has an average enrollment of 250 students including about 60 percent from the City of Boston. The faculty includes fifty-one staff members.

Of the sixty-five students graduated in June, fifty-nine have stayed on to work at Boston City Hospital.

WATER WONDERLAND: A SIGHT TO BEHOLD

Boston's own "Cypress Gardens" water ski extravaganza, "Water Wonderland 1972," will be held in Jamaica Plain on Jamaica Pond on Sunday, July 30, from 1 P.M. to 4 P.M.

Cosponsored by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department and Summerthing, the event will feature the talents of the Nipmuc Water Ski Club of Webster, Mass.

Trick skiing, a slalom exhibition, ski sailing, a human pyramid on water skis, clowns, and a water ski parachute event will all be part of the aquatic afternoon according to John Landry of the Parks and Recreation Department, who, with Madeline Brown, Jamaica Plain Summerthing coordinator, is coordinating "Water Wonderland 1972."

Mrs. Brown stressed that the event "is definitely one for families and we hope they will bring picnics and stay the entire afternoon."

Other activities include a synchronized water ballet; the Summerthing Percussion Coalition Band performing on a floating barge; "Swimming Through the Years," five decades of bathing suit fashions modeled by members and friends of the Jamaica Plain Youth Athletic League; a rowboat race between members of the Boston Police and Boston Fire Departments; and crew races between local colleges.

Members of a city-wide planning committee who have been actively involved in the preparations for "Water Wonderland 1972" include, in addition to Mr. Landry and Mrs. Brown, Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph Curtis; Robert Cusick, director of recreation for Parks and Recreation and George Boutillier, also of that department; Oakley Brooks of the Nipmuc Water Ski Club; Capt. Edward Hamilton of District 13; Boston Police Deputy Superintendent Oscar Dubois; and Chief of Department George Paul of the Boston Fire Department.

BOSTON CONSUMERS' COUNCIL: CHAMPION OF CAUSES

Although the Boston Consumers' Council has been in existence since 1968, it is only since February, 1972 that the agency has had a full-time staff. According to Richard A. Borten, executive director of the Consumers' Council, the twenty consumer investigators hired under the Federal Emergency Employment Act have had exceptional success.

Working out of Little City Halls across the city, the investigators handle about ninety complaints a week. Mr. Borten estimates that they have already saved Boston consumers thousands of dollars that might have been lost on faulty merchandise, home improvement schemes, door-to-door sales rackets, and various other plans to cheat the unwary buyer.

One investigator is working on 160 complaints she has received from people who have waited as long as a year for goods they ordered and paid for at neighborhood sales parties. Another recently settled a series of complaints involving a store that refused to sell shoes at an advertised price, and an investigator in Mattapan has helped several consumers who were having trouble getting security deposits back from their landlords.

With the help of staff attorney Arthur Shea, the investigators advise consumers of their rights and help them take appropriate action. At times this means going to a store and demanding that faulty merchandise be replaced; sometimes it means helping a consumer through the small claims court process.

The Consumers' Council is conducting a survey of food prices across the city which will determine what regional differences in prices exist, and has been checking into deceptive advertising. One consumer investigator noticed an advertisement for a backyard swimming pool. A picture showed a roomy pool with lots of people in it, but when the investigator checked it out he found that the pool would be crowded with three people. The advertiser was convinced to change his ad. The Consumers' Council is a credit to the City of Boston.

SEN. KENNEDY PROPOSES U.S. CONTROL OVER HUB'S HISTORICAL SITES

Senator Edward M. Kennedy on July 17 proposed legislation to permit the federal government to acquire control over some of Boston's historical sites which would include Faneuil Hall, Bunker Hill, and the Old North Church. The proposal would also allow the United States Secretary of the Interior to take over the North Square historic site which includes the Old State House and the Paul Revere House.

The areas would be known as "Boston National Historical Park." The property would be administered by the National Park Service and would include the handling of tourists. Mayor White was "excited" by the Senator's proposal.

The Building Department issued permits for the week ending July 3.

Thousands Visit Hub's Famous "Freedom Trail"

Thousands of visitors to date have enjoyed the delightful experience of seeing fifteen famous historic landmarks during their walking tour of Boston's famous Freedom Trail. It is one and one half miles long and generally takes about two and one half hours to complete the tour. A red stripe is set in the sidewalk along the trail as the guideline for a trip one will cherish and long remember. We commend it to visitors and natives alike.

The tour starts on Boston Common, the nation's oldest park, where once Indian scalps were displayed, criminals hanged, and "scolds and railers" placed on ducking stools near Frog Pond. The southwest corner of the Common holds the Common Burying Ground where Gilbert Stuart is buried along with British soldiers killed during the Revolution.

High above the Common, where settlers once kept watch "to foresee the approach of foreign dangers" is the gold-domed State House. Built on land acquired from John Hancock's heirs, the State House today houses colonial archives as well as the current government officialdom.

Listed next is the Park Street Church, where the abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison was one of many orators to give fiery speeches.

The Granary Burying Ground is adjacent and tourists are surprised to discover it nestling park-like in a valley of office buildings. The headstones are history. Benjamin Franklin's parents, Paul Revere, the victims of the Boston Massacre, John Hancock, and Mary Goose, known the world over as Mother Goose, are interred here.

Across Tremont Street towards the Government Center, is King's Chapel, whose colonial congregation was colorful with the uniforms of British soldiers. General Washington came here Christmas night, 1789. The burial ground next door (in the 17th century the colony's only cemetery) is believed to contain the anonymous remains of the heroine of Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter.

The red strip leads along School Street past a marker on the site of the country's first public school (1635). Its students included Cotton Mather, Benjamin Franklin (whose statue is nearby), and Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The restored Old Corner Book Store, now a newspaper office, on the corner of School and Washington Streets, is today the fortunate survivor of recurrent attempts of demolition by developers. Anne Hutchinson preached here the dangerous religious theories that led to her banishment. From private home to publishing house to bookstore to pizza parlor, and newspaper office, the building today has regained its rustic charm and welcomes visitors every day except Sunday.

Next is the Old South Meeting House, where Franklin was baptized in 1706. Because the Meeting House was the site of radical gatherings in 1775, British soldiers gutted it and converted it to a riding school.

The Trail continues past Ben Franklin's birthplace to the Old State House. Today, encircled and dwarfed by office buildings, it looks down the street to Long Wharf and the sea. Its walls, at one time, displayed portraits of King George III and Queen Charlotte. Today it is a quaint museum, and the basement, to the astonishment of visitors, is a subway station.

Just outside the Old State House stones circle the site of the Boston Massacre. On March 5, 1770, redcoats killed five men in a jeering mob of colonists, thus spilling the first blood of the incipient Revolution.

The Freedom Trail wanders next into Boston's bustling market district to Faneuil Hall. Weekdays a produce market and weekends a flower market, this building is proverbially referred to as "The Cradle of Liberty" because it hosted so many rebellious Boston Town Meetings before the Revolution.

The brick walk leads under the expressway and into the North End of Boston, formerly the most elegant and prosperous neighborhood in the city.

In North Square we find the diminutive home of Paul Revere. It was built in 1677 and was painstakingly restored and opened to visitors (admission 25 cents). The famous silversmith set out from his stable here for his historic ride to Lexington in April, 1775.

The Freedom Trail continues to the Old North Church, possibly the most famous church in America. It was here that the two lanterns were hung to signal Paul Revere of the advance of the British by sea to Concord. The church is authentically restored to its original Christopher Wren style. It has survived since 1723 and has continually served the religious needs of Boston's citizenry. The steeple has been destroyed twice by hurricane, most recently in 1955 when the pennies and nickels of the nation's school children were used to restore the historic landmark. The Freedom Trail comes to an end with a visit across the Charlestown Bridge to the Boston Navy Yard where the world famous U.S.S. Constitution (Old Ironsides) is moored.

MARATHON BENEFITS VENDOME FUND

Commissioner Joseph Curtis announced that the Boston Parks and Recreation Department sponsored a Bicycle Marathon on July 30, 1972, in conjunction with the local cities and towns, the St. John's Evangelist Church, and the League of American Wheelmen to benefit the families of the Vendome tragedy.

According to Robert F. Cusick, Recreation Director for Parks and Recreation, the riders followed the famous 26-mile 385-yard B.A.A. Marathon route registering at 11:45 A.M. at the St. John's Evangelist Church, Hopkinton, Mass., Parish Hall, leaving Hopkinton at 1 P.M., passing through Ashland, Framingham, Natick, Wellesley, Newton, and Brookline, finishing at the Prudential Center in Boston at approximately 3 P.M.

Each rider secured pledges for mileage covered and notated the pledges on the forms available at Parks and Recreation at City Hall or local Little City Halls. All funds were donated to the Vendome Fire Fund which aided the families of the victims of that tragedy.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Mayor White on July 24 announced the appointments of Leonard Kirk O'Donnell, 26, to the position of director of the Office of Public Service (OPS). Mr. O'Donnell, former manager of the Dorchester Little City Hall, has been acting director of OPS for the last month.

Mayor White also announced that William Edgerton, 27, will assume the position of deputy director of OPS. Edgerton is a former manager of the Jamaica Plain Little City Hall.

The Office of Public Service administers fifteen Little City Halls throughout Boston and provides services such as voter registration, response to complaints, and receiving payments on bills for city services.

Mr. O'Donnell is a graduate of Boston Latin School and Brown University. He was a school teacher for two years before joining the city government. He is married and lives at 725 Adams Street, Dorchester.

Mr. Edgerton is a graduate of Syracuse University. He was a VISTA volunteer and is a former school teacher. He is single and lives at 10 Parley Vale Road, Jamaica Plain.

YAC SPONSORS DAY CAMP PROGRAM

Mayor Kevin H. White's Youth Activities Commission, with the help of interested friends (City Councilman Joseph M. Tierney and Mr. Rodney Mosher of City Hall) and various agencies (City of Boston Parks and Recreation Department, the Association for Mentally Ill Children, and the Boston School Department) is sponsoring a federally funded day camp program for emotionally disturbed boys and girls, ages 11 through 14, from August 2 to 30, weekends excluded. Cab transportation will be provided free of charge and the hours will be from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. The program will operate from Murray Hall, Fargo Building, Summer Street, South Boston. There will be a trained staff of ten to work with the expected enrollment of twenty youngsters. Any parent, relative, or professional involved with an emotionally disturbed child residing in the City of Boston and interested in the program should immediately contact Susan Boyle or Jaime Darwin, City of Boston Youth Activities Commission, 400 Shawmut Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02118 or telephone 261-3200 or 261-8854.

TIME'S RUNNING OUT

The City Art Fest, originated in 1970, is the brainchild of George Stephen and Robert Gaudette of the Boston Redevelopment Authority. It gives city employees a means of expressing their artistic abilities. This third annual art display here in the concourse gallery in City Hall, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M., Monday through Friday, attests to the success of the idea and to the wealth of talents which were awaiting discovery.

The quality of the artists' works has surprised their fellow employees, inspiring them to continue producing and others to develop new avenues of expression. The exhibit ends August 3, at 5 P.M. Forty-eight City of Boston employees exhibited their arts and crafts.

IMMUNIZATION AVAILABLE FOR PRESCHOOL CHILDREN

Youngsters entering first grade in September will be given preschool immunization at the South Boston Community Health Center, 133 Dorchester Street, every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon between 12:45 P.M. and 2:15 P.M. during August only. To provide more efficient and effective health care, call 269-7500 for an appointment with the Public Health Nursing Division.

"WATER WONDERLAND" AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis of the Boston Parks and Recreation Department announced that Water Wonderland, Jamaica Pond's colorful extravaganza was held once again this year on Sunday, July 30, 1972.

About 18,000 jammed the banks of the pond to watch the various acts performed on the pond and, according to Recreation Director Bob Cusick, this year's event was even more exciting than last year's.

Festivities began at 1 P.M. with a band on a float serenading spectators. The Nagettes, aquatic performers, presented a synchronized water ballet to the music from the production "Fiddler on the Roof." The Collegiate Champions who recently returned from competition with the Russian World Champions were next, demonstrating different rowing skills.

The highlight of the day was the contest between the Hub Police Department and the Fire Department when they competed for the city's rowing title.

Awards were presented by Mayor Kevin H. White, following which event a fashion show took place, featuring the bathing attire from the "Gay Nineties" to today's mod bikinis. The Nipmuc Water Ski Team then performed tricks on skis and the show concluded with a spectacular parachute act ending at 4:30 P.M.

Parents were urged to pack lunches and come early so they could enjoy the entire fun day of activities. This was another of the many free events, sponsored by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, that are held daily city-wide during the summer months.

SUMMER SUFFERING

A hot July day. Some people are swimming and surfing, camping in cool woods, or sailing along with a soft breeze. Summer is to enjoy. But millions are miserable with summer colds.

Actually, young children have the most colds. Preschoolers get an average of six to twelve colds a year. Parents of young children have about six colds a year, whereas other adults have only two or three. People over forty-five have the fewest colds.

According to the Common Cold Research Unit at Harvard Hospital in Britain — where they have injected more than 11,000 healthy volunteers with cold viruses — most people have their own specific cold "personality." Some almost always have head colds. Others get congestion in the chest. Some ache all over and have scratchy symptoms in the eyes. The one almost universal complaint, though, is a runny nose.

There are at least eighty different known cold viruses, and scientists think there are many more. Immunity to one virus is no asset against fending off the other seventy-nine. As a result, nobody is too optimistic about the future of cold vaccines. The best protection is staying as healthy as possible and avoiding crowded places.

Most research shows that people pick up colds in crowded places from other people who have infections. Coughs and sneezes are perfect transportation for cold viruses. An uninhibited, uncovered sneeze travels at the incredible speed of 103 miles per hour, say researchers at the Cold Unit. Some of the viruses die after a few minutes in the air. Others live for hours.

Watch out for anyone with sniffles and sneezes. And cover your own. To find out more information about colds and how to live with them, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. They have the facts.

GROUP INSURANCE
To: All Department Heads and County Officers.
Attention: Payroll Clerks.

Re Optional Insurance
In a communique dated June 29, we had advised you that deductions for optional insurance would start again in July for August premiums, and that Data Processing would show the deduction on the fourth week of the July payrolls.

Through an oversight, this has not been done, and after some discussion, because of August having five paydays, it was decided to make a deduction the fourth and fifth paydays to make up the payments. This applies to those on weekly payrolls.

For those on a monthly payroll, a double deduction will be made from the one paycheck.

EDWARD W. DONOVAN,
Director, Health Benefit and Insurance Unit.

THE CITY SEAL

As it appeared prior to 1827

The City Seal was adopted by "An Ordinance to Establish the City Seal," passed January 2, 1823, which provides "That the design hereto annexed, as sketched by John R. Penniman, giving a view of the City, be the device of the City Seal; that the motto be as follows, to wit: 'Sicut patribus sit Deus nobis'; and that the inscription be as follows:—'Bostonia condita, A.D. 1630. Civitatis regimine donata, A.D. 1822.'" The motto is taken from 1 Kings, viii, 57: "God be with us as He was with our fathers."

The seal as it first appeared is similar to the one shown above.

The seal as it was afterwards changed, and has ever since continued to be used, was first shown on page 221 of the volume of laws and ordinances, commonly known as the "First Revision," published in 1827, and is established as the City Seal at the present time by Revised Ordinances of 1914, Chapter 1, Section 5, which provides that "The seal of the City shall be circular in form; shall bear a view of the City; the motto 'SICUT PATRIBUS SIT DEUS NOBIS,' and the inscription, 'BOSTONIA CONDITA, A.D. 1630. CIVITATIS REGIMINE DONATA A.D. 1822,' as herewith shown."

STAMP BUFFS INTERESTED?

The United States Postal Service has introduced a new pocket-size book, depicting American heritage on postage stamps at ceremonies conducted at the Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum in Weston, Mass., recently.

Designed to introduce the non-collector to stamps and stamp collecting, the book illustrates stamps in color and provides capsule stories about great moments of American history.

While pertinent philatelic information is included, the book extends far beyond the range of a catalog. The book contains illustrated stories covering many highlights in history that have been portrayed on stamps.

The history as told by the stamp itself has been expanded by the book text to provide insights into the persons or events portrayed. There are 114 stories to augment the stamp. About 2,000 stamps are reproduced.

As in no other United States Postal Service publication, the book points up the American heritage and should enhance the fascination of stamp collecting.

The book has 224 pages and is convenient pocket-size 4½ by 7¼ inches. It's available in a paperback edition for $2 and may be purchased in all post offices in the Boston Postal District.

"The Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum is the only museum in the United States designed and built expressly for the preservation, display, and study of postage stamps," stated Sister Fidelma, Museum executive director, "and is known internationally for its comprehensive worldwide stamp collections, the nucleus of which is the celebrated collection of the late Francis Cardinal Spellman." The Museum is open to the public Sundays between 2 P.M. and 5 P.M., Tuesday and Thursday, 9:30 A.M. to 1:30 P.M. Other times by appointment. There is no admission charge.

In addition to being available at major post offices, the book may be ordered by mail from the Philatelic Sales Unit, Washington, D.C. 20036, at $2 each, plus a handling charge of 50 cents per order. Customers should allow at least four weeks for mail orders.

A cloth-bound book in the same size is also available from the Philatelic Sales Unit. The price is $5.95, plus 50 cents handling charge per order for mail orders.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 8

July 17, 1972.

To All Department Heads.

GENTLEMEN:

You are hereby authorized to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to employees of your department who are duly accredited delegates or alternates of the following veterans' organizations: American Legion, AMVETS World War II, Disabled American Veterans, Legion of Valor, Marine Corps League, Order of the Purple Heart, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Reserve Officers Association of the United States, so they may attend their convention which will be held in New Orleans, Louisiana, on August 21 through 27, 1972, provided that such leave of absence will not impair departmental operation to such an extent that it will be necessary to incur overtime expense or the employment of temporary personnel to perform the duties of said delegate(s) or alternate(s) during the permitted absence.

If overtime expense or employment of substitute personnel will be required due to such absence, then said delegate(s) or alternate(s) may be granted leave of absence only with loss of pay.

Very truly yours,

KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor.

REGISTRY ANNOUNCEMENT

A massive training program in the new Certificate of Title Law for all Registry of Motor Vehicles personnel is now under way throughout the state. The new law which becomes effective September 1, 1972, requires every newly purchased vehicle to obtain a Certificate of Title before a registration can be issued.

Registrar David J. Lucey said, "Registry service will not be interrupted during this gigantic training program. However, if persons conducting business with us find service a little slow in the next few weeks we ask them to be understanding and patient. It is imperative tha each and every employee be thoroughly trained in the procedures of the new system prior to the effective date of September 1."

MBUF PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Massachusetts Bay United Fund continued its progress during 1971, improving its financial position. The economic climate presented unusual difficulties for the 1971-72 Campaign Organization.

Under these conditions, Campaign Chairman William S. Brewster and his associates produced $13,830,047, a slight increase over the preceding year. For this result, all those engaged in the Campaign and thousands of contributors have been thanked on behalf of our entire community.

In close cooperation between the United Fund and United Community Services, further steps have been taken toward greater effectiveness and economy in operations. The Joint Committee on MBUF-UCS Relationships continued throughout 1971 to focus on current problems in keeping with the changing times.

As one result, the Joint Agency Budget Division became operable by mid-year, consolidating the budgeting of local agencies in a single unit. This step provides greater visibility for the United Fund's role in financing agencies. It is anticipated that outside consultants will examine the total UCS-MBUF structure during 1971 toward the end of recommending simplifications.

Our common task is to assure that every possible dollar is raised and then translated into agency services in the most productive manner. During 1971 more than a million people availed themselves of the services provided by the 218 United Fund agencies which were included in the 1971-72 Campaign.

Our 1972-73 Campaign Chairman, Paul F. Hellmuth, has accepted responsibility for mobilizing an all-out community effort to achieve the substantial dollar increase required. It is my hope that all men and women of good will will join with him, and with me, in giving and working to insure its success.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT SEMINARS FOR MANAGERS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to Paul J. Dorr, a consultant of Canton, Mass., in an amount not to exceed $5,900 for work to be performed in the period January 3, 1972, through June 30, 1972.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant to the city from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in an amount not to exceed $15,000 under the federally funded Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 (P. L. 91-648). The grant was accepted by order of the City Council on February 7, 1972.

Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Dorr will prepare and conduct a program of Labor Relations Seminars for Managers to the extent of seven and one half man-days training for each of three groups of up to thirty persons (or a total of ninety managers). Most of the participants are middle or upper level managers from the City of Boston, although a limited number from other communities and from the Commonwealth will attend.

Mr. Dorr originally prepared the case material that forms the course content and earlier conducted a successful pilot program with twenty-five Boston managers in September of 1971. I believe he is uniquely qualified to carry out this educational task for our Office of Labor Relations.

In view of the professional nature of the services required, I do not believe that public advertising is advisable.

Respectfully,
EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

Purchasing Division EQUIPMENT

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from the Boston City Hospital for one 5-inch integraline for picker single 5-inch magna scanner. This equipment is urgently needed and hence publicly advertising for bids would delay the purchase.

Informal quotations were received from the only two sources of supply. Authority is therefore requested to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and award a contract, without public advertisement, to On-Call Boston Corporation who was the lower bidder on their informal quotation. It is my opinion that the best interests of the city will be served by awarding the contract as requested.

The amount of the contract will be $2,360, delivered and installed, net 30 days plus 1 percent monthly surcharge for late remittance.

Respectfully yours,
KEVIN P. FEELEY, Purchasing Agent.

Affectionately called "Old Ironsides"

The U.S.S. Constitution lies in dock at the United States Naval Shipyard, across the Charles River at Wapping and Chelsea Streets, Charlestown. She was launched in 1797 at Hartt's Shipyard, a short distance from her present resting place. In the next year she helped clear the coast and the West Indies of French privateers. Later engagements with the British in the War of 1812 brought her undying fame and her nickname Old Ironsides. The 44-gun frigate was constructed of well-seasoned live oak and red cedar timbers secured by bolts and copper sheathing made by Paul Revere. Now restored and seaworthy, the historic craft may be boarded daily, 9:30 to 4, free. Uniforms, cannon, and newspaper accounts of the War of 1812 are displayed.

Ed.), chapter 149, section 26, as amended.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the equal employment opportunity section of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Plans and specifications and other contract documents will be available on and after Monday, July 31, 1972, at the above office of the Awarding Authority, Room 812, Boston City Hall, upon deposit of a certified check, payable to the City of Boston, for $25 per set of plans and specifications. The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest so to do. The Awarding Authority also reserves the right to reject any subbid if it determines that such subbid does not represent the subbid of a person competent to perform the work as specified or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition.

BCH Fills Nursing Quota

Boston City Hospital has increased its number of staff nurses by more than 150 since this time last year through intensified recruitment and reorganization of the nursing service, hospital officials announced on July 27.

As of the first week in July B.C.H. had a total of 534 R.N.s and L.P.N.s in staff positions on its payroll. At the same time last year only a total of 378 R.N.s and L.P.N.s were employed in staff positions.

The 534 figure includes 427 R.N.s and 107 L.P.N.s as opposed to 294 R.N.s and 84 L.P.N.s at the same time last year. These numbers do not include supervisors, head nurses, or Outpatient Department staff.

In 1971, between January 1 and July 5 B.C.H. hired only 85 R.N.s while 87 R.N.s resigned. During the same period this year 188 R.N.s were employed and only 65 resigned. This is a 55 percent increase in the number of R.N.s hired and a 25 percent decrease in the turnover rate.

Approximately 25 nurses have been hired for the summer only, but at least that many are expected to be hired full time between now and September, officials added.

Hospital officials point to several reasons for the much improved situation.

Nurses at B.C.H. now receive one of the highest beginning salary levels in the city.

A greater number of nurses have been attracted to B.C.H. due to intensified national recruitment. This added number has eased the work load on staff nurses with a consequent reduction in the turnover rate.

Ancillary help is being increased and upgraded so as to be of greater assistance to staff nurses.

Changes in nursing administration and the support given to the nursing department by the administration and Trustees has pleased nurses at every level.

Added benefits including increased tuition reimbursement for those nurses taking advanced nursing courses.

Expansion of in-service education to provide on-going education for nurses employed at B.C.H.

Increased involvement of staff nurses in deciding policies which effect nursing practices.

Renovations in the hospital and prospects of the new 29-story nurses residence which will open this fall.

Officials at B.C.H. also noted with pleasure that 59 of 65 B.C.H. Professional School of Nursing graduates this year elected to stay on at B.C.H.

"Although there are still a few openings on our nursing staff which we are seeking to fill, we now have the capability of providing top quality nursing care for all our patients," said Mrs. Anne Hargreaves, new executive director of nursing for the city's Department of Health and Hospitals and president of the Massachusetts Nurses Association.

"Even though B.C.H. has recovered from its immediate crisis, vacancies do exist in other parts of the Department of Health and Hospitals system, and we are continuing to intensively recruit in those areas," Mrs. Hargreaves said.

"There are opportunities for nurses here to find innovative and creative jobs with expanded nursing roles," she added.

Mrs. Hargreaves noted that a wide variety of nursing jobs exist in the department besides straight medical and surgical nursing.

"The varieties of opportunities are enormous, including community nursing, ambulatory services, family care, community mental health, emergency care, and extended care," she added.

BOSTON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

A birthday wouldn't be an all-American birthday, if it didn't come replete with mounds of ice cream. Boston's 150th birthday, being celebrated this year, all year long, will not be the exception to that time-honored tradition.

On City Hall Plaza, during the 12 to 2 P.M. lunch hour on July 27, Mayor Kevin H. White accepted the first of the 5,000 ice-cream cones. In line behind the Mayor were the city's employees whose job it is to keep our historic city running.

Howard Johnson's kicked off their National 28 Flavors Month celebration on City Hall Plaza while at the same time providing the 150th birthday ice cream. HoJo's celebration is scheduled to run from July 28 through August 28 across the country. Howard B. Johnson, president and chairman of the board, was on hand to celebrate the event with Mayor White. There was also fun and music to the tune of "Buddy Burke's Banjo Band," starring our City Record Editor, Joe Fahey.

The public was invited to join in the celebration. Vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, and blueberry summertime-cooling ice cream was scooped out to all comers. Boston's birthday is its people's birthday.

MODEL CITY PARKS GETTING HEAVY USE

Now that warm weather is here to stay, neighborhood parks have become the center of activity for Model Neighborhood residents of all ages. An inspection of three local parks, Eustis Playground, Carter Playground, and Washington Park, shows that they are getting heavy use.

These three parks are part of a demonstration maintenance program run by the city department of Parks and Recreation in cooperation with the Model City Parks Maintenance Program.

Under the plan, local residents are assigned to stationary maintenance crews for each park, assuring that the facilities get the daily care required to keep them in top condition.

For example, at Eustis where Jose Rodriguez is park keeper, there are four baseball and softball diamonds which are lined daily and lighted from 7 to 11:30 each night to accommodate the Little League, Babe Ruth League, Boston Policeman's League, and many other local groups scheduled to play more than 200 games there before the field is converted for football in September.

Other attractions at Eustis include a tot-lot for small children, and a new indoor-outdoor pool across the street. When complete, it will replace the portable pool on the playground.

Carter Playground, where LeNorris Hammond is park keeper, also has three diamonds which are used by groups, such as the Puerto Rican Baseball League, and special events such as the recent WILD Sickie Cell Benefit Game.

Other facilities at Carter include five tennis courts, a swimming pool staffed by MDC lifeguards, a basketball court, a tot-lot, and a clubhouse which is open every evening.

In addition to the MDC pool and rink at Washington Park, the facilities include two softball diamonds, four basketball courts, and two tennis courts, all maintained by a crew headed by Park Keeper Anthony Perry.

The new recreation building, due to open soon, houses a large gymnasium, as well as exercise rooms, and a variety of meeting rooms which will be available to community groups. The modern building is equipped with an elevator reserved especially for senior citizens, a feature that older people will certainly appreciate.

Everyone who uses these parks will appreciate the hard work of the crews. The park keepers are glad to respond to comments and suggestions concerning the upkeep of the parks.

FIGHTING PREJUDICE AND TB

At the turn of the century, TB spread terror and death. Today, it can be cured, even prevented. But people who have TB still suffer from social prejudice.

At the University of Kentucky, psychologist John L. Tringo tested 455 people, including students and rehabilitation workers, to find the "social distance" they felt toward people with specific diseases and disabilities. Out of twenty-one conditions, TB was among the least acceptable diseases, along with mental retardation, alcoholism, and mental illness. The most acceptable diseases and conditions were ulcers, arthritis, asthma, and diabetes.

Some diseases, according to Dr. Tringo, may actually benefit from high frequency and therefore less shock value. For example, the three major killers in America — heart disease, stroke, and cancer — were all in the top half of the list, among the more acceptable. In contrast, the incidence of TB has been steadily declining in the last decades.

Most prejudices stem from ignorance and fear. Having TB is no social disgrace. Anyone can get TB, just by breathing in live TB germs spread by someone else's coughs and sneezes. Once the disease is diagnosed, people can become noninfectious — that is, they no longer spread their germs to others — in a matter of days.

Sometimes people who have TB have symptoms. Coughing a lot. Feeling tired all the time. Spitting blood. Losing weight. And sometimes there are no symptoms at all.

Knowing more about what causes TB and how it can be prevented can help combat outmoded prejudice against those who have it. Find out more from your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. They have the facts.

ANNE E. ARMSTRONG

Miss Anne E. Armstrong, sixty-one, of 79 Cresthill Road, Brighton, a librarian at the Boston Public Library's main branch in Copley Square forty years, died July 25, after a brief illness at St. John of God Hospital in Brighton.

She was born in Boston, but had lived for many years in Chestnut Hill, and for the past twenty years in Brighton.

She was graduated from Brighton High School in 1928 and from Boston Teachers College in 1932.

Shortly after her graduation she went to work at Faneuil Branch of the Boston Public Library in Brighton, but was there for only a brief period before being assigned to the main branch in Copley Square.

Miss Armstrong's friends described her as a gentle person who was so genuinely interested in others, especially the children, that she seldom took notice of her own personal illness.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Loughran of Brighton and Mrs. Virginia Malakie of West Newton.

A Funeral Mass was celebrated July 28, in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

City Record

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 64

MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1972

NO. 33

Hub Police Dept. Supervises Towing Program

Mayor Kevin White, on August 3, announced that the towing of illegally parked cars in the downtown area will be performed, both day and night, exclusively by the city.

"This marks the first step toward the elimination of private contractors from virtually all towing in Boston," Mayor White said.

"Our aim is to remove the profit motive from the towing business and that can be accomplished only by taking the business away from private contractors and turning it over to the city," the Mayor said.

Towing of illegally parked cars in the downtown area, until April when the program was temporarily curtailed, had been performed by the city during the day and by private contractors at night. The downtown area, east of Massachusetts Avenue, includes the central business district, North End, Back Bay, and Beacon Hill.

Responsibility for the towing program was shifted from the Traffic and Parking Department to the Police Department on August 7. Equipment and facilities of the Traffic and Parking Department used in the towing program will be transferred to the Police Department.

Mayor White said he plans to file a home rule petition in the next session of the Legislature to change the state law that requires towing to be done by Police Department personnel. Such a change would allow the city to return the program to the Traffic and Parking Department. Previously, the tow program was administered by the Traffic Department using Police Department personnel.

"Recent events have demonstrated the impracticality and undesirability of having city employees involved in the same program working for different departments," Mayor White said.

Mayor White also said he would seek to change the state law that now requires all tows to be ordered by a police officer of at least the rank of sergeant and ask the legislature to increase the present $12 towing fee to $20.

The city presently is unable physically to assume responsibility for towing throughout the city with municipal trucks, Mayor White said. He noted, however, that last year 75 percent of all cars towed in Boston were hauled from within the downtown area.

In the Kenmore Square and hospital area (Peter Bent, Beth Israel, Children's, etc.), towing will be performed both by the city and private contractors, operating under the strict supervision of the Police Department. In all other sections, the city will distribute private towing work equally from a list of qualified firms who bid for the work in each police district.

The city plans to take over all towing of illegally parked cars throughout the city when it has sufficient equipment, facilities, and manpower, Mayor White said.

"Our goal is not to see how many cars can be towed in a given day, but rather to insure the free flow of traffic on our streets," the Mayor said. In keeping with this policy, the city will tow only those cars which, in the opinion of the police, significantly interfere with the movement of traffic or threaten the public safety.

MBTA ORDERS TEN COMPACT BUSES

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority on August 2 approved the award of a contract in the amount of $284,620 to the Ohio firm of Highway Products, Inc., for ten air-conditioned compact transit buses with a 25-passenger seating capacity.

The purchase is subject to approval from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States Department of Transportation which has approved a two-thirds capital grant for the buses. The MBTA's local matching share is available from the Authority's original $225 million bonding authorization.

The buses will be used experimentally on certain selected routes and delivery is expected to take about six months from the start of fabrication.

ATHENAGORAS I DIES

Boston Mayor Kevin White has offered condolence to members of the Eastern Orthodox faith on the death of the Ecumenical Patriarch Athenagoras I.

"I know that to the thousands of followers in Boston and surrounding areas, this loss is a deep one," the Mayor said. "But the religion and culture of the Eastern Orthodox faith is strong and determined, and we know that following every dark night comes the promise of a following new day," he added.

"I sympathize with you during this time of loss — and wish the members of the Greek Orthodox community good fortune in the days to come," the Mayor concluded.

MAYOR APPOINTS THREE TO BCC

Mayor Kevin H. White filled three vacancies on the seven-member Boston Consumers' Council on August 3, by appointing Dean Richard Huber of Boston College Law School, Harold Fennell of the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, and Mrs. Maurice B. Strauss, a Boston resident associated with a number of civic and charitable organizations. The three appointments are nonsalaried.

Mayor White also announced that Maureen Schaffner of Mattapan will become chairman of the Council.

The new appointees replace Marion Ego, former chairman of the Council, Professor Willard Willier of Boston College Law School, and Clarence Jones, Commissioner of the Mayor's Office of Human Rights.

"The Consumer Council is becoming one of the most valuable bodies in the city," Mayor White said. "I look to its members and staff to safeguard and upgrade consumer standards throughout Boston."

The city employs eighteen consumer investigators, located in each of the Little City Halls, to conduct studies and research on behalf of city consumers. The Consumer

DIRECTIVE NO. 6 FISCAL YEAR CHANGE

August 1, 1972.

To All Department Heads and County Officials.

Legislation enacted by the state government in 1969 providing for a change in the fiscal year of local government throughout the state goes into effect in 1973.

The change in fiscal year from the current calendar basis to a July — June fiscal year will be accomplished by means of an eighteen-month transitional budget period which will begin on January 1, 1973, and continue until June 30, 1974. Subsequent budget years will then run from July 1 of each year to June 30 of the following year.

The financing of the eighteen-month transitional period will be accomplished by the determination in 1973 of eighteen-month property tax bills, two thirds of which will be payable by November 1, 1973, and the remaining one third which will be payable by April 1, 1974. Subsequent tax bills will then be paid on a twice-a-year basis, the penalty dates by which the bills must be paid to avoid penalty being November 1 and May 1 of each year.

The purpose of the change in fiscal year, which is the culmination of an effort begun by Dave Davis in 1968, is to establish a more rational budget and fiscal process and at the same time reduce the cost to the city of interest on temporary borrowing. The increased rationality of the budgeting process will result from the fact that the budget will be appropriated by the City Council in May of each year for the fiscal year to begin the following July 1, the tax rate can be set in June of each year, and the tax bills issued in July which will be the first month of each fiscal year. We will, therefore, begin each budget year with all significant factors having already been determined and with full knowledge of the budget limitations which we must live within for that fiscal year.

As far as the preparation of the eighteen-month budget is concerned, the city departments and agencies will prepare a twelve-month budget request for the calendar year of 1973 on forms very similar to those used in the 1972 and 1971 budget requests. This will enable the departments to establish the normal annual comparisons with current and prior years.

In addition, however, one or two additional forms will be required which will project the twelve-month 1973 budget requests to an eighteen-month period. This projection will be done by identifying those portions of each department's budget which must be specially projected for the additional six-month period, and then simply applying a mathematical projection factor to the remainder of the department's budget to increase the twelve-month figure to an eighteen-month value. The portions of the budget which must be specially projected will vary from department to department and some departments may not have any such items. It would be well for each department head to start thinking about his operations so that when it comes time for him to prepare his budget request, he will have had an opportunity to think out and identify all portions of his budget which must be specially projected. Examples of such items would include the entire emergency snow removal appropriation which will have almost two entire snow seasons within the eighteen-month transition period and, therefore, will need to be approximately twice the amount of an annual budget. Other departments with substantial seasonal expenditures during the summer months will find they need hardly much more than an annual budget during the eighteen-month period since not much more than one summer season will be included in that eighteen months. Provision for wage increases within the eighteen-month period will be made either through calculation in the special forms which will be used for those wage increases currently known, or will be provided for later in 1973 prior to setting of the 1973 tax rate.

Any department head who has questions concerning various aspects of his budget which may need special projection to arrive at the correct eighteen-month figure should consult with the Budget Division to arrive at a decision on just how the projection will be made.

The budget forms for preparation of the 1973 budget request are currently being prepared and will be provided to the departments at the beginning of September. Any questions or suggestions which department heads would like to raise prior to printing of these budget forms should be brought to the Budget Division within the next two weeks. Of course, the budget analyst will be available to answer questions and provide explanations at any time the departments wish to consult them.

This directive was prepared by Richard E. Wall and questions about it will be gladly answered by him or by his staff in the Budget Division.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

REGISTRY OFFICE RELOCATED

Registrar of Motor Vehicles David J. Lucey has announced that the Springfield District Office formerly located at 235 Chestnut St. has been moved to its new location at 165 Liberty Street, Springfield. The Registrar says that the new office will yield an opportunity for customers to receive better service and improved working conditions for the Registry employees.

VOTER REGISTRATION INFORMATION

New England residents eligible to vote for the first time in this fall's election are reminded to register before the deadline, which varies from state to state.

Voters will go to the polls November 7 to select a President, United States Congressmen, in some cases United States Senators, and a number of state and local officials.

Many of the six New England states will also hold primary elections in September.

Most states have minimum residence requirements, although that is not a requisite for voting for President. In some cases, where an individual has recently moved, he may have to vote at his previous polling location.

Massachusetts residents who are eighteen or older must register at their local city or town hall by August 19 to vote in the September 19 primary, or by October 7 for the general election.

Registration Hours in Boston

August 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18,
6 P.M. to 9 P.M.

August 19 (the last day for registration), 9 A.M. to 10 P.M.

On the above dates, Central Office, 241 City Hall, will be open from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. (on August 19 until 10 P.M.).

DON'T BE FOOLED

Building Commissioner Richard R. Thuma has warned residents that a man posing as a building inspector has been calling homeowners to make appointments for a night inspection of the property.

The caller should not be given any information, the Commissioner said.

In at least one case, the home of a person who received such a call was broken into and robbed after the caller determined that the occupants would not be at home.

Mr. Thuma said the Building Department makes inspections only between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M., and that all city inspectors are required to carry with them a City of Boston identification card with a picture permanently sealed in plastic.

Persons wishing to check the legitimacy of a call from a building inspector should call the Building Department at City Hall, 722-4100.

WEST END PROJECT GETS "GREEN LIGHT"

The area office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development informed the developers of Charles River Park, Inc., on July 27, that they could proceed with construction on the West End urban renewal project in Boston.

The HUD regional office in Boston had rescinded the construction permit on the 10.7 acre project recently when the state's Department of Community Affairs said "major" changes in the plan necessitated resubmission of the urban renewal project to the Boston City Council and the state.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has maintained that changes in the plan were "minor" and did not necessitate resubmission.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney expressed satisfaction that the HUD ruling would allow construction to proceed on schedule.

"Today's ruling," he said, "supports the contention we have made previously that the changes in the West End plan were not major changes and that DCA has no legal grounds for seeking to stop this project."

The ruling by M. Daniel Richardson, Director of the HUD area office, was accompanied by a letter to Miles Mahoney, Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs.

In the letter, Richardson said, "After a review of all the pertinent facts, it is our conclusion that it would be inappropriate for this department to interpret state law or legal issues which are raised by your decisions, and which are ultimately a matter to be resolved by the state and local agencies involved."

Richardson went on to say that "If HUD continues to withhold permission from the developer to proceed, we will have effectively stopped the project with possible irreparable harm to the developer and to the successful completion of the urban renewal plan by the BRA without giving the interested parties an opportunity to have the disputed issues of law decided in an appropriate forum."

In its legal brief, the BRA cited a ruling made on October 17, 1957, by the State Housing Board (predecessor to the Department of Community Affairs) approving the West End plan, without qualification and without reservation.

As for the DCA contention that Parcel 2 of the West End was intended for public use (a school) and that present construction of residential and office towers on that site constituted a major change, the BRA said that the city's Public Facilities Department, in 1968, had determined that the parcel was no longer needed for a new school.

BRA also argued that the DCA regulation calling for submission of plan changes for DCA approval went into effect in January, 1972, almost a year after the BRA approved modifications in the West End plan to allow for present construction.

Also presenting legal evidence in behalf of the BRA was the city's Law Department which said the West End plan had been approved by the City Council in 1957, when City Council approval was not even required for an urban renewal plan.

State law was subsequently amended so as to require local and state approval of a redevelopment plan, wrote Herbert Gleason, Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston, but the statutes contained no retroactive clauses and specifically excluded plans which had been approved before the new laws were passed.

In previous testimony before the City Council on the West End plan, Mr. Kenney had called it "surprising" that the state did not voice any objection to the West End plan until after construction had begun last April.

He also said it was "somewhat confusing" that the objections raised by DCA involved Parcel 2, the portion of the project on which 150 units of housing for the elderly is planned.

Since DCA had voiced a desire for more low-income and elderly housing, said Mr. Kenney, he did not know why they questioned the use of Parcel 2 for elderly housing.

A new exhibit was opened at City Hall Gallery on Tuesday, August 8, 1972. On display is the work of four photographers whose black and white prints will focus on several Boston neighborhoods. Entitled "Boston's Neighborhoods: the SW Corridor" the exhibit is one of the first of its kind in Boston in recent years. Centering on the issue of communities threatened by the planned construction of I-95, the photographers have interpreted the day-to-day life of the people living in the South End, Roxbury, and Jamaica Plain. Coordinated by Cities, Inc., a nonprofit urban planning firm, the exhibit will also include plans for the restoration of the SW Corridor as prepared by the SW Corridor Land Development Coalition (a group of twenty-three community organizations in the SW Corridor area).

The uniqueness of the exhibit is not only in the artistic quality of the black and white prints but rather in the structure of the exhibit around a central social theme: social change in Boston's neighborhoods. The photographers are Mike Levins (thirty-three years, from New York, member of the Soho Gallery), John Posey (twenty-four years, from Boston, staff photographer of the Model City Agency), Hakim Raquib (twenty-six years, from Boston, free-lance photographer, recently exhibited at Photovision '72), and Steve Wicks (twenty-six years, from New York, currently teaching photography at Phillips Academy as a Wingate Paine Fellow, recently exhibited at Photovision '72 and the ICA photo show). The exhibit will run through August 31. On August 15 from 5:30 to 7:30 P.M. an official reception will be held. The public is invited to City Hall Gallery.

to renew this contract, without advertising, for the period and the amount stated above.

SERVICING AND MAINTENANCE OF X-RAY EQUIPMENT

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting held on February 16, 1972, the Board of Health and Hospitals voted to renew its contract with Picker X-Ray Corporation of Canton, Mass., for service and maintenance of X-ray equipment for the period April 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, at a total cost not to exceed $18,500.

Since most of the X-ray equipment at Boston City Hospital is Picker equipment, we feel that no benefit will accrue to the city by publicly advertising for bids for this service.

In view of the aforesaid and inasmuch as the amount is reasonable, we respectfully request your Honor's approval to award this contract under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,
JAMES V. SACCHETTI, M.D.,
Commissioner.

RENTAL OF VIEWERS AND FILM CHANGER

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting held on February 16, 1972, the Board of Health and Hospitals voted to renew its contract with Picker X-Ray Corporation of Canton, Mass., for the rental of previously installed equipment consisting of five motorized viewers and one automatic film changer for the period April 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, at a total cost not to exceed $9,390.84.

In view of the aforesaid and inasmuch as the amount is reasonable, we respectfully request your Honor's approval to award this contract under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,
JAMES V. SACCHETTI, M.D.,
Commissioner.

SERVICE AND CHEMICALS

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston held on March 8, 1972, it was voted and approved that the city should renew its contract with Solutek Corporation of 94 Shirley Street, Boston, Mass., for the providing of service and chemicals to the X-ray, X-omat manual processing systems of the Radiology Division of Boston City Hospital for the period commencing April 1, 1972, and ending March 31, 1973, at a cost not to exceed $32,000.

This Department's experience in advertising for this service was anything but satisfactory prior to contracting with this firm on April 1, 1971. During the two previous years, the low bidder on this contract failed to provide us with satisfactory services, resulting in the cancellation of the contract with one firm and our operating with marginal services from another firm until the contract expired. Last year Solutek Corporation was the only bidder on this contract and not only did they provide us with excellent service, but the efficiency and excellence of this firm in handling this order resulted in a saving to the city of more than $5,000. The superior capabilities of this firm, I might add, are pointed up by the fact that this firm services the majority of hospitals in the Boston area.

In my judgement, Solutek Corporation is better suited to provide this service to Boston City Hospital than any other firm in this area and the cost to the city is reasonable.

Inasmuch as we feel that it is in the best interest of the city that Solutek continue to service Boston City Hospital, I am requesting that you approve the renewal of our contract with Solutek Corporation, without advertising, under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,
JAMES V. SACCHETTI, M.D.,
Commissioner.

BRA Studies Subsidized Housing for Hub

The Boston Redevelopment Authority acted on two fronts recently to reevaluate the role of subsidized housing in Boston and to help train tenant aides who would provide supportive services to problem tenants in federally subsidized housing.

In one instance, the BRA entered into a contract with the Boston Urban Observatory at the University of Massachusetts, Boston, to carry out a $53,000 study of subsidized housing throughout Boston.

General thrust of the study, to which the BRA will contribute $25,000, will be an analysis of the problems, needs, and potential of existing projects.

The second action was approval of the BRA to participate in a joint demonstration project with United South End Settlements, Inc., to provide special training for federally subsidized housing residents to become tenant aides. The aides will be trained to work on a regular and daily basis with troubled households, teaching basic home management and budgeting skills.

In addition, the aides will encourage the problem tenants to utilize recreational and other opportunities for the family and try to establish better communications between management and tenants. The aides would also help to foster appreciation for rights and responsibilities of tenants.

Estimated cost of the one-year program is $40,000 — with the BRA contributing $12,000. It is hoped that the need and value of the program can be demonstrated in the first year so that federal funds may be obtained in the future to support the program.

The housing study is part of a major effort by the BRA to prepare a new housing program for the city. The work is being financed by the 701 Comprehensive Planning Grant the BRA received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development earlier this year.

A key portion of the study will deal with financial and physical aspects of subsidized housing, ownership, management and tenants, size, age, location, quality, and maintenance.

One objective is to find ways of correcting and minimizing the spread of housing projects in default on mortgage payments.

Another aspect of the study will involve interviews with both tenants and owners/managers of the projects to determine their perceptions of problems and general attitudes.

The final report will be completed by March 31, 1973.

The Boston Urban Observatory is an urban research consortium of the City of Boston and local universities. Director of the BUO is Joseph S. Slavet, with Professor William Grigsby, from the University of Pennsylvania, serving as principal investigator for the study.

BRA monitors for the study are Rolf Goetze, Director of Housing Upgrading; Phil Ziegler, Director of Planning; and Alexander Ganz, Director of Research.

Happy Birthday, B & T

The Banker and Tradesman, one of the best trade newspapers in the country celebrated its one hundredth birthday on August 5. It was first published in Boston on August 5, 1872, moved across the Charles River to Cambridge in 1922, and returned to its present location, 89 Beach Street, Boston, in 1955. It is the second oldest publication of this type in Massachusetts, serving its subscribers with pertinent information concerning real estate, commercial, financial, legal, and corporate interests. We, here in the City Record, offer our congratulations to Keith F. Warren, publisher, Timothy M. Warren, managing editor, William A. "Bill" Mallard, editor, and the entire staff of B & T for, to use a modern expression, "putting it all together."

Boston is proud to have this respected and informative newspaper published in this city. Gentlemen, may your circulation increase, and, like "Old Man River," your presses keep rolling along for another century.

TENNIS FACILITY PLANNED FOR BOSTON

Plans have been announced by Pappas Enterprises for construction of the first major year-round air-conditioned indoor tennis facility in the City of Boston. Pappas representatives James A. Pappas and William Vrettas have unveiled plans for the Boston Harbour Tennis Club to be located near South Station at 653 Summer Street. Construction is now under way with a November opening scheduled.

Two of the world's top professionals, Ken Rosewall and Nikki Pilic, will serve as professional advisors and conduct clinics. Gerry Millar, a resident of Duxbury and former pro at the Weston Racquet Club, will be the resident pro.

The 66,000-square-foot facility will have eight courts initially and include a pro shop, spectators gallery, dressing rooms, showers, sauna, steam, and exercise rooms. Overlooking the playing area will be a restaurant-lounge and two conference rooms equipped for banquets and similar functions.

"Boston's interest in tennis," Mr. Pappas said, "has increased markedly with both the rise in professional competition and the construction of facilities outside the city. Our survey of the market indicated strong support for a first-class club in the City of Boston."

A group of prominent tennis enthusiasts will serve on the club's advisory committee. They are: Jack Barnaby, Bud Collins, Ed Hickey, Eddie McGoldrick, Bill Powers, Harrison Robotham, Jim Smith, and Kevin H. White, Mayor of Boston.

Tournaments and exhibitions will be scheduled featuring the world's leading professionals. The new club will also be actively involved in promoting amateur competition.

Three different types of membership are now available: single, family, and student.

REGISTRY ANNOUNCEMENT

Special training programs geared to meet the needs of writers of motor vehicle insurance in Massachusetts have been arranged throughout the state so that they will be fully prepared to handle all types of motor vehicle registrations under the new Certificate of Title law which begins September 1.

Other special training classes are being held for Massachusetts motor vehicle dealers throughout the state so that they, too, will know how to function under the new Certificate of Title law.

"We are giving these key people the opportunity to attend classes so that they will be fully cognizant of all aspects of the new Certificate of Title law as it relates to their operations," Registrar David J. Lucey said on August 8.

Registrar Lucey said that in addition to these classified groups his staff will continue to provide the latest information in special training programs for associations and agencies who are affected by Certificate of Title.

For additional information, contact Mr. Press at 617-727-8560.

CORRECTION

An article appeared in the August 7 issue of the City Record stating that a swimming pool facility located at Carter Playground, South End, was staffed by MDC lifeguards, which was erroneous: the pool is staffed by members of the Parks and Recreation Department.

FRANCIS W. LEAVEY

City Hall workers were saddened when they learned of the death of Francis W. "Frank" Leavey, sixty-nine, on August 9. Mr. Leavey, employed by the City of Boston for thirty-eight years, was secretary to the City Council and in 1967 was promoted to the responsible position as Clerk of Committees for the entire City Council prior to his retirement in 1969. When Councillor John E. Kerrigan was Mayor of Boston in 1945, Mr. Leavey served as his private secretary. He was an honorable, capable worker and a credit to the City of Boston.

He graduated from Boston College with a master's degree in English and helped initiate the Allston Little League. He is survived by his wife, Margaret T. (Griffin); five children, Mrs. Marie T. Ivens, Francis W., Joseph M., Frederick G., and James A.; and a sister, Agnes M. Leavey.

A Funeral Mass was celebrated August 12, in St. Anthony's Church, Allston. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton. Contributions to the Jimmy Fund, c/o Statler Hilton Hotel, Boston, in memory of Mr. Leavey, will be appreciated. May his soul rest in peace.

OPERATION "HOT LINE"

The Boston Model City Drug Program has commenced operation of a bilingual "Hot Line," the first in Massachusetts to offer round-the-clock counseling services in both Spanish and English. The 24-hour telephone is 442-3951.

Funded with $20,000 from a United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) Juvenile Delinquency Grant, the project is staffed by three specially-trained counselors who are fluent in both languages.

They have undergone intensive training at the F.I.R.S.T., Inc.,

Drug Halfway House, where they have learned firsthand about the problems of drug addiction. They have also participated in encounter sessions to prepare them to deal effectively with the wide range of personal problems they will meet in their work.

Through personal visits with existing community service agencies the staff is developing a comprehensive referral system so that they will be able to provide concrete assistance, as well as a sympathetic ear to those who call for help. In addition to acquainting themselves with services currently available in the community, the "Hot Line" operators are actively encouraging these agencies to refer Spanish-speaking clients to them for emergency assistance.

According to Project Director Cesar Coloma, the "Hot Line" was developed to fill a void in existing similar services which cannot respond to crisis calls from Boston's rapidly growing Spanish-speaking population. Although it is specifically geared to drug-related problems in the Model Neighborhood area, Mr. Coloma stresses the unique link it can provide between Spanish-speaking residents and existing service agencies in many critical situations.

MODEL CITIES EXPEDITES SUMMER JOB PROGRAM

Boston's Model City Program has placed more than four hundred neighborhood young people, ages fifteen to twenty-two, in summer jobs. In addition, eight hundred forty-two camperships are providing youths, ages four to fifteen, with an opportunity to attend camps in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The programs are financed with $400,000 in reprogrammed Model City Supplemental Funds. The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), which administers Model Cities nationally, permits local agencies to develop short-term projects such as summer employment with unexpended funds at the end of each action year. Since Boston's program is operating at full capacity, there was little unexpended money for such programs this year.

"Though we could not provide as many jobs as in previous years, we think we have done our best with the limited funds available," explained Model City Administrator Paul Parks. "We agree with neighborhood residents that this is a very important program since it provides job experience, plus the extra income that many depend upon to finance future education."

Once the funds were identified the Model City Agency, the Model Neighborhood Board, and many community agencies worked quickly to find placements for the youth who began work on July 5.

One hundred thirty-four were placed in clerical and general office jobs at the Model City Agency and other community organizations. Sixty-four were placed with businesses, including a real estate broker, a major Boston consulting firm, a printing company, and auto body repair shop, and many others.

Another one hundred thirty-four are participating in a clean-up program that clears vacant lots and helps Model Neighborhood residents remove refuse from basements and yards. Twelve are assigned to tend neighborhood parks under the Model City Parks Maintenance Program.

Forty-eight are employed as tutors in the Youth-Tutoring-Youth Program which brings young people together in a one-to-one learning situation. Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD) is helping meet the payroll for tutors in this program.

Camps operated by the Greater Boston YMCA and the Roxbury YMCA account for four hundred fifty-two of the camperships. This year, for the first time the Y camps are offering a black studies and black cultural arts program. Both residential and day camp programs are offered. The camps include Roxbury Y Day Camp, the Roxbury Y Camp Bullwinkle, Camp Dorchester, and Camp OuSaMe-Quinn. Camp North Woods and Pleasant Valley Camp in New Hampshire provide an especially interesting experience since campers meet young people from all over the country. The Greater Boston Y donated forty-five of the camperships.

Other camperships include forty under the Boston University Mental Health Program; 100 camperships and twelve counselors jobs at Camp Merrimac; fifty at Camp Rolling Ridge; and two hundred sponsored by the Federation of Boston Community Schools.

RECREATIONAL PARK SET FOR BRIGHTON

Boston officially acquired from the federal government, on August 14, five acres of land in Brighton which will be the site of a recreational area and playground.

The land was originally a portion of the United States Public Health Service Hospital prior to its being declared surplus.

"This is the first time Boston has received a federal land donation for recreational use and we are grateful," said Mayor Kevin H. White.

The city has proposed a budget of $410,000 for the park and has asked the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to share the cost.

The recreational area plans call for four sitting areas, two tot-lots, a major active playground (including frames, swings, slides, etc.), a multipurpose hard field (including tennis and basketball courts, and a hockey area), and an amphitheatre.

Russell E. Train, chairman of the Federal Council on Environmental Quality, was the guest speaker at a ceremony on City Hall Plaza during which the land was conveyed. In addition to Mayor White, others taking part in the ceremony were Darrell Trent, executive director of the President's Property Review Board; Albert A. Gammal, Jr., New England Regional Director of the General Services Administration; and City Council President Gabriel F. Piemonte.

RIDERS OF NO. 1752 WHERE ARE YOU?

"Is there anyone living in Metropolitan Boston, or anywhere in Massachusetts or New England, who, as a child rode the first trolley car to travel in the first subway that opened in North America on September 1, 1897?"

With this question, Joseph C. Kelly, general manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, has launched a search for at least one person who was aboard the old four-wheel, open bench trolley car No. 1752.

"This is the car that won the honor of being the first West End Street Railway trolley car to swing off Boylston Street into the incline of the new subway to Park Street Station at 6:01 A.M. with huge crowds lining both sides of the ramp," Mr. Kelly said. "Three minutes later, it arrived at Park Street Station and the first subway on the North American continent was opened.

"If there is a senior citizen who can recall being aboard old 1752, the Authority requests him or her to call Joseph F. Malone, director of public information (722-6241) so that arrangements can be made for him or her to participate with us in marking the first subway's diamond jubilee on Friday, September 1," Mr. Kelly said.

EXTRAORDINARY STEP-RATE ADVANCE UNDER COMPENSATION PLAN FOR EMPLOYEES OF SUFFOLK COUNTY.

MUNICIPAL COURT, CITY OF BOSTON
Civil Business

MR. DUNCAN T. FOLEY,
Supervisor of Personnel.

DEAR SIR:

On February 26, 1969, Margaret P. Hourihan was appointed as administrative secretary in the office of the clerk of the Boston Municipal Court for Civil Business. Prior to this appointment she worked as head administrative clerk in this office from April 10, 1968.

By way of background and experience, it may be noted that Mrs. Hourihan was an employee of the Boston office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a period of fifteen years, serving in the capacity of confidential secretary to the agent in charge and thereafter in the post of chief clerk of that office. The latter position entailed the supervision of some forty clerical employees and involved close management of detailed paper work. I am informed by one of her associates in that office that in both capacities she performed in an outstanding manner. Her reason for withdrawing from the Federal Bureau of Investigation was a desire to maintain her home and family.

Because of her long experience and the exemplary manner in which she carries out the assigned duties of her present position, it is recommended that her fifth-year and sixth-year increments be determined under rule 15(f) of the County Compensation Plan, effective August 9, 1972.

Very truly yours,

JOHN E. HURLEY,
Clerk of the Court.

IV. A.D.T. ASSIGNMENT

Company commanders shall add the following signal number to running cards of the American District Telegraph Company in this department:

Signal 562, Pere Marquette Building Associates, 66 N Street. (Sprinkler system). Apparatus to respond to foregoing signal: Engine 2, Ladder 19, District Fire Chief 6. Nearest box 7334.

V. EXAMINATION FOR PROMOTION TO THE POSITION OF GENERAL FOREMAN OF MOTOR EQUIPMENT REPAIR

Civil Service bulletins concerning an examination to be held on September 16, 1972, for promotion to general foreman of motor equipment repair in this department are being issued with this order.

Company commanders shall post a copy of the bulletin in conspicuous places in their respective fire stations.

VI. HIGH COMMENDATION

At approximately 1430 hours on July 18, 1972, while off duty, Fire Fighter Paul A. Christian of Ladder Company 20 was cruising in his boat off L Street in South Boston, when he spotted the body of a man floating face down in the water.

He maneuvered the boat over to the body and, after turning the controls over to a passenger, he managed to lift the man into the boat. Since the person at the controls was inexperienced and had no previous knowledge in the operation of the boat, Fire Fighter Christian had to shout instructions while exerting extraordinary effort in making the rescue.

The boat was brought to the shore where a lifeguard was alerted to call the Fire and Police Departments. Fire Fighter Christian administered artificial respiration and, through his dogged efforts, he kept the victim alive. An unidentified medical student arrived on the scene and assisted in the respiration effort by administering several blows to the chest area of the victim. When Ladder Company 19 arrived, oxygen was administered to the victim and he was removed to the hospital by ambulance.

Because this rescue was performed single-handed under most difficult conditions and had to be followed up by determined respiration efforts and because Fire Fighter Christian performed the act instantaneously and without regard for his own safety and the safety of his own property, he reflected great credit on himself and the Boston Fire Department.

The Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

VII. LETTER OF APPRECIATION

The following letter received by the Fire Commissioner is published for the information of the department:

"July 31, 1972.

DEAR COMMISSIONER:

On June 26, 1972, my wife Mary Simington became ill. Ladder Company 2, Engine Company 9, responded immediately. I cannot express how gratifying it was to see men of the Boston Fire Department being so capable in handling a situation such as I was in.

I do not know the fire fighters' names but wish to thank each and every one for their assistance at that time.

Sincerely,
BENJAMIN A. SIMINGTON."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT SERVICE AND PREVENTIVE MAINTENANCE

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals on March 29, 1972, it was voted to enter into a contract with the Mosler Safe Company of Hamilton, Ohio, for service and preventive maintenance of the previously installed Mosler Telelift System at Boston City Hospital for the period April 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, in an amount not to exceed $2,254.

Since the Mosler Safe Company is the only company capable of furnishing this service, and inasmuch as the cost is reasonable, your permission is respectfully requested to enter into this contract, without advertising, and in accordance with the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,
JAMES V. SACCHETTI, M.D.,
Commissioner.

SERVICE AND REPAIR OF EQUIPMENT

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals held March 15, and in conformity with their vote, I respectfully request your Honor's written approval to enter into a contract agreement, without publicly advertising, for furnishing and delivering as requested during the period from April 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, such labor and material required to service and repair refrigeration equipment and/or air conditioning equipment and its attendant appurtenances at the following locations: Boston City Hospital, including the Morgue, Blood Bank, Kitchen and Laboratory temperature control equipment, at 818 Harrison Avenue, Boston, Mass., and Public Health Building, corner of Concord Street and Harrison Avenue, Boston, Mass., said contract agreement between the Board of Health and Hospitals and Bay State Service, Inc., 76 Kent Street, Brookline, Mass., in a sum of not to exceed $35,000.

Public advertising and inviting bids for these services so vital to the uninterrupted function of the Hospital would serve no useful purpose, because of the constant emergency, technical requirements, expert knowledge of equipment, instant availability of parts inventory, and the supply of skilled mechanics on a 24-hour basis, which have been in the past more than satisfactorily provided by this company in the best interests of patient care and hospital needs to the complete fulfillment of the nursing and medical staff.

Furthermore, lengthy conferences with the Law Department in previous years led to the conclusion that the variety of equipment and services preclude the preparation of adequate specifications for public bidding since the hourly rates and parts provisions are established in the normal trade pricing code in the Boston District.

This request on behalf of the Board of Health and Hospitals for your Honor's written authorization for this contract is predicated upon similar approval voted by the Board for contracts awarded in 1969, 1970, 1971, with the subsequent approval of the Law Department and the Finance Commission.

Very truly yours,
JAMES V. SACCHETTI, M.D.,
Commissioner.

HOUSING INSPECTION

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby respectfully request permission to dispense with public advertising in the City of Boston for the purpose of engaging a consultant (Sheldon N. Odze, 125 Chiswick Road, Brighton, Mass.) to perform federal rehabilitation loan and grant closings under provisions of Section 117 of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, for the Housing Inspection Department of the City of Boston.

The proposed contract is for full-time services commencing August 10, 1971, and ending August 9, 1972. The proposed fee is at the rate of two hundred and forty-nine dollars ($249) per week, not to exceed the total of thirteen thousand dollars, $13,000. This cost to be fully funded by and under the city's grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

It is my opinion that, in view of the professional nature of the services to be rendered, public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
FRANCIS W. GENS,
Commissioner.

To obtain such assistance, it is necessary to prepare work write-ups detailing the rehabilitation work needed to eliminate certain code violations and accurately estimate the cost of such work.

The right is reserved to waive any informality in or to reject any or all proposals. A proposal which includes for any item a bid that is abnormally low or high may be rejected as unbalanced.

An award will not be made to any contractor whose name appears on the United States Comptroller General's list of ineligible contractors for federally financed and assisted construction.

It is a condition of this contract, and shall be made a condition of each subcontract entered into pursuant to this contract, that the contractor and any subcontractor shall not require any laborer or mechanic employed in performance of the contract to work in surroundings or under working conditions which are unsanitary, hazardous, or dangerous to his health or safety, as determined under construction safety and health standards (Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 1518—published in the Federal Register on April 17, 1971) promulgated by the United States Secretary of Labor, in accordance with Section 107 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (88 Stat. 96).

The Contractor shall be required to pay minimum wages in accordance with the schedules listed in the special provisions, which wage rates have been predetermined.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond for the full amount of the contract as well as a labor and materials payment bond in the sum of fifty percent of the contract price. The surety shall be a surety company or securities satisfactory to the Authority.

Mayor Expresses Views on Racial Imbalance

Statement by Mayor Kevin H. White on Racial Imbalance.

On September 6, 95,000 children will be returning to Boston's public schools. This fall should mark the start of a new chapter in our city's rich educational history, for not only will a new superintendent be taking office, but seven new schools will be opening their doors. These seven schools constitute one phase of one of the most ambitious school construction programs ever undertaken by an American city, a program for which all Bostonians should feel a sense of pride and accomplishment. This building program is an investment in the future of our city, for children are clearly the most precious resource in any society. Thus, the opening of the 1972-1973 school year should be an especially joyous occasion in the life of our city, but the financial crisis brought on by the Boston School Committee's failure to comply with the state's racial imbalance law has cast a broad shadow over the entire city. It is difficult to celebrate the opening of schools in September when we face a very real danger of having to close our schools for lack of funds two months later.

Shortly after the racial imbalance law was enacted by the Legislature in 1965, the State Board of Education and the Boston School Committee embarked on a collision course, the full impact of which was finally felt a year ago this month. At that time, it became clear to all concerned that unless the Boston School Committee made a serious commitment to develop a plan to end racial imbalance in the city's schools, the State Board would withhold all of the state aid which was rightfully Boston's. In spite of my belief that the racial imbalance law was discriminatory against Boston and unfairly punitive in its fiscal sanctions, I intervened last August to bring about a settlement. Shortly after my intervention, the School Committee and the State Board of Education did reach a tentative settlement. The Committee guaranteed that last year's two new schools would open racially balanced, and promised to develop a plan to balance all of the city's high schools by this September and all of the elementary schools by September, 1973.

At that point, the State Board agreed to release the money, and it looked as if the financial crisis might be averted. Shortly after the agreement, however, one Committee member changed his vote on the attendance policy for the new Joseph Lee School, whereupon the State Board froze all state aid for the city schools. The city shortly thereafter filed suit against the state to gain release of the funds and the state counterfiled against the city, and there has been no further movement on either side for a year now. To date, a total of $28 million has been withheld in state aid, on which Boston taxpayers are paying over $50,000 interest per month.

The court cases are just now coming to trial, and if there is no resolution of the impasse by the end of the year, an additional $24 million will be withheld. More critically, if some or all of this $52 million is not released by November 15, the city will have no funds in the treasury to pay its bills, and will have no legal way of borrowing. Consequently, all city services will be forced to shut down for the last six weeks of the year. Thus, the collision course followed by the Boston School Committee and the State Board of Education could lead not only to the closing of schools, but to the termination of health, fire, and police services as well. If this occurs, our city could well be plunged into chaos.

In the past several months, I have done everything in my power to head off the impending crisis. In the past legislative session, I lobbied hard to remove the fiscal sanctions from the Racial Imbalance Act, but this and other needed amendments died in Committee. I signed the City Council's Home Rule petition to release the withheld funds pending the outcome of the court case, and Deputy Mayor Sullivan testified on behalf of this bill before the House Committee on Local Affairs.

The bill was eventually passed in both houses, but was vetoed by the Governor. In addition to these legislative efforts, we have tried on several occasions to convince the State Board and Commissioner of the seriousness of our plight, but all such pleas have fallen on deaf ears.

During all this time, the School Committee has done virtually nothing

ing to alleviate the crisis. Four months ago, the Committee forwarded to me its request for an additional $20.7 million appropriation in order to meet its proposed 1972 budget. I informed the Committee that such a request, which constituted a 22 percent increase over the 1971 budget, was well beyond the city's fiscal capacity to honor, and that we would review the Committee's total budget before determining a figure to recommend to the City Council.

More important, I stated my determination not to recommend any additional school appropriation to the City Council until the School Committee and the State Board of Education made enough progress in resolving their dispute to bring about the release of some or all of the withheld funds. I took this position not to punish the School Committee, for that would be repeating the state's folly in imposing fiscal sanctions, but rather to emphasize to the Committee that unless the withheld money is released, the city treasury will be empty on November 15 and the schools will be forced to close with or without any additional appropriation.

Since this April exchange of communications with the School Committee, the only new development is that the Committee has negotiated a new contract with the Boston Teachers' Union for a 5.5 percent raise for the city's teachers. Because I believe the contract to be a reasonable one, I am recommending today to the City Council an appropriation of an additional $2 million to the School Committee so that the contract can be honored. As for the Committee's request for an additional $20 million, I am recommending to the City Council that an amount of $10 million, which we believe to be the absolute minimum additional appropriation required to run a full year of school, be appropriated and placed in escrow.

This money would be released to the School Committee if and when enough of the withheld $52 million has been released to the city to enable us to maintain a full year of all vital city services. The reason I am recommending this appropriation at this particular time is that we are forbidden by statute from making any supplementary appropriations after the tax rate has been set, and the tax rate must be set well before November 15.

Given the fact that the court cases pending for so long are now getting under way, there is an inevitable temptation on both sides to do nothing until so ordered by the courts. In the present situation, such inaction could have ruinous consequences for the city. On behalf of the parents and school children of Boston, I implore the School Committee and the State Board to instruct their administrative staffs to resume immediately the meetings which have been broken off for nearly a year. Surely some progress and some agreements can be reached prior to a court decision which might persuade the State Board to agree to a release of some of the withheld funds.

Beyond the need to avert the looming financial crisis, however, there is an even more compelling reason for the staffs of the School Committee and the State Board to engage in round-the-clock meetings, and that is to see if even at this eleventh hour, a plan can be agreed to on both sides that would satisfy the courts. I realize that the charges brought against the Boston School Committee in the state court case, as well as in a private suit being heard concurrently in federal court, are many and complex and go well beyond the terms of the state's racial imbalance law. If, as is alleged in these suits, the School Committee is guilty of systematically denying black students the equal protection of the law guaranteed them under the fourteenth amendment, then immediate steps must be taken to restore these constitutional rights.

But there are a variety of ways to insure equal protection and to provide equality of educational opportunity, and surely it is preferable to develop a plan which represents the best thinking of the top city and state educators than to place the city's educational fate entirely in the hands of the courts.

As long as the Racial Imbalance Act and its fiscal sanctions are in effect, it is absolutely essential that the Boston School Committee make a maximum effort to reach an accommodation with the State Board of Education. This should be the first item of business for the Committee. It is also critical, however, that educational and political leaders at the city and state levels begin thinking beyond the present terms of the racial imbalance law to develop a long-range educational plan for the Boston metropolitan area.

This is hardly the occasion for me to present a full-blown proposal for equalizing educational opportunity for all Boston school children but I believe that any long-term solution to Boston's educational problems must contain at least the following elements if it is going to lead to improved educational performance and a reduction in racial and social polarization. First, there can be no solution for Boston's problems that does not involve the suburbs, for the basic educational inequities in this region lie not between Roxbury and Charlestown, for example, but between Boston and Brookline.

A rate of $4 per inch of 12 lines (set solid) has been established for such advertisements as under the law must be printed in the City Record. Advertising and other copy must, except in emergencies, be in hand at the City Record Office by noon, Tuesday, of each week to insure its publication in the Monday issue.

Our present system of financing public education largely by the property tax has placed grossly unequal burdens on the taxpayers in these communities. In Brookline the equalized valuation behind every school child in 1971 was $55,556; in Boston it was $15,290.

The equalized school tax rate in Brookline was $19.85 per thousand; in Boston it was $28.90. Brookline's average per pupil expenditure in 1971 was $1,471; Boston's was $935. Thus Brookline's superior wealth allows the town to tax itself at a lower rate for education than does Boston but to spend considerably more per child. Courts in six states have found this kind of inequity in school financing unconstitutional. It should be a top priority of the next legislative session to adopt a tax reform plan which will equalize effort and expenditures between city and suburb.

But even with equal tax effort and per pupil expenditures, there will not be equal opportunity until Boston's children have an opportunity to mix educationally with Brookline's, for the social science evidence clearly tells us that the most important determinant of a child's educational achievement is the social and economic background of his family and of the families of his classmates. There is no evidence of any educational benefit to be derived from mixing low-income black children with low-income whites.

Given the fact that Boston, like all other major cities, is becoming increasingly a city of predominantly lower-income families, equal educational opportunity cannot be provided for Boston's children as long as they are isolated from children from more economically advantaged families.

Equal opportunity in my judgment means equal access to quality schools, but equal access should not be confused with compulsory assignment for purposes of racial or economic balance.

I believe that all families should have the opportunity to attend school outside their own neighborhood, and that every incentive — including free transportation — should be offered to bring families from different neighborhoods together. Ultimately, however, the choice of school should rest with the family. Thus, the Roxbury or South Boston child should have the same access to a Brookline school as a Brookline child has, but he should not be required against parental wishes to leave his neighborhood.

No student should be excluded from a school on the basis of race; similarly, I believe that no student should be compelled to attend a school solely on racial grounds. The city must make every effort to bring about genuine integration in school as well as in housing and employment, for it is essential to the survival of the city that all of its citizens learn to live and work together. But surely, there are more effective ways of promoting integration than to assign students to particular schools against the will of their parents.

The enrollment and waiting list for the Metco and Exodus Programs indicate that there are a significant number of families who would exercise the option to send their children out of the neighborhood if the opportunity were freely provided.

But many Boston families, black and white alike, would prefer to keep their children in neighborhood schools, especially if these schools offered a wider range of educational approaches and provided for more parental input in determining philosophy and program. An educationally and politically viable solution to Boston's school situation must allow for much more decentralization and community participation, as well as insuring the involvement of the suburbs and protecting the right of families to attend a school of their own choice.

Thus, I am suggesting a regional approach to collecting and distributing the tax dollars supporting education, free movement of students across the artificial boundaries which separate the city from its suburbs, and greatly increased opportunity for parental participation at the neighborhood or district level.

What I am suggesting goes well beyond the narrow terms of the racial imbalance controversy which has paralyzed education discussion in this city for so long and now threatens to paralyze us financially. I urge the School Committee and the State Board of Education to set aside the history which has divided them and make one final effort to develop a plan that will genuinely insure equal educational opportunity for all of Boston's children. They owe the parents and children of the city one final attempt before helplessly allowing the courts to impose a solution that may be satisfactory to no one.

HUD ANNOUNCEMENT

The area office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development has issued a letter of feasibility for the elderly low-income housing development within the West End urban renewal project.

According to the letter, Charles River Park, developer of the West End project, is invited to submit an application for conditional commitment of an FHA 236 insured mortgage.

The mortgage for $3,085,000 will be used to construct 152 units of elderly housing on a portion of the 10.9 acre project.

Under the 236 Program, an amount of $151,757 has been allocated to the project for annual subsidy on interest payments, thus making it possible for the developer to set rents in low-moderate categories.

Further subsidies should be available in the form of leased housing and/or rent supplements for about 40 percent of the units.

The letter further stated that the developer will have to make application for mortgage guarantee within sixty days.

Officials at the Boston Redevelopment Authority expressed hope that the legal action recently instituted against the West End Development would not delay processing of the application.

WHY COLLECT STAMPS?

Men and women, boys and girls collect stamps for myriad reasons. Some buy stamps from the "penny box" which many stamp dealers provide for their young customers. Others pay tens of thousands of dollars, or even more, for a stamp they cannot live without.

Stamp collecting has been called the hobby of kings and kids.

The first stamp collector known to history collected stamps for wall-paper. In 1841, one year after the world's first stamps were issued by England, a young woman advertised in the London Times for cancelled stamps. She intended to paper her bedroom with them.

Stamp collecting follows many patterns. A doctor, for example, might enjoy collecting stamps associated with medicine. Others might want to collect stamps that reproduce great works of art. This is called topical collecting.

An increasingly popular area of the hobby is first-day covers. These are letters mailed the first day a stamp is issued and carry a special "First Day of Issue" cancellation.

The United States Postal Service recently introduced a book entitled Stamps and Stories which illustrates stamps in color and provides capsule stories about great moments in American history depicted in stamps. It is available in a paperback edition for $2 and may be purchased in all post offices in the Boston Postal District.

INTERESTED IN PHOTOS?

Mr. Frederick Hemley, a respected Provincetown photographer, is currently exhibiting his first Boston showing of exceptionally fine photographs on the lower level section of City Hall. They will be on display through September 3.

The show consists of fourteen black and white prints enlarged from 35-mm negatives. The subject matter ranges from children to cape landscapes, with the emphasis on the natural features of the subjects. The photographs of children have a background of window frames and doorways of the weather-beaten wood that characterizes the old houses in the cape area. The contrast is noticeably sharp.

The landscapes are dynamic capsules of natural forces, that include prints of water running from a tidal flat and the impact of waves on the Truro cliffs. The unusual photograph of two boys in a boat rekindles a memory in almost everyone's childhood. This is truly a unique exhibit, well worth viewing.

FOOTBALL KICKOFF

Boston Recreation Director Bob Cusick announced on August 16, that the 1972 football season of the Boston Parks and Recreation Department will open Friday, September 29. The leagues will be classified as Senior Park League, City League, Varsity League, Junior Varsity, and Conference League. Applications for membership in these leagues will close on Thursday, September 7, and official registration is important to make certain all players are eligible.

This is the forty-third year of park league competition and judging from the past, this year should be an exciting one. By registering in one of the leagues the teams are entitled to scheduled games with their own class, are under the supervision of competent officials and doctors, and are given priority in the use of Parks and Recreation gridirons. Most of all, the teams will be in for topflight competition. For further information, contact Adam Mroz at 524-6400.

BOOKMOBILE UNIT FOR SOUTH BOSTON

Service to the residents of South Boston who are accustomed to using the Washington Village Branch of the Boston Public Library is being provided on a temporary basis until further notice by a bookmobile unit parked at the intersection of Old Colony Avenue and Columbia Road. The hours of service will be the same as the hours of the branch, Monday through Friday, 9:30-12, 1-5:30. Books may be borrowed and returned as at a branch.

This interim service is being provided since service in the branch itself has to be suspended as a result of the August 12 fire. Full reading room service is available at the South Boston Branch Library on East Broadway between I and K Streets (Tel. 268-0180).

OUR "FIRST LADY"

Friends of Mrs. Catherine "Kay" Clonan, here in City Hall, were delighted to hear the good news that their fellow worker, Kay, received the signal honor of being appointed by Mayor White on Thursday, August 17, as the first woman assistant collector of taxes for the City of Boston.

Assistant City Clerk, Frederic O'Donnell, administered the oath of office at a ceremony attended by Mrs. Clonan's mother, Mrs. Margaret J. Canny, of South Boston, and many of her friends and co-workers. Mrs. Clonan attended Boston public schools, Harvard Law School and Boston University. She was employed in Treasurer Edmund W. Holmes' office as a data processing systems analyst prior to receiving her promotion.

On Friday afternoon, August 18, she was honored at a reception in Room 801, where she received several gifts from her legion of friends. Mrs. Clonan is an exceptionally gracious lady who possesses all the prerequisites necessary for the fulfillment of her tasks — knowledge, energy, clarity, experience, and a rapport with people.

We congratulate her and wish her success.

HORSE SCULPTURE DISPLAY

Mr. Richardson White, a resident of Cohasset, Massachusetts, is currently displaying his highly acclaimed "Bronze Horse Sculpture" here in City Hall on the Mezzanine Level. It will be displayed through September 29. His sculptures are portrayals in bronze of bulls and horses, with saddles, thoroughbred, Arab, standard, and other breeds of horses being represented. The display consists of fifteen finely detailed pieces ranging in size from 10 inches to 2 feet in height. Mr. White was born in 1904 in Cohasset. He has always been interested in horses, and is an avid rider today. Some of his portraits are of once living animals and others are idealized. His exhibit will be open to the public Monday through Friday, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M., and the public is invited to attend.

General Order No. 39

I. FIRE FIGHTER CHESTER S. FRANCE

It is with deep regret that the Fire Commissioner announces the death on August 8, 1972, of Fire Fighter Chester S. France of Ladder Company 13. Fire Fighter France was appointed to the department April 27, 1949.

The funeral was held from the Lubin Funeral Home, 456 Broadway, South Boston at 0900 hours, Friday, August 11, 1972, followed by a Funeral Mass at St. Peter and Paul's Church, 55 Broadway, South Boston, at 1000 hours.

The Chief of Department made the customary detail to act as funeral escort, and members of Ladder Company 18 were excused to attend the services.

II. RETIREMENTS

The following retirements, in accordance with the provisions of section 58, chapter 32, G. L., which became effective at 0800 hours, Wednesday, August 9, 1972, are hereby announced:

Fire Lieut. Dennis J. Donovan, Training and Research Division.

Fire Lieut. William E. Powers, Ladder Company 2.

Fire Lieut. Dennis J. Donovan was appointed to the department March 5, 1941, and was promoted to the grade of fire lieutenant February 5, 1947. Fire Lieut. William E. Powers was appointed September 2, 1942, and was promoted to the grade of fire lieutenant on November 1, 1950.

Both of these members leave the department with the best wishes of their associates.

III. FIRE ALARM BOXES ESTABLISHED

The following fire alarm boxes have been established:

357, River Street and Central Avenue. Response same as 3572. (Circuit number will be announced when installed.)

IV. ATLAS ALARM DATA

Company commanders shall add the following signal number to running cards of Atlas Alarm Corporation in this department:

Signal 213, Associated Catholic Hospitals, 720 Cambridge Street. (Fire alarm system.) Apparatus to respond: Engine 29, Ladder 11, District 11. Nearest box is 5186.

V. HIGH COMMENDATION

At 2116 hours, July 5, 1972, the department responded to an alarm from Box 6177 for a fire in the top floor of a three-story house at 53 Falcon Street, East Boston.

Upon arrival at the scene, the members of the department were informed that a male occupant was on the top floor. Fire Fighters Robert W. Beals of Engine Company 9 and Howard K. Lomas of Ladder Company 2 ran up the front stairway to the third floor without benefit of breathing equipment and prior to ventilation operations. They made a diligent search of the top floor and finally located an unconscious male on the kitchen floor. They removed him to the street. Their quick action prevented further injury to the victim.

Because both Fire Fighters Beals and Lomas performed the rescue work under very difficult conditions and without regard for their own safety, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend them highly, and their cases are referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

VI. COMMENDATION

Fire Fighter John J. Ellis of Ladder Company 11 is hereby commended for responding to and working at fire, Box 5357, August 6, 1972, while off duty.

VII. LETTER OF APPRECIATION

The following letter is published for the information of the department:

"GENTLEMEN:

I am writing this letter to let you know that a course in first aid that you recently had your department take has proved to be very worth while.

Last week, July 30, at a lake in New Hampshire my little boy had a convulsive seizure and thanks to a fireman, Louis Grifone (Engine Company 5) my son's life was saved. You see, my son stopped breathing during this seizure and Mr. Grifone was there and gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. If it weren't for him, I would have lost my little boy.

I am one person who has complete faith and confidence in the fire departments of this state. Thank you for taking the time and effort of keeping men like Mr. Grifone up to date on how to handle an emergency at any time.

Sincerely,

MARY JEAN KELLY,
426 Trapelo Road, Belmont, Mass."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

I respectfully request permission to enter into a written contract with the aforementioned contractor, without advertising for bids, for the taking and developing of such photographs as the Law Department may request during the period April 1, 1972, to March 31, 1973, inclusive.

Under the terms of the proposed contract, the Law Department will send notice from time to time to the above-mentioned photographer requesting him to take and develop photographs usually required in the conduct of the work of this department. For these photographs, it is proposed to pay the sum of $4 for each 8 x 10 print and 75 cents for each additional print or enlargement.

In addition, it is further proposed to pay C. Franklin Waid the sum of $5 for each 8 x 10 print in cases where the Law Department requests the photographer to take photographs on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays, and weekdays, between the hours of 6 A.M. and 7 P.M. The proposed cost for additional prints or enlargements in the case of such photographs will be 75 cents each. C. Franklin Waid has agreed to be available for twenty-four hours daily service, including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays for the taking of the above-mentioned emergency photographs. These proposed charges also include the appearance of the photographer at the trial of any case where testimony by the photographer is deemed necessary.

The cost for photographic services under the proposed contract will not exceed twelve thousand dollars ($12,000).

Because of the nature of the professional services involved and the confidential character of the work, no useful purpose would be served by advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

HERBERT P. GLEASON,
Corporation Counsel.

PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 64

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1972

NO. 36

Mayor Proposes Altering Building Inspection Procedures

Mayor Kevin White, on August 21, proposed sweeping changes in building inspection procedures in Boston, aimed at placing greater and more explicit requirements on the owners of buildings.

A key recommendation would require the owners of all buildings — except one-, two-, and three-family owner-occupied dwellings — to have their properties inspected annually by a registered engineer or architect to insure compliance with the Building and Fire Codes. Only after such an inspection would the Building Commissioner issue a "certificate of occupancy."

"The public often thinks that our inspection should guarantee the safety of every building in the city," Mayor White said. "If there is a mishap, people conclude that there must be some fault in the Building Department. Such a view is totally unrealistic. There is about $300 million worth of new construction in the city each year. There are 265,000 housing units and as many offices, churches, theaters, and factories in Boston. There are thirty building inspectors.

"An analogy to motor vehicle inspection is appropriate. In this case it is understood that the burden of maintaining a safe vehicle rests primarily with the owner. To be sure, he is required twice a year to have his vehicle inspected by authorized licensed professionals — not the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The vehicle only passes inspection if it meets certain standards promulgated by the Registry. Even so, everyone understands that inspection does not guarantee safety," the Mayor noted.

The Mayor, who filed his amendments to the Building Code with the City Council, also proposed that the owner be required to furnish and explain to all occupants of the building an emergency escape plan, and to hire a professional engineer or architect, whose responsibility it will be to insure that construction is performed in accordance with the Building and Zoning Codes.

"It is my expectation that these changes will improve the operation of the Building Department and reduce the risk of recurrence of recent tragic accidents in both existing buildings and those under construction," he said.

The Mayor added that he will provide funds in next year's Building Department budget for the hiring of three field engineers or architects who are graduates of an accredited college and registered in Massachusetts, and that he will create an advisory committee on revisions of the Building Code in order to keep pace with constant changes in construction materials and techniques.

No building could be occupied or used until its owner receives a "certificate of occupancy" from the Building Commissioner, the Mayor explained. Such a certificate would be issued if:

— in the case of new or remodeled buildings, there is on file with the commissioner a certificate from a registered architect or engineer that work on the building has been completed in accordance with the provisions of the approved permit and the Building and Zoning Codes;

— in the case of existing buildings, there is on file with the commissioner a current certificate of professional inspection; and — there is on file a plan for escape in case of emergency.

A "certificate of occupancy" would be cancelled whenever a certificate of professional inspection expires and is not replaced.

The requirement for an emergency escape plan specifies that each occupant would sign two copies of the plan, signifying that he understands the methods of escape and that he is responsible for explaining those methods to other persons who visit him. The signed copies will be retained by the owner and occupant.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?

There are five weeks left to register to vote in the November 7 election. Saturday, October 7, will be the last day for registration.

CHARLESTOWN LIBRARY STAFF LAUDS SUMMERTHING

Summerthing performers have been presenting concerts in several of the Boston Public Library's branches, eliciting much favorable reaction from both the staff and the public. Two of these concerts were given recently at the Charlestown Branch by an unusual musical group called "The Street Quartet."

The Street Quartet is comprised of four casually dressed young men wearing the yellow Summerthing tee shirt. Playing the cello, violin, xylophone, and various woodwinds, the quartet presented a repertory including Bach, Mozart, Haydn, Stravinsky, Ravel, and modern jazz. Larry Scripps, the leader of the group, introduced many of the works and discussed the influence of American jazz on modern classical composers such as Stravinsky and Ravel.

Charlestown's Branch Librarian Gay Mathson's review reflects the favorable comments received from many of the branches.

"The conducting, strictly by eye contact since Mr. Scripps was playing the woodwinds, was a pleasure to watch," reports Ms. Mathson. "The informal public library setting which lent itself to the intimacy of chamber music—often found lacking in a concert hall—and the high quality performances combined to create a lovely aesthetic experience. The Charlestown Branch Library staff extends its appreciation to the Street Quartet and to Summerthing."

BRA AND MAPC UNITE TO RESTORE OLMSTED PARK SYSTEM

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has entered into a $60,000 contract with the Metropolitan Area Planning Council which calls for MAPC assistance to the BRA in carrying out its planning and design study for restoring the Olmsted Park System.

While the contract will extend for nine months, recommendations are anticipated within the next three months. These initial findings will delineate immediate improvement programs which can be undertaken to begin restoration of this historic park system.

In requesting the BRA Board to authorize the contract, BRA Director Robert T. Kenney noted that a major objective of Boston's bicentennial program is to have the restoration of the Olmsted system substantially completed by 1975.

Mr. Kenney said the system, considered a landmark in landscape architecture, is in major need of restoration, but that a major master planning effort was required to formulate the large-scale program needed for overall improvement of the parks and open space areas.

During the course of this overall effort, an Advisory Committee will be established consisting of representatives from several state and local agencies, as well as various neighborhoods within the city. The purpose of this committee will be to review the progress of the study with the Authority's staff.

Financial support for the study has been provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in the form of an "amendatory" to the BRA planning account.

Widespread support for the effort, Mr. Kenney said, had already been received from the Metropolitan District Commission, the state's Department of Natural Resources, the Town of Brookline, and the Boston Parks Department.

AIR POLLUTION AND ART

Air pollution is damaging people, plants, animals. And art treasures, even those inside museums.

"The contaminated atmospheres over modern industrial centers are shortening the life span of many forms of art," says Dr. A. J. Haagen-Smit, a biochemist at the California Institute of Technology. "Frescoes, stonework, tapestries, paintings, have all been subject to some kind of chemical attack."

Auto emissions and industrial pollutants are the chief culprits.

Today, museum people regard air-filtering systems as the best method of coping with air pollution. The most successful both filter and "wash" the incoming air, removing from 85 to 95 percent of atmospheric impurities. But pollutants from auto exhaust still creep through the filter systems. The best systems, says Dr. Haagen-Smit, have elaborate charcoal absorption filters combined with washing devices. These systems, however, are so expensive that most museums cannot afford them.

Air pollution's damage to the art of all ages can be seen by the naked eye. Its effect on human lungs is reflected in the rising rate of respiratory disease. Find out how you can combat air pollution. Contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

LABOR DAY

In honor of the wage earners of the nation the United States and Canada have set aside the first Monday in September as Labor Day, a legal holiday.

The observance of this day emanated from an annual parade in New York City by the Knights of Labor on September 5 in the 1880s.

Oregon, in 1887, was the first state to recognize Labor Day as a legal holiday, and other states quickly followed. On June 28, 1894, Congress passed a bill making the day a national holiday. All the states in the Union now observe Labor Day as a national holiday.

MBTA AWARDS CHANGE ORDER CONTRACT

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) announced on August 16 the awarding of a change order in the amount of $171,000 to the Perini Corporation for the installation of track over the easterly span of the newly completed rapid transit bridge over the Mystic River.

The Perini Corporation is currently installing track between Haymarket Square and Sullivan Square in Charlestown for the Haymarket-North rapid transit extension under a previously awarded contract of $1.7 million.

The work to be done under the change order to the original contract is expected to be completed in October of this year. This track installation will enable the Boston & Maine Railroad to use the track for its freight and commuter operations. These operations will be switched from the Old Mystic River drawbridge. Due to the deteriorating condition of the old drawbridge it will be more economical to utilize the new MBTA bridge rather than expend at least $250,000 to repair the draw.

NEW DIRECTOR FOR COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

Mayor Kevin H. White announced on August 25 that he will recommend that Peter Meade, 26, of Dorchester, be appointed Director of Community Schools. The appointment must be approved by the three-member Public Facilities Commission.

Community schools serve the needs of the children who attend them and the surrounding community members. School facilities are available for community use until 10 P.M. on weekday evenings.

The new director will work closely with residents served by Boston's nine new community schools, seven of which will open this fall, and will supervise city personnel and operations at the schools.

"The community schools are proving to be one of the most profitable investments the city has ever made," Mayor White said.

"In the past schools shut their doors when the school day was over. Community schools are designed to offer more facilities than a traditional school and are designed to be used by the community when not in use by students. And this includes the summer months, when recreational events are planned for each school.

"The additional facilities in the community school add comparatively little to the overall cost of the school, and the city provides virtually a full-fledged municipal building for the neighborhoods surrounding the school."

Mr. Meade has been an assistant commissioner in the Parks and Recreation Department and prior to that was the department's community relations director.

"I believe that there is an immediate need for a centralization of the city's supply of resources to community schools," he said. "I will be working directly with neighborhoods in each new school district and will be coordinating efforts in this exciting new program.

"The attributes of each community school are unique," he continued. "By working closely with community councils and coordinators of each school, I hope to provide residents with maximum recreational and leisure-time benefits from these schools."

Community schools offer residents a chance to use athletic facilities, multipurpose rooms, and other components of the buildings. Theater facilities, music rooms, swimming pools, gymnasiums, cafeterias, and auditoriums also are available to the community after school hours in some or all of the schools.

The community school concept was incorporated into Boston's new school building program, the most ambitious in the nation, to give residents a chance to take advantage of the many facilities. In the past four years twelve new schools have been built and eight have been renovated.

Traditional schools cease to operate once the school day is over. Some of the new schools have been in use this summer, especially those with swimming pools.

Begun last year at the Lee and Marshall Schools in Dorchester, the community schools give civic and community groups a convenient and well-equipped meeting place.

The seven schools opening this fall are the Hennigan and the Agassiz in Jamaica Plain, the Holland and the Grover Cleveland Extension in Dorchester, the Tynan in South Boston, the Kent in Charlestown, and the Ohrenberger in West Roxbury.

The new community schools are built and operated by the Public Facilities Department, run by the School Department during school hours, and staffed by a number of city departments during after-school hours, including Parks and Recreation, Elderly Affairs, and Youth Activities Commission.

POLICE ALERT CITIZENS TO IDENT-I-GUARD PROGRAM

The Police Department is currently supplying local citizens with an electric engraving tool to engrave articles of value with their social security number. After using, the tool is returned to the local district.

Decals, indicating participation in the program, will be given upon receipt of the tool for display in the windows of business establishments and homes. In areas where the program has been adopted breaking and entering has been noticeably reduced. For further information or to obtain the engraving tool call your local police station.

Boston Public Library, Copley Square, displays the Abbey paintings of "The Holy Grail" and the only Puvis de Chavannes murals outside of France. Open Monday through Friday, 9 to 9, Saturday, 9 to 6, Sunday, 2 to 6; closed Sunday June through September. Free.

Trinity Church, Copley Square, a masterpiece of Romanesque architecture, was completed in 1877 by Henry Hobson Richardson. The interior was the work of John La Farge. Open daily, 8 to 5.

REGISTRY ANNOUNCEMENT

Registrar David J. Lucey has announced the inauguration of a new computerized registration renewal system to be used in conjunction with the Certificate of Title Law which began on September 1.

Motor vehicle registrants whose current registrations expire September 30 of this year (plates ending in "9" with a blue sticker) will shortly receive by mail a new type of registration application form which Registry computers will fill out from information on the current registration.

It is imperative that all information on this form be verified by the registrant. The registration application must be made in the name of the owner. If there are any errors or discrepancies on the computerized form, a new form will have to be prepared by the insurer in the name of the owner. It is also important that the vehicle identification number be checked against the vehicle identification number attached to the vehicle itself.

When the form has been certified by the insurer, it may be presented to a Registry of Motor Vehicles office with the correct fee where new cranberry on white plates with a green sticker will be issued with the new certificate of registration. Renewal applications after endorsement may be mailed to the Boston Registry office with the correct fee no later than the tenth of the month in order to ensure delivery of plates by mail before the expiration date of the current registration.

MAYOR APPOINTS FIVE WOMEN TO NEW COMMISSION

Mayor Kevin H. White has named five city employees as new members of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women. They are:

Barbara Burke, director of the Talent Search Project for the Model Cities Department.

Dorothy Curran, administrative assistant, Parks and Recreation Department.

Antoinette Lambaise, administrative assistant, Housing Inspection Department.

Ersilia E. Manning, data processing project manager, Assessing Department.

Joanne A. Prevost, director of personnel, Mayor's Office.

The Mayor announced the new appointments on August 25, designated as "Women's Equality Day." A day-long program of events was designed to focus attention and give recognition to the city's women employees.

The day's events began with a morning panel and workshop that examined the economic status of women.

"Women have played a major role in the top echelons of this administration, and we look forward to and encourage their increasing participation and involvement in every level of government," the Mayor added.

Panelists included James J. Nunes, district director of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, who discussed the federal antidiscrimination guidelines; Miss Grace Ferrill, regional director of the United States Labor Department's Women's Bureau, who narrated a slide presentation entitled "A Woman in That Job"; and Clarence Jones, director of the Mayor's Office of Human Rights, who explained the role of his agency in providing equal employment opportunities.

Following the morning session, the Mayor hosted a luncheon in his office for women employees. Later in the day "The Proposition" was presented on City Hall Plaza, a skit focusing on women's rights.

THE "FAIREST" JOIN THE FINEST

Eleven lovely ladies (aren't they all?) were graduated from the Boston Police Academy on August 25, making this the first female class appointed to the police force since 1946. Actually twelve were members of the class, but one, Patricia MacMaster, is a member of the Newton Police Department.

The girls started "walking the beat" August 28. In the department's history it is the first time that women completed the four-month course to become uniformed officers.

They have been assigned to Divisions 4 and 1, and will share the same responsibilities and duties as the men. Mayor White presented the certificates and wished the new officers the best of luck and success. The new "Ladies in Blue" are: Christine Michalosky, who finished number one, Kathleen Anderson, Kathleen Fitzpatrick, Diane Hofferty, Sheila Kaplan, Mary Keenan, Lynn Kohansky, Patricia Rehm, Barbara Ridlon, Kathleen Thornton, and Beverly Veseleny.

A PLEA FOR HELP!

Early Monday morning, August 7, fire destroyed a three-family house on 6 Gayland Street, Roxbury. The wife, mother-in-law, and five children of Mr. Armando Gomez, and a family friend were dead on arrival at BCH Emergency Floor. The two children of the Andrade family were severely burned and are still in the Pediatric Ward of BCH. Other relatives, living in the same house, sustained less serious injuries and were discharged from the hospital.

This tragedy has left the remaining survivors of the fire emotionally distraught and materially destitute!

In times like these, however, it is the spirit of togetherness and united concern which counteracts our feelings of helplessness and gives support to those directly affected by the tragedy.

After sending a team to assess the losses incurred by the surviving victims of the fire, the House Officers Association of BCH has started a charity fund to express our emotional and material support to them.

Please send donation to the 6 Gayland Street Fire Fund, New England Merchants' National Bank, P. O. Box 9, Prudential Center, Boston, Mass. 02199, or House Officers Association Office (second floor, House Officers Building), Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass. 02118.

PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 64

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1972

NO. 37

Mayor Announces 1972 Tax Rate

Mayor Kevin White announced on August 31 a 1972 tax rate of $196.70, charging that a callous and indifferent state administration and Legislature has perpetuated an outdated, archaic, and inequitable tax structure.

The new rate is up $22 over the 1971 levy of $174.70 per $1,000 valuation.

In a break with tradition, the Mayor announced the new tax rate in front of the State House, saying, "The Governor and the Legislature play as great a role as the Mayor and the City Council in determining what the property owner will have to pay.

"The cities and towns of the Commonwealth are bound by an outdated, archaic, and inequitable tax structure that imposes an excessive burden on the property owner and rent payer. The solution to rapidly rising local property taxes must come from here. Handouts are not the answer. What is required is a complete overhaul of the tax system and a more equitable distribution of the cost of local government along the lines suggested in the preliminary report of the Master Tax Plan Commission," he explained.

"The state's lack of concern for the fiscal crisis in this — and virtually every other city and town in the Commonwealth — can best be demonstrated by a recitation of the facts."

The Mayor cited that the state's withholding of $52 million from Boston for alleged failure to comply with the Racial Imbalance Law signifies the problem may be worse; the state's rejection of financial assistance for the deficit-ridden MBTA cost the city $30 million this year; and the state's failure to act on the long-overdue Master Tax Plan, which would provide tax reform and relief to the overburdened property taxpayer. If the Master Tax Plan had passed this year, Boston's property rate would have been about $140.

"Evidence that the property tax will continue to spiral without meaningful tax reform and assistance from the state and federal governments can be seen in the fact that at a time when the cost of living is rising at the rate of 5 to 6 percent a year, property valuations are increasing by only 1½ percent a year. The difference, under the present tax system, can only come from the property owner."

Collective bargaining agreements reached with police, firemen, and teachers during the past year — all within the President's 5.5 percent wage guidelines — accounted for more than $15 of the $22 increase, according to the Mayor.

While noting he held the line on his offer of an $11,500 salary for police and firemen, Mayor White said that the United States Bureau of

EXCEPTIONAL ART DISPLAY

On September 8, at Boston City Hall, "The Australasian Exhibition" opened for one month. The collection of mixed art forms has been presented by Art Overseas, Inc., of One Boston Place. The display will include works from Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, and Australia, the Asian area of the world, as well as a group of 100 photographs from Kyoto, Japan, Boston's sister-city.

Boston and Kyoto have been sister-cities since 1959 when the relationship started as a cultural exchange between the two cities. Boston and Kyoto are their nations' oldest major cities, and their history is closely related. In its present existence the sister-city committee for each city sends exhibits and artifacts of interest to the other city as an exchange of ideas, culture, and good will, and as a means of communicating between the two cities.

The exhibition displays oils, acrylics, watercolors, and graphics of the contemporary Asian artists as well as the old silk scrolls from Japan of the Nagasaki school and Edo Period in the 1700s and the old woodblocks of Ehikanohn and Ginko of the late 1800s.

For further information on the exhibit or any particular artist, please contact Miss Katharine Clark, Art Overseas, One Boston Place, Boston, Tel. 723-7300.

1972 Tax Rate . . .

Labor Statistics reports that a family of four in Boston needs an income of $12,800 to maintain a moderate standard of living. This is an indication of the financial squeeze in which the city finds itself.

In further detailing the increase, the Mayor said a hike in the city's share of the MBTA deficit from $25 million to $30 million added $3 to the rate, while a $10 million increase in school funds boosted the rate an additional $6. These and other increases were partially offset by increases in revenue.

"It is of little consolation," he added, "but Boston is not alone. The failure of the state and federal governments to respond to the crisis in the cities has sent tax rates climbing in virtually every city and town in the Commonwealth."

Mayor White, who along with several other big-city mayors has led the fight nationally for federal revenue sharing, commented on the legislation now before the Congress. "With it there is hope; without it we are dead." Current estimates have pegged Boston's share under the federal revenue-sharing program at $15 million annually — the equivalent of $9 on the tax rate.

"Equally as important as revenue sharing is passage of the Master Tax Plan by the Legislature.

"It has been nearly five years since the creation of the Master Tax Plan Commission, which was given an unprecedented and sweeping mandate to prepare a comprehensive and detailed blueprint for solving the fiscal plight of the cities, towns, and state government.

"Five years later — after countless hearings and after spending more than $300,000 of taxpayers' money — the Master Tax Plan Commission has yet to issue a final and comprehensive report. So, the blueprint of the 70s will have to wait until 1973, while the property owners of this and every other city and town are forced to dig deeper because of the Legislature's indifference to its constituents.

"Those who reasoned that the Legislature would not tackle the thorny question of tax reform in an election year were, unfortunately, right. But inflation does not respect political cycles, and collective bargaining takes its toll irrespective of election years. The demands on basic services and the problems of poverty, housing, drug abuse, and alienation go largely unmet, unchallenged, and unresolved because the Legislature didn't have the courage to act," the Mayor concluded.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN

Owners and operators of motor vehicles and trailers registered in Massachusetts are reminded that the compulsory fall inspection began on September 1 and ends October 15.

Official inspection stations (3,200) at various locations throughout the state have been checked by Registry officers and are ready to perform the required inspection at a fee of $1. Initial requirements—you must have your registration certificate with you, and the vehicle identification number must match the one on the vehicle itself.

Items to be checked include brakes, stop lights, horn, exhaust system, steering gear, windshield, windshield cleaner, number plates, rear windows, tires, fenders, bumpers, external sheet metal, reflectors, splash guards, chock blocks, and pollution control systems or devices.

Vehicles passing inspection are marked with an official yellow sticker; those not passing are marked with a rejection sticker.

Registrar David J. Lucey advises drivers of rejected vehicles that they should go immediately to a garage of their choice and have the necessary repairs made and then return to the inspection station which issued the rejection sticker where the vehicle will be reinspected at no additional charge.

The "Constitution"
Affectionately called "Old Ironsides"

The U.S.S. Constitution lies in dock at the United States Naval Shipyard, across the Charles River at Wapping and Chelsea Streets, Charlestown. She was launched in 1797 at Hartt's Shipyard, a short distance from her present resting place. In the next year she helped clear the coast and the West Indies of French privateers. Later engagements with the British in the War of 1812 brought her undying fame and her nickname Old Ironsides. The 44-gun frigate was constructed of well-seasoned live oak and red cedar timbers secured by bolts and copper sheathing made by Paul Revere. Now restored and seaworthy, the historic craft may be boarded daily, 9:30 to 4, free. Uniforms, cannon, and newspaper accounts of the War of 1812 are displayed.

BCH Initiates "Family Doctor" Program

The tradition of the family doctor is returning to the Boston City Hospital Outpatient Department in the form of a new Family Health Center. An open house for the community was held Thursday, September 14, at the center which is located in the South End Health Unit across the street from the main Outpatient Department.

The pilot program, partially funded by the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, will provide a team of doctors, nurses, and family health workers who will serve as the family doctor for 2,000 families who are frequent users of the OPD.

The idea is to provide at BCH a source of primary health care with back-up specialty clinics for those persons who do not have a private doctor and to provide someone who will be able to follow the patient's medical history from year to year.

The center will be run on a team concept. The same pediatrician, internist, nurse, clinician, and family health worker will see the patient on each visit, provide primary care, and make appointments for the patient in the necessary specialty clinics of the OPD as well as providing follow-up help at home.

"More and more, people are using our Outpatient Department as their family doctor, but each time they come they see a different doctor, as is true in any hospital clinic," said Mrs. Margaret Clemons, OPD director.

"If you have an eye problem you would go to the Eye Clinic; for a skin problem you would go to the Skin Clinic; but no one doctor would coordinate all your treatment. With the Family Health Center, that is no longer true."

Another important part of the Family Health Center are the family health workers. They are individuals from the community who have been trained in social service, nutrition, basic health care, and nursing arts. They will give assistance to the patient in these areas in the clinic or at home.

"If the Family Health Center is successful as expected," Mrs. Clemons said, "we will run our new Outpatient Department this way when it is completed."

The center is presently in operation weekdays only from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. In the near future hours will be extended from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. weekdays and from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. on Saturdays.

Any registered patient at BCH's Outpatient Department who is interested in knowing more about this new service is urged to call 267-6020.

"GOLDEN TROWEL" AWARD

Joseph E. Curtis, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation for the City of Boston, recently presented a Golden Trowel award to Mr. Richard Chapman, retired chairman of the New England Merchants National Bank, for the bank's beautiful "garden in the sky" atop the bank located at 28 State Street.

Commissioner Curtis praised the bank for "creating an oasis of beauty" in Boston. Recipients of the awards have made a special effort, not expected of them, to improve the appearance and environment of our city, and we are grateful to them for their efforts.

SEASON'S CHANGE IN RATES

Boston's Museum of Science has announced a new seasonal reduced rate for weekday afternoon visits.

Now and until April 1 half-price admission will be in effect from 2 P.M. to closing Monday through Friday. (Not included are holidays, weekends, and school vacation weeks.)

The museum closes at 5 P.M. every day except Friday when it remains open until 10 P.M.

Under the new policy weekday afternoon admission will be the same as on Friday nights: $1 for adults and 50 cents for ages five to sixteen and for senior citizens. Children under five are admitted free at all times.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE PRESENTATION

"The Taurus Incident," a program currently being featured at the Museum of Science (September 19 through November 26), will discuss some very interesting developments in the constellation of Taurus the Bull. Other stargazing programs are scheduled for the winter, spring, and summer.

Programs are given daily and Friday nights. The fee is 50 cents above museum admission. Saturday night planetarium shows have been discontinued until further notice. Museum admission is $2 for adults, $1 for ages five to sixteen and over sixty-five, and free for children under five.

Half-price rates are in effect every Friday night (5 to 10 P.M.) and, from September 1 to April, 2 P.M. to closing, Monday through Friday (except holidays and school vacations).

NO FLEAS: JUST ENTERTAINMENT

The Boston Flea Market at Faneuil Hall Market has been in full swing this summer and offers the tourist and Bostonian alike a refreshing Sunday afternoon of old-fashioned entertainment. Over eighty antiques and crafts exhibits dot cobblestoned South Market Street, just opposite Faneuil Hall, plus portrait artists, an outside cafe, and flower stalls.

Visitors to the weekly Sunday fete find colorful handicrafts including barnwood paintings, macramé, pottery, children's toys, and puppets. Period furniture, brass beds, spinning wheels, china, and glass plus a variety of collectibles are to be found each week under the eaves of the historic Quincy Market.

Craft demonstrations, a popular sight at the flea market, range each week from leather tooling, macramé, and silver smithing to glassblowing.

Weekly musical entertainment is also provided by local bands, ranging from barbershop quartets to bluegrass music.

The Boston Flea Market is open every Sunday, rain or shine, from 1 to 6 P.M. Admission is $1 for adults; children free. Free parking is available near the premises.

SUMMERTHING PRESENTS "KEYS TO THE CITY"

A chance to win the "keys to the city" will highlight the third annual benefit for Summerthing, Boston's neighborhood festival, to be held on Friday, September 22, from 6 P.M. to 9 P.M., at Boston City Hall.

The benefit, itself called "Keys to the City," offers guests a chance to win a wide assortment of unusual prizes which offer opportunities to sample a gamut of experiences — experiences which are in effect the "keys" which make Boston an exciting and fascinating place in which to live.

Among the many prizes which may be won are a private tour of the Museum of Fine Arts with a Museum curator; a bicycle ride with Boston Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph Curtis; lunch with a City Councillor; a tour of South Boston's bars; an afternoon of bocce in the North End; an expedition to Charlestown's Burial Grounds for gravestone rubbings; a tour of the "old" and "new" Boston with members of the Boston Architectural Society; and a chance to accompany Pat Mitchell, entertainment critic for Channel 4, to a movie which she will later review on television.

THE INVISIBLE POLLUTANT

We can close our eyes to wipe out the world. But we can't shut our ears.

The decibel count in our industrial society is soaring. Jet planes streak across our skies. Trucks and millions of cars pound our highways. Rock music chokes the airwaves, and television sets turned up too high assault our silence.

Noise bombardment affects our hearing, and high levels can cause permanent hearing damage. Experiments have shown exposure to high levels disrupts sleep and rest patterns, causes irritability and mental distress, and reduces work capacity. Abnormal heart rhythm may be associated with long-term occupational noise exposure.

For reasons not yet fully understood, noise even affects the way we breathe. A recent report prepared by the United States Army shows that our rate of breathing actually decreases from exposure to noise. And the heart rate and blood pressure increase. Experiments on animals showed that exposure to high levels of noise also damages the kidneys, liver, and stomach, as well as causing deviations in brain waves and skin resistance.

We can, of course, start wearing earplugs and insulated helmets. But we can also demand that top levels for noise be established at the places where we work and the cities where we live.

Noise is polluting our planet and altering the way we breathe and live. Fighting pollution is a matter of life and breath. To join the fight, contact your local Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

HUB SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE $6.6 MILLION

Boston schools will receive $6.6 million in federal aid to pay salaries of almost 300 teachers and several teacher aides in the Hub's three Title I programs. The funds were ordered released by the State Department of Education on September 6, the opening day of school, culminating two lengthy sessions with Boston school officials. The money will assure the continuance of the demonstration subsystem, the William Trotter and the Lewis middle schools in Roxbury, and Copley Square High School, located in the Back Bay.

Approximately $4 million of the Title I funds are slated for compensatory programs for disadvantaged children.

MAYOR WHITE APPOINTS 23 TO BMAPC

Mayor Kevin White has appointed twenty-three persons to the Boston Manpower Advisory Planning Council (BMAPC), it was announced on September 11.

BMAPC replaces the Boston "CAMPS" committee, and will provide manpower planning for Chelsea, Winthrop, Revere, Brookline, and Boston. BMAPC will advise the Mayor on allocation of manpower training funds, skills needed in the Boston planning area, and alternate sponsors for training programs.

"These appointments represent three months' effort to form an advisory council that represents all segments of the planning area — employers, community representatives, government officials, service agencies and trainees," Mayor

White said. "I look forward to working closely with the committee to improve our manpower delivery system."

Mayor White also announced the reappointment of Gerald Bush, the city's Director of Commerce and Manpower, as chairman of the BMAPC. Bush said the appointments "are a significant and positive step for Boston in terms of its manpower efforts, and will open the manpower system to the voices only dimly heard in the past — particularly employers and recipients of services."

The new appointees are Mr. Gerald W. Bush, Chairman, Director of Commerce and Manpower, City of Boston; Mr. Thomas Kerrins, EEA Director, Chelsea; Mr. Gerard Hayes, Director of Personnel, Town of Brookline; Mr. James Prendegast, EEA Consortium, Revere; Mr. Charles W. Adams, EEA Consortium, Winthrop; Mr. Carmen Hernandez, Dorchester; Mr. Bruce Bunten, Assistant Personnel Manager, Stone & Webster Engineering Company; Mr. Gordon MacKay, Public Affairs Director, New England Mutual Life Insurance Company; Mr. George Lunn, Director of Personnel, Children's Hospital Medical Center; Mr. Michael Brazis, Acting Manpower Director, Action for Boston Community Development, Inc.; Mr. Bradford Pearson, 134 Davis Avenue; Mr. Valentine P. Murphy, President, Boston Edison Clerical Workers Union; Rev. Seavey Joyce, S.J., Chairman, National Alliance of Businessmen; Mr. Robert C. Mahoney, Regional Executive Director, CAPIC; Miss Jane Davis, Special Assistant to the Director, MDTA Boston Public Schools; Mr. Clarence Donelan, Executive Director, Opportunities Industrial Center; Mr. Victor Rodriguez, President, Concilio Hispana, HOPE Board of Directors; Mr. Jack E. Re: 1973 Legislation.

In the next few weeks Jack Slater, our Legislative Agent and Counsel, will be coming to see you or the person in your department who is concerned with legislation to discuss your needs for 1973. I know it will be useful for you and Mr. Slater to meet one another, and I am hopeful that the city will next year have unprecedented success with its causes on Beacon Hill.

BRA Urges On-Premise Signs Control

One aspect of visual pollution — the clutter of signs marring the urban environment — will be a thing of the past in many areas of the city if the Zoning Commission approves a proposed amendment covering on-premise signs in business and local business districts.

The amendment will be presented to the Zoning Commission at a September 25 meeting by the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The main purpose of the controls, according to BRA Director Robert T. Kenney, is to upgrade the urban environment and to protect the character of Boston architecture.

"At present, the 'sign jungle' is self-defeating," said Mr. Kenney. "It also tends to diminish the distinctive features of this city and imposes a negative effect on the overall quality of urban living."

A particular feature of the new controls is that they are not retroactive, he noted. The sign control standards, should they be approved, will cover new signs in that permits will not be granted unless a sign conforms.

Mr. Kenney said present signs will have to be changed, if they do not conform to the new standards, only when repairs on a sign exceed 35 percent of the replacement cost.

"We think this policy should not create any hardship for the 2,300 or so people employed in the sign industry in Greater Boston or result in any inconvenience to business in general," Mr. Kenney said. "In fact, replacement of signs to conform with the code will probably create an increased demand for the sign industry."

He noted that provision for relief through a conditional use permit (to be granted by the Board of Appeal) would be available for highly individual cases or situations where undue hardship might result from these new standards.

Under the amended code, size of signs will be determined by the relationship between the width of the abutting street to the length of building frontage on which the sign will be located.

For example, on an average street with a width of sixty feet, the square footage allowed for a sign is one and one-half times the building frontage. Therefore, if the building has twenty-five feet of frontage, the total signage allowed will be thirty-seven and one-half square feet.

Other aspects of the sign controls include regulation of projecting signs so they are no more than twelve square feet in size on either face. The projecting signs, as well as flat signs, will not be allowed beyond the tops of the second-story windowsills.

Signs which read vertically will not be allowed, nor will more than three colors (including black and white) be allowed on any sign.

No blinking lights, except for time and temperature, will be permitted; and exposed neon tubing will be banned under the revised code.

Trademarks, brand names, and logos may not occupy more than 25 percent of the area of the sign (except for a business, such as a car dealer, where the brand name advertised constitutes the major business conducted).

Freestanding signs will not be permitted at all in downtown business districts. But freestanding signs, limited to fifty square feet on each face, will be allowed in less dense business areas. However, such signs cannot extend more than twenty-five feet from the ground.

Mr. Kenney said the new standards were drawn up after extensive discussions among the BRA planners, the city's Law Department, consultants and representatives of the Massachusetts Sign Contractors Association.

"The new standards incorporate only the most appropriate and workable features of codes used in other cities," he said.

The principal features of the new amendment were designed to meet Boston's particular situation, narrow streets, for instance, as one of the oldest and most distinctive cities in the country.

"We are not trying to eliminate signs," said Mr. Kenney. "We are well aware that many signs add to the vitality of the urban environment. But we are proposing new ground rules. We think no sign should overpower another, that no individual should impose on the environment in a way that abrogates the rights of others."

CONSUMERS' COUNCIL URGES CABLE TV FOR HUB

The Boston Consumers' Council, a city agency, will hold a series of public hearings next month to determine the future of community antenna television (CATV) in Boston, it was announced on September 18.

The hearings will be held in City Hall, Room 801, on October 3 at 3 P.M.; October 5 at 7 P.M.; October 10 at 3 P.M.; and October 11 at 7 P.M.

Maureen Schaffner, chairman of the Consumers' Council, said the hearings were scheduled both in the afternoon and evening to encourage the greatest possible participation by all segments of the community prior to the possible establishment of a new public utility.

"The Consumers' Council views the upcoming hearings as an opportunity for all interested residents to air their views on CATV ownership, control, programming, rates, regulations, and access before decisions on franchising are made," Mrs. Schaffner said.

Under the provisions of the Federal Communications Commission's (FCC) CATV regulations and the recently enacted Massachusetts cable television law, the Mayor is empowered to license a CATV system for Boston. The Consumers' Council will submit a detailed report of its hearings to the Mayor for consideration in formulating a CATV policy for the city.

Cable television uses a large antenna tower to pick up more and stronger signals than can be received presently by a home rooftop antenna. The signals are amplified electronically and carried to the subscribers' homes by coaxial cable. A CATV system serving a city of Boston's size must provide at least twenty channels, according to FCC requirements.

Richard A. Borten, executive director of the Consumers' Council, has been investigating all aspects of CATV since March. For years, CATV was used primarily to bring television signals into isolated rural communities and areas cut off from television signals by mountains, Mr. Borten noted.

"While Boston viewers enjoy relatively good reception in most areas, cable television could bring an entirely new dimension to communications in the city," he said. "Cable TV, at its best, can provide not only clear reception and a broader choice of entertainment programming, but a real opportunity for private citizens, local government, and community groups to use this most effective means of mass communications."

VENDOME FIRE FUND OFFICIALLY CLOSED

Fire Commissioner James H. Kelly, in grateful acknowledgement to all contributors to the fund for the families of the Vendome fire victims, has announced that the fund drive is now officially closed. The Commissioner requests that all monies collected be forwarded to the State Street Bank and Trust Company as soon as possible. This purpose is necessary to insure proper distribution of the funds to the bereaved families later this month.

The total amount collected is expected to be in excess of three hundred thirty-five thousand dollars.

"The tremendous response by a sympathetic public is an indication of its warm regard for Boston fire fighters," said Commissioner Kelly.

MAYOR LAUDS UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVES

The following letter was sent by Mayor White to the United States House of Representatives on September 15:

DEAR MR. BURKE:

I applaud the efforts of you and your colleagues in reaching tentative agreement on a long delayed revenue-sharing bill.

It has taken ten long years for the concept of sharing federal revenues with localities and states to find national acceptance. I believe the Legislative Action Committee of the United States Conference of Mayors, of which I am a member, has helped to convince Washington that revenue sharing is an idea whose time has come.

There are several technical provisions of the bill, now before your Joint Conference Committee, which have yet to be resolved. I would like to restate my position regarding those provisions which affect the City of Boston:

1. The progressive distribution formula for cities and towns has been adopted by the Joint Conference. Yet to be resolved, however, is the issue of discretion and latitude allowed the state in altering this formula. I strongly urge that Congress retain its power, and that the governors not be allowed leeway in arbitrarily altering these complex formulas. The pressures of partisan politics certainly have no place in a program so vital to the future of the American city. States should be mandated to pass on revenue-sharing funds to cities and towns according to the letter and intent of the Congressional formula. It will be impossible for any municipality to realistically plan ahead if distribution formulas are subject to annual reinterpretation at the state level.

2. The House version of the bill provides that 10 percent of all revenue-sharing funds going to cities and towns may be mandated by the states for area-wide projects. While the concept of metropolitan cooperation should be encouraged, this provision is far too strict. It violates the whole concept of sharing federal revenues with municipalities which in turn can use the funds to meet local needs as established locally. Metropolitan and state-operated agencies like the MDC and MBTA already impose an almost confiscatory burden on Boston's taxpayers.

3. I strongly favor a provision of the bill which limits revenue-sharing funds to 50 percent of the operating revenues of any locality. I would even be in favor of strengthening this restriction. Provision should be made to redistribute excess funds back to other hard-pressed cities and towns, as in the House version, rather than reverting to the state government, as in the Senate version.

The $15 million which Boston can expect in revenue-sharing funds represents a direct return to the city of less than 1 percent of the federal taxes which Boston businesses and taxpayers sent to Washington this year. And while this $15 million is an important ingredient in solving the fiscal crisis of our cities, it represents only 3 percent of our budget. (Our 1972 tax rate would have been $185 if revenue sharing had been enacted last month.) To allow affluent suburbs a windfall of 50 percent of their budget is inequitable to our central cities, and regressive in terms of social policy.

4. The Senate weakened a provision of the House Bill which would have required that construction workers on any local project financed with revenue-sharing funds be paid according to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act. Acknowledging your strong labor record in Congress, and consistent with my own long-standing policy in the city, I urge that this provision be reinstated. The construction and building trades must be guaranteed decent wages on all public construction projects. This is one area in which federal regulations must be strengthened, not abused.

Again, my thanks to you and others in the Massachusetts Congressional Delegation who have shown leadership and determination in finally making the concept of revenue sharing a fiscal reality.

Sincerely,
KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE PRESENTS "SEEING STARS"

Seven courses, spanning a variety of topics from the stars to the Charles River, begin for both adults and children this month at Boston's Museum of Science.

Anyone sixteen or older who is interested in observing the heavens with optical aid can take "Seeing Stars" beginning September 28. It meets at 7:30 P.M. Thursdays through November 9.

This course offers instruction in the use of telescopes. Activities include outdoor observation (weather permitting), use of Charles Hayden Planetarium facilities, lectures, and demonstrations.

Though students may use their own telescopes in the course, it is not necessary to own or buy one. Enrollment is limited to forty persons.

The fee is $26. For family and contributing members of the Museum, it is $22. Materials are not included in the fee. Applications are taken by the Planetarium at the Museum.

A brand new course, "Chemistry of the Charles River," is the first in a series of mini-courses to be offered this year for ages fifteen through eighteen.

Students will determine the chemical properties of water samples from the river. They will learn how to test for temperature, acidity, solid residue, hardness, dissolved oxygen, and bacterial count.

The course will meet for six 3½-hour Saturday sessions from September 30 to December 16. Enrollment is limited to twenty-four. The fee is $25. For family and contributing members of the Museum, it is $20. Both morning and afternoon classes are available.

Teachers of grades one through 6 will find a wealth of new ideas and the essential materials for classroom demonstrations in "Science Projects for Elementary Teachers" beginning September 20. Among the topics to be covered are dinosaurs, weather, ecology, photography, and living things in the classroom.

Series 1 of the course meets at 4 P.M. alternate Wednesdays through November 29. Series 2 runs from January 3 through March 14. Enrollment for each series is limited to 108 teachers. The fee for either series is $45, or $80 for both series.

"Science Explorers" for children in grades five through seven consists of fifteen one-hour lecture-demonstrations in natural and physical science conducted by members of the Museum education staff with occasional guest lecturers.

Classes meet on alternate Saturdays from September 23 to April 28. Once each month an hour-long lab session will be held in addition to the regular class meeting.

Three courses are available for younger children: Discovery I for ages four and five, Discovery II for grades one and two, and Discovery III for grades three and four. Each course offers a variety of general science facts and participatory activities.

These courses meet on alternate Saturdays, with some classes beginning September 23 and others beginning September 30. To insure maximum involvement of each child Discovery I is limited to twenty-five per class and Discovery II is limited to thirty per class.

The fee for Science Explorers and Discovery courses is $30. For family and contributing members of the Museum, it is $25.

Applications for all courses except "Seeing Stars" can be made with the Course Registrar at the Museum — 742-1410, ext. 342.

REGISTRY REMINDER

Registrar David J. Lucey reminds owners and/or operators of motor vehicles and trailers registered in Massachusetts that more than one-third of the compulsory motor vehicle period has passed with little response.

"This reminder," Mr. Lucey said, "is for your benefit. We want you to be able to have your vehicle inspected with the least inconvenience. But, the longer you wait, the more you are exposed to crowded conditions at official inspection stations, shortage of repair parts, and possible loss of use of your vehicle at the close of the inspection period."

The compulsory inspection allows six weeks for compliance. It began on September 1 and ends October 15 at midnight.

The Registrar posed a simple question: "Wouldn't you like to keep your family safe by finding out as soon as possible that the vehicle you are driving is in safe operating condition so that you will be able to control it in an emergency situation?"

The certificate of registration must be presented before an inspection may be performed by the station.

BPL SPECIAL PROGRAM

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

VII. LETTERS OF THANKS

The following letters are published for the information of the department:

"August 27, 1972.

My daughter and I were on a train which was trapped between Andrew and Broadway yesterday afternoon. I want to commend the firemen who rescued us after the fire. They were pleasant, considerate, and courteous at all times. After thinking that we would never be rescued, they were a most welcome sight.

Again, thanks to you and your men.

Sincerely yours,

ANN C. CURLEY (Mrs. A. C. Curley)"

"September 7, 1972.

DEAR COMMISSIONER KELLY:

Last Friday we responded to a house fire at 23 Canton Avenue and upon arrival at this location found a large dwelling fully involved in fire. Fortunately, this location called for Box 43 which is a border line box with automatic response from Boston Engine 16 and Ladder 6.

Without the help received from the Boston companies I know we would have been in serious trouble. The professionalism and efficiency displayed by your men under the very able direction of District Chief White certainly was a great factor in extinguishing this fire.

It is gratifying to know that the Boston Fire Department is ready and able to provide help when a smaller department finds itself faced with a fire that taxes their manpower and equipment.

I have sent a copy of this letter to Chief Paul, asking him to convey our sincere thanks to Chief White and his men.

Very truly yours,

JOHN J. GRANT,
Chief, Milton Fire Department."

IV. CHANGE IN DESIGNATION OF FIRE ALARM BOX

The designation of fire alarm Box 1482 has been changed and company commanders shall make the change on assignment cards:

1482, Washington Street and Marginal Road.

V. COMMENDATIONS

The following members are hereby commended for responding to and assisting in company operations at Box 6153, two alarms, on September 9, 1972, while they were off duty:

Fire Fighter Lawrence F. Pelosi, Ladder Company 2.

Fire Fighter on Probation Paul R. LeBlanc, Ladder Company 21.

VI. HAZARDOUS BUILDING

The building at 365 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston, is in hazardous condition due to partial collapse of front wall and bulging. In case of fire in this building, members shall use extreme caution. The building has been posted.

VII. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

On August 27, 1972, at about 1700 hours, Fire Fighter Edward J. Hudalla was a passenger on an MBTA elevated train when it became involved in fire on the elevated structure opposite the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Fire Fighter Hudalla immediately identified himself as a fire fighter and attempted to calm the passengers, many of whom were on the verge of panic. He directed and assisted the passengers into the rear car with the help of the MBTA train operator. By this time, approximately half of the burning car was heavily involved with fire, and the remainder of the car was filled with dense smoke and fumes.

Without regard for his own safety, Fire Fighter Hudalla reentered the burning car to determine if all passengers had reached safety. He discovered a young girl passenger in the car unable to move because of fear and panic. He picked her up in his arms, calmed her, and removed her to safety.

Fire Fighter Hudalla's actions in reentering the burning car and rescuing this young passenger involved great personal risk, and his previous actions of calming and assisting the other passengers prevented a possible catastrophe.

Because of the fact that Fire Fighter Hudalla performed this rescue work without thought of his own safety, and under very dangerous conditions, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

At 0035 hours on August 7, 1972, Box 1754 was struck, and a second alarm was struck at 0038 hours for a building located at 6 Gayland Street, Roxbury, which was found to be heavily involved in fire on the two upper floors and with fire coming out the doorway on the first floor.

Being informed by persons at the scene that there was a child trapped in the first floor bedroom, Lieut. George H. Rushton of Engine Company 12, who was at the scene, climbed a wooden plank placed against the building and entered the first-floor bedroom window located about eight feet from the ground. Lieutenant Rushton removed one child from a crib located against the interior wall of the room. A second child was found in the bed. Both children were passed to fire fighters outside the window.

Evidence of fire and heat indicate that the lives of these children would have been lost without the prompt action of Lieutenant Rushton.

Because of the fact that Lieutenant Rushton performed his rescue work, without thought of his own safety and under very dangerous conditions, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION EDUCATION PROGRAMS

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract, without advertising, to run a public education program in an amount not to exceed $5,000 to Sav-More Association, Inc., 317 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass. 02119.

The contract shall be effective from April 1, 1972, through July 31, 1972.

The Model City Agency is planning to conduct a public education program designed to (a) inform residents of the services provided by various city departments in the areas of maintaining a clean environment and improving the physical condition of the Interim Assistance Area and (b) to inform residents of their responsibilities in assisting city department personnel who provide these services. This information will be disseminated through pamphlets and meetings.

The public education program will be conducted as part of the Interim Assistance Program being administered by the Model City Agency, and we desire to let contracts to run the program with community organizations located in each of the six Model Neighborhood subareas and in that portion of the Interim Assistance Area which is outside the Model Neighborhood, IAP Subarea 7. Fifteen community organizations were requested to submit proposals for the public education work, and Sav-More Association, Inc., was selected as having submitted the best proposal for Model Neighborhood Subarea 3.

It is requested that the contract be awarded without advertising because of the importance of contracting with local community organizations who are familiar with the area and with relating to area residents, and so that the Model City Agency may comply with the federal mandate to provide maximum opportunity for employing area residents in the Model City Program.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract without advertising, to run a public education program in an amount not to exceed $5,000, to Youth, Inc., 240 Woodrow Avenue, Dorchester, Mass. 02124.

The contract shall be effective from April 1, 1972, through July 31, 1972.

The Model City Agency is planning to conduct a public education program designed to (a) inform residents of the services provided by various city departments in the areas of maintaining a clean environment and improving the physical condition of the Interim Assistance Area and (b) to inform residents of their responsibilities in assisting city department personnel who provide these services. This information will be disseminated through pamphlets and meetings.

The public education will be conducted as part of the Interim Assistance Program being administered by the Model City Agency, and we desire to let contracts to run the program with community organizations located in each of the six Model Neighborhood subareas and in that portion of the Interim Assistance Area which is outside the Model Neighborhood, IAP Subarea 7. Fifteen community organizations were requested to submit proposals for the public education work, and Youth, Inc., was selected as having submitted the best proposal for IAP Subarea 7.

It is requested that the contract be awarded without advertising because of the importance of contracting with local community organizations who are familiar with the area and with relating to area residents, and so that the Model City Agency may comply with the federal mandate to provide maximum opportunity for employing area residents in the Model City Program.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

CONSULTING SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby request authority to dispense with advertising in connection with the award of a contract in an amount not to exceed $8,920 to President and Fellows of Harvard College, a nonprofit educational corporation having its principal office in Cambridge, Mass. The contract will provide consulting services from the Harvard Laboratory for Community Psychiatry in connection with the Model City Mental Health Program, with particular emphasis upon long-range financing for mental health services, coordination of service delivery among the Family Life Centers and obtaining consistent information for monitoring purposes. The contract will also make consulting services available to the Model City Child Care Program.

The funds for this contract will be Model City funds made available through the city's grant contract with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The proposed contract will make possible the continuation of services provided by the Laboratory for Community Psychiatry during the Model City First and Second Years. The city will pay at a rate not to exceed $25 per hour only for actual consultation and not for time spent for consultation or for other services or disbursements.

The reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement for this contract are the desirability of containing the relationship already established with the Harvard Laboratory for Community Psychiatry, together with the consideration that this type of contract is for a highly specialized type of service for which the competitive bidding process seems singularly inappropriate.

The proposed contract will be effective during the period beginning August 1, 1971, and terminating July 31, 1972.

Should there be any questions, or should you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to enter into a contract, without advertising, in an amount not to exceed $416,364, with the Community Development Corporation of Boston, Inc., (CDC), 25 Ruggles Street, Roxbury, Mass.

Under the terms of said contract, the Community Development Corporation of Boston, Inc., shall operate a program for economic development pursuant to criteria approved by the Model Neighborhood Board and this agency. The program provides loans, equity investments, and technical assistance to Model City business.

The contract term is for the period from March 1, 1972, through July 31, 1972. The reasons for selecting the CDC as the contractor are as follows:

The CDC was established by this agency and the Model Neighborhood Board for the purpose of carrying out the economic development component of the Model City Program. It is presently operating the economic development program and is designated as the operating agency for continuation of this program in the Model City Program for the Third Action Year, approved by resolution of the City Council, dated April 26, 1971, and approved by the Mayor on April 30, 1971.

Further, award of this contract is in accordance with CDA letter No. 11 issued by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development requesting that the Model City Program give preference to contractors located within the Model City Area.

For these aforementioned reasons, it is requested that notice of the contract be dispensed from being advertised in the City Record.

Yours respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

CLEANUP WORK

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for cleanup work in an amount not to exceed $13,455, without advertising, to William Blair, doing business as Bill's Landscaping, 64 Greenwood Street, Dorchester, Mass. The services will be performed between April 3, 1972, and June 30, 1972.
